Rome, September 16.

THE Venetian Ambassador has frequent Audiences of the Pope, about the present Juncture of Affairs, and particularly those that relate to the preserving the Peace of Italy. The Duke de Chauvnes, Ambassador from France, continues his Negotiation for the adjusting their Differences with this Court, though there is a discourse, that he will suddenly return home, and that the Duke d'Estree is to succeed him in this Embassy. The Imperial Minister does press the Pope to give one of the vacant Cardinals Caps at the Emperor's Nomination. Cardinal Pamphilio is declared Legat of Bologna.

Venice, September 22. The Duke of Mantua parted from hence on Wednesday last on his return to Mantua, upon the advice he received, that the Marquis d'Obizzi was come thither with the Character of Envoy Extraordinary from the Emperor. Last night arrived here a Felucca that left our Fleet the 9th instant at Motene, not far from Vallona, which last place the Captain-General had resolved to attack, having writ to the Proveditore-General of Dalmatia to send what Troops he could to assist him in this design. A great Convoy is preparing here for the Levant.

Madrid, September 20. Great Supplies of Money have of late been sent from hence to the Governor of Milan, in order to assist the Duke of Savoy; and the Viceroy of Naples and Sicily have likewise Directions to furnish both Men and Money for that Service. The Captainship of the Dutch Guards, vacant by the death of Don Pedro d'Arragon, is given to the Marquis de Quinsana, Son-in-Law to the Marquis de los Balbaces, and the Vice-Presidentship of the Council of Arragon, to Don Melchior de Navarra Duke of Palata, who is now in the Indies, but is expected home with the next Galeons. The Conde de St. Iseuan, Viceroy of Naples, having almost finished his 3 years, there are several Persons of the chiefest Quality in Nomination to succeed him, but the Count de Monterey seems to stand the fairest in his Pretensions to that Government. Orders have been sent to Cadix for the fitting out 12 Men of War, which are to go and meet the New Spain Fleet that is coming home.

Dublin, October 4. Since the news of the taking of Corke, (the Garrison whereof consisting of about 5000 Men, were all made Prisoners of War) we have an account, that our Forces commanded by the Earl of Marlborough are marched to Kinsale; and that upon their approach the Irish quitted the Town, and retired into the old and new Forts, but in such a fright and disorder, that many of the Soldiers threw down their Arms. Our Men immediately possessed themselves of the Town, and when the last Letters came away, were preparing to attack the Forts, which they doubted not but to be quickly Masters of. Lieutenant-General Ginkle is removed with the Forces that lay near Cashill to Feathard, from whence he intended to march on the 2d of this Month to Killenaule, near the Bog of Moneley, about 8 miles from Cashill, and at the same distance from Thurles. Sir John Lanier and Major-General Kirke were, according to our last advice, still at Bir, which they are fortifying. The Enemy continue in a small Body near Banabar Bridge, but it's said, that the Duke of Berwick is gone to Limerick, and that Sarsfeild lyes very ill there. The French left above 1000 of their Men dead in Comaugh, and many sick, and we are assured from all hands, that the Irish there are reduced to such Necessities, that they know not how to subsist.

From the Camp near Killinaule, October 3. Col. Wolfeley gives advice from Mullingar of an advantage he has had of the Enemy, as follows.

Being informed the 25th of the last Month, that a Party of the Enemies Horse were come over the Shannon for conveniency of Forage, and had posted themselves at a little Village a mile and half on this side Athlone, I immediately sent out a Party, who marched all night, and came upon the Enemy by break of day next morning, and surprised them, killed 40, took 36 Horses, 25 Cases of Pistols, 18 Carbines, and 21 Saddles with Hotters, and pursued the rest, who left all their Clothes behind them, to Athlone, and brought off all the Cattel that were in that Country. The frequent Parties I send out, keep the Enemy from making Incursions upon us on Lanesbrough side, neither dare they they bring any Cattel over the Shannon there for fear of our Men. This Party was Colonel Grace's own Troop, and had some Foot with them.

Falmouth, October 6. On Friday last came in here Their Majesties Ships the Pearl, Phoenix, and Swallow; the latter having with her a Dutch Vessel of 300 Tuns laden with Salt from St. Hubes, which was taken by a French Caper, and retaken by this Frigate on the Coast of Ireland. The last night arrived here the Spanisb Expedition from the Groyne, whence she came on the 28th of the last Month in company of two Dutch Capers and four Prizes, which she left off of this Harbor. There are come over in the Spanisb Expedition several Persons of Quality, who are going for Flanders.

Chester, October 8. The last week came into this City part of Colonel Matthews Regiment of Dragoons, and the rest yesterday; They are all ordered to Higblake, in order to their Embarkation for Ireland.

Bristol, October 9. By several Passengers who came from Youghall on the 7th instant, in a Vessel called the Mary of Garke, we have an account, That credible Persons were come thither from Kinsale, whence they parted on the 5th, and declared, that the day before Their Majesties Forces, under the command of the Earl of Marleborough, had possessed themselves of the Town of Kinsale, having by their sudden arrival there prevented its being burnt by the Irish Soldiers in that Garrison, who were about setting fire to it, but upon the approach of our Men, they retir'd into the old Fort, which was presently after stormed and taken by our Forces, the Irish endeavouring to escape in Boats to the new Fort, of which several were sunk by our Guns, and only two got safe, with the Men that were in them to the new Fort. That our Cannon began to batter the new Fort on Saturday the 4th instant in the Evening, and continued to play all Sunday till about 4 or 5 a clock in the Afternoon, when the said Persons being on the way from Kinsale to Youghall, heard no more firing. That 'twas reported, there were 1500 Irish in the new Fort. That there were 3 Ships in Kinsale Harbor laden with Goods for France, of which two got away, and one was taken by Their Majesties Ships. These Passengers say likewise, that they heard that the Rapperies had plundered the Town of Bandon, and afterwards drove away about 5 or 600 Protestants before them into the Island of Kerry.

Portsmouth, October 9. On Tuesday last came to Spithead the Crown Frigate from the Westward; and yesterday morning the Resolution arrived at St. Helens from the Coast of Ireland, having left the Fleet the night before off of the Isle of Wight, directing their Course towards the Downes; Whither Sir Claudy Shovell sailed last night with his Squadron from St. Helens.

Dread, October 9. The Fleet commanded by the Admirals, Sir Richard Maddock, Henry Kij-

ligrew Esq; and Sir John Asby, arrived yesterday in the Downes. They came from Coke Harbor (where they left a Squadron of Ships) on the Second of this Month, and have brought from thence the Earls of Cincarty and Tyrone, the Lord Carne, Colonel Macgellivray, and several other Prisoners. Sir Claudy Shovell is likewise come into the Downes with Their Majesties Ships under his command from St. Helens.

Whitchhall, October 9. This day his Grace the Duke of Norfolk Lord-Lieutenant, the High-Sheriff, and several Gentlemen, of the County of Surrey, attended His Majesty with an humble Address, Congratulating his good Success in Ireland, and safe Return, which His Majesty received very Graciously, and was pleased to confer the Honour of Knighthood upon George Maggot High-Sheriff of that County.
