THE Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the following Memorandum respecting Quarantine Regulations and practice in force in Spain in continuation of that published in the London Gazette of October 6, 1893 (H. 7391), page 5621.

By a Royal Decree, dated Madrid, October 26, 1893, interpretation is given to Regulations 56 to 59 inclusive of the Royal Order of March 31, 1888.

These Regulations provide as follows:—

Rule 56. Ships arriving from foul ports shall be subjected in the lazaretto for the observations of arrivals from foul ports to a process of disinfection for a space of three days for the ship and infectious goods.

Persons will be permitted to disembark; those who appear to be sick being removed with proper precautions to the epidemic hospital of the town, and the dead being decently buried.

57. Ships from suspected ports shall be freely admitted in those of similar character.

58. Those from suspected ports shall be admitted to free pratique in fowl ports.

59. Those from fowl ports shall be sent to a fowl lazaretto on arrival at a suspected port.

The Royal Decree of October 26, 1893, above referred to, enacts as follows:—

1. Regulations 56 to 59 inclusive, of the Royal Order of 31st of March, 1888, shall only apply to arrivals from ports in the north of Europe, provided there be no extensive epidemic of cholera in those ports, or no epidemic characterized by great mortality.

2. If during the passage there has not occurred any case on board, the passengers will have to undergo three days' observation, after which they may disembark, the ship and infectious articles being then submitted to the proper process of disinfection for the space of three days more.

3. When any case has occurred during the passage or period of observation, the ship shall be sent to a fowl lazaretto, where it shall undergo the sanitary treatment provided by Article 35 of the Sanitary Law in force.
