ENGLAND—SOUTH COAST.

Temporary Regulations for Vessels Entering or Leaving Langston Harbour.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 246, of 22nd September, 1887, on the temporary closing of Langston Harbour during certain naval and military submarine mining operations:—

Further notice is given, that they will take place from the present date to 30th November, 1887, and that the following regulations are to be observed by vessels entering and leaving the harbour during that period:—

1. No vessel, under any circumstances, to anchor within the limits of the defended area, which will be clearly shown by buoys, and lines given by beacons on shore, as detailed below:—

2. No vessel, under any circumstances, to pass through any part of the defended area, without a special pilot on board:—

3. No sailing vessel to attempt to navigate any portion of the defended area, but to be towed through by a tug detailed for the purpose, free of charge. If, in the opinion of the chief pilot, there is a sufficiently commanding wind and a fair tide, permission may be given to vessels to proceed under sail at their own risk.

Limits of Defended Area, in which no Vessel is to Anchor.

The defended area is bounded on its southern side by beacons, two on each shore, giving lines converging on the fairway buoy.

The beacons on the eastern shore will be, the rear one, a pole surmounted by a diamond, and the front one, a pole surmounted by a circular shape, painted red, and showing red lights at night. The front beacon about 15 feet high, the rear beacon 25 feet high.

A vessel will be in the defended area if when eastward of the fairway buoy, the higher or rear beacon is brought to the northward of the lower beacon.

The beacons on the west shore will be the same shape as those on the eastern shore, but painted black, and showing green lights at night.

The northern limit of the defended area will be obtained by imaginary lines from the ferry house on western shore to buoy No. 1, thence to buoy No. 2, and thence to ferry house on eastern shore.

Navigable Channel.

A navigable channel, 75 yards wide, will be provided through the part most dangerous to navigation; or from abreast the Dolphin, to abreast the northernmost bastion of Cumberland Fort.

The marks for this channel will be two beacons in line, placed on the western spit near the ferry-house. These beacons in line (the rear one, a pole surmounted by a triangle, apex downwards, the front one, a pole surmounted by a triangle, apex upwards), will lead through the centre of the gap in the boom, 25 yards outside the Dolphin, and 25 yards eastward of the fairway buoy—the above beacons will show fixed white lights at night.

When abreast the northern part of Cumberland Fort, a vessel that has come in over the harbour bar, will be past all dangers to navigation, as the mines, &c., in the northern part of the defended area, will be so arranged as to have more water over them at any time than there then is on the bar, but no vessel should anchor, until to the northward of the defended area as specified above

The Boom.

The most dangerous obstruction to navigation will be the boom, which will extend across the harbour, with an opening of 75 yards near the western shore.

In addition to the leading line of beacons, or lights at night, this gap will be further marked by four buoys:—

Two buoys, painted black, to be left on the starboard hand when entering.

Two buoys, painted black and white in vertical stripes, to be left on the port hand when entering.

By command of their Lordships,
W. J. L. Wharton, Hydrographer.
 Hydrographic Office, Admiralty, London,
 30th September, 1887.

This Notice temporarily affects the following Admiralty Charts:—Owers to Christchurch, No. 2045; Spithead and approach from the eastward, No. 2050. Also, Channel Pilot, Part I, 1886, pages 224, 225.

Position (approximate), lat. 47° 40' N., long. 6° 00' W.

In this locality, the drift current is much affected by the prevailings winds.
