

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

TUESDAY, JULY 12, 1887.

Lord Chamberlain's Office, St. James's Palace,
June 27, 1887.

NOTICE is hereby given, that His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales will, by command of The Queen, hold a Levee at St. James's Palace, on behalf of Her Majesty, on Saturday, the 16th of July, at two o'clock.

It is The Queen's pleasure that Presentations to His Royal Highness at the Levee shall be considered as equivalent to Presentations to Her Majesty.

REGULATIONS

TO BE OBSERVED AT THE QUEEN'S LEVEE TO BE HELD BY HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES, ON BEHALF OF HER MAJESTY, AT ST. JAMES'S PALACE.

By Her Majesty's Command,

The Noblemen and Gentlemen who propose to attend Her Majesty's Levee, at St. James's Palace, are requested to bring with them two large cards, with their names clearly written thereon, one to be left with The Queen's Page in attendance in the Corridor, and the other to be delivered to the Lord Chamberlain, who will announce the name to His Royal Highness.

PRESENTATIONS.

Any Nobleman or Gentleman who proposes to be presented, must leave at the Lord Chamberlain's Office, St. James's Palace, before twelve o'clock, two clear days before the Levee, a card with his name written thereon, and with the name of the Nobleman or Gentleman by whom he is to be presented. In order to carry out the existing regulations that no presentation can be made at a Levee excepting by a person actually attending that Levee, it is also necessary that an intimation from the Nobleman or Gentleman who is to make the presentation, of his intention to be present, should accompany the presentation card above referred to, which will be submitted to The Queen for Her Majesty's approbation. It is Her Majesty's command that no presentations shall be made at Levees, except in accordance with the above regulations.

It is particularly requested, that in every case the names be very distinctly written upon the cards to be delivered to the Lord Chamberlain, in order that there may be no difficulty in announcing them to His Royal Highness.

The State Apartments will be open for the reception of Company coming to Court at half-past one o'clock.

LATHOM,

Lord Chamberlain.

Windsor Castle, July 6, 1887.

THIS day the Most Honourable the Marquis of Salisbury, K.G., Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and a Deputation from that University, waited upon Her Majesty to present the following Address which was handed to Her Majesty:—

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty, the Dutiful and Loyal Address of the University of Oxford.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford, desire to take our part in the national joy on this happy occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of Your Majesty's Accession, and we entreat Your Majesty to accept the loyal and loving expression of our grateful sense of the many blessings which have been secured to Your subjects by that firm and beneficent sway, which Heaven has so graciously sustained, and so mercifully prolonged.

The corporate life of this University goes back very far into the history of the nation; and its fortunes have been an anxious charge to many of Your Majesty's illustrious predecessors on the Throne of England. Our rights and privileges, though sometimes threatened or even temporarily suspended, owe their glorious survival through all the struggles of troublous times to the fostering care of the Crown, in harmony with the national spirit.

We remember with pride and gratitude those Royal foundations, endowments, and benefactions, which are among the choicest possessions of our University, and we recall with profound satisfaction the frequent and gracious presence of Royalty among us, from the distant days, when the First Henry lived in his Palace of Beaumont at our city walls, to the present generation, which has numbered among our Oxford students the Heir Apparent to the Throne and the Duke of Albany, whose early death seemed to us like the loss of one of our own household.

Among the substantial triumphs of Your Majesty's Reign, we may leave to others to commemorate the wonderful development and consolidation of Your vast Empire, and the growth of a Greater Britain in those loyal Colonies, which look up to You with the devotion due to a Mother. But it is the peculiar privilege of a University, which has to preserve unshaken its claim to be called a great seat of learning, to hail as one of the noblest distinctions of the Victorian era, that