

turers should obtain the advantage of this arrangement, they should cause their trademarks to be registered in France. At present no protection for British trademarks can be obtained as against the subjects or citizens of any other Power trading in Morocco.

As against British subjects and protégés in Morocco, protection is given by Art. 112 of the Morocco Order in Council 1889 which provides that any act, which if done in the United Kingdom or in a British Possession would be an offence against the Merchandise Marks Act 1887, the Patents, Designs and Trademarks Acts 1883 to 1888, any Act, Statute or Order in Council in force for the time being relating to copyright, inventions, designs or trademarks; or any Statute amending or substituted for any of the above-mentioned Statutes, shall, if done by a British subject in Morocco, be punishable as a grave offence against the Order. Any person found guilty under this section is liable (i) to a fine not exceeding ten pounds, without imprisonment; or (ii) to imprisonment not exceeding two months, without fine, or (iii) to imprisonment not exceeding one month, with a fine not exceeding five pounds.

It is to be presumed that the owner of a trademark which has been falsified by a British subject or protégé in Morocco would be able also to recover damages.

As there exists no machinery for registration of British trademarks at any of the British Consulates or Vice-Consulates in Morocco, before commencing proceedings in Her Majesty's Court for Morocco, it would be necessary to furnish legal evidence of the ownership of the mark, and similarly in any case where the intervention of a British Consular Officer with the French or Moorish Authorities was sought for.
