Milan, August 30.

Is Confirmed by the last Letters from the Duke of Savoy's Camp, that the German and Spanish Troops that were marched towards the Valley of Aoste, are Countermanded, in order to Fight the French Army before they had received the Reinforcements they expect. Monsieur Catinat is retired in the mean time between Pignerol and Villa Franca, and has sent Detachments to secure the Pass of Susa, and the Passages into Dauphine, which however has not hindered the Excursions of the Vauds.

Venice, Septemb. 6. We have no fresh Letters from the Army, but the ordinary Advices from Hungary say, That Prince Lewis had pass'd the Danube near Peter Waradin, with a Resolution as 'twas believed to join the Imperial Forces that came from Transilvania, under the Command of General Veterani, and after that to Attack Temeswar or Great Waradin. That the Turks since their late defeat have quitted Possega, and all the other places they were possid'd of in Sclavonia. That the Enemies Action appeared every day greater, and that they all conclude, the Grand Vicer was killed, though they had not yet found his Body, which Prince Lewis had order'd to be searched for. We have an account from Colonel Selicke, who at present Commands the Blockade of Great Waradin, that being informed that the Enemy had several Hundred Head of Cattle in the Meadows near the Town, he sent a Party of Hussars to drive them from thence towards a Wood, where he posted himself with 400 Horse: The Hussars Executed their Orders, and the Turks thereupon killed one of the Town, and falling into the Ambush Colonel Selicke had laid for them, were most of them killed or taken Prisoners. On Sunday last Count Nicestomoni was sent from hence by the Emperor, to present to the Pope one of the best of the Standards lately taken from the Turks; the rest are expos'd in the Chappel of St. Anthony of Padua; Among these Standards is that which belonged to the G and Vicer, that of the Aga of the Janifaries, and that of the Volunteers; They are most of them Embroider'd with Gold and Silver, and Arabick Letters, containing several Sentences out of the Alcoran. The Emperor in Consideration of the great Services of Prince Lewis, has declared him Lieutenant General of all his Forces, as the Duke of Lorraine formerly was; and Prince Charles Thieriot of Lorraine, who is gone back to the Army, is made Colonel of the Regiment of Horse of Hesse.

Zell, August 24. On the 16th instant Sir William Colt, Envoy extraordinary from Their Majesties of Great Britain at this Court, made a very Splendid Entertainment on occasion of the happy Accession of Their Majesties Arms in Ireland, which was followed with a very fine Banquet, and the running of Wine among the Spectators. The same day the Duke after Singing of Te Deum in the Churches, caused the Cannon to be fired round the Town and Castle, as also at Harbours, a Fort is on the Elbe over against Hamburg. And the Sunday following there was the like R Joying at Brunswick and Wolfenbuttel by order of the Duke of Wolfenbuttel.

Berlin, Septemb. 1. Last Night we had a great Storm, with Thunder and Lightning, which has done a great deal of mischief to the Fortresses of Spandau, two Miles from this place; The Vault under one of the Battions was pierc'd, and the Magazine of Powder that lay there, took Fire, and blew up the said Battion; the Cannon were thrown into the River, and the Wachtmeister and his Family, who lived near it, and 12 Prisoners, with as many of the German Soldiers that were posted thereabouts, are still missing, and supposed to be Swallow'd up in the Ruines; which the Elector has been himself this Morning to view, and to order them to be repaired.

From the Saxon and Confederate Camp near Termentz, Sept. 7. The Forage hereabouts growing very scarce, it is resolv'd that we shall decamp on the 10th, and march to Rackingen, about 2 Leagues from hence. The French Army according to our last advice was encamped near Badon, on the other side of Baden, not far from Fort Louis, and was very much weakened by Sickness. We have likewise a great many Sick in our Camp. The Electoral Prince of Saxony return'd hither this day from Tubingen, with the good News of the Electors Recovery, who is now so well as to walk about in his Chamber. Just now we have advic'd, that the French had attack'd the Fort near Biederach in the Kinzinger Dal, and that they were repair'd with great loss, some speak of 1000 Men.

Cologne, Septemb. 14. The Marquis de Harcourt moves with the Troops under his Command towards Luxembourg; The Neighbourers are still posted near Lommersdorf. We hear from the Moselle, that one of our Parties of 200 Men have defeated 300 French that were out upon an excursion.

Ravensburg, Septemb. 14. The Letters from Lemberg in Poland of the 23d past, tell us, That the Army of that Crown after their Conjunction with the Troops of Lithuania, had pass'd the Nister; and that the King followed them, and was resolv'd to march into Moldavia.

Paris, Sept. 14. The last Letters from Piedmont say, that the Troops sent towards Savoy, were order'd to return, and join the Army, and that they expected in the Duke's Camp a Train of heavy Cannon, in order to execute some great design. The Vaudois have made of late several incursions towards Sion in Provence. A Declaration is published here, which requires the bringing all the pieces of 3 Sols and a half into the Mint, where they are to give a new Mark put upon them, and after that are to be given out again at 4 Sols, by which the King gains the 8th part; Several other Projects are daily set on foot for the raising of Money, which are put in Execution, with difficulty enough. This Court continues very Jealous of the new Converts, and has given repeated Orders to the Intendants of the several Provinces, to have a very strict Eye upon them. At Rochelle they have taken away the Children of several, whom they suspect not to be real Converts. Monsieur le Blanc, eldest Counsellor in the Chief Court of Justice at Sedan, and aged about 70 years, is Condemn'd to the Gallies, and his Wife shut up in a Monastery, for endeavoring to depart the Kingdom.

Brussels, Septemb. 16. Our Army is still encamped near Aeth, and the French towards Lessines. The Forces which lay at Gaux on the Schelde, under the Command of the Marquis de Gastanaga our Governor General, are sever'd; part of them are gone back to their Garisons in Flanders; four Battalions are posted on the Canal near P. l'orde, and the rest are encamped between this place and the Burnt-Bridge. The Confederate Troops, Commanded under the Landgrave of Hesse, by the Baron de Fleming, pick'd the Meuse the 12th instant at Namur; we know not yet whether they will direct their march; they make with the Troops of Liege 12000 Foot, and 6 or 7000 Horse. The Marquis de Boufflers is encamped on the River Effe with 4000 Horse, and two Battalions, detach'd from the Duke of Luxembourg's Army, and part of the Garisons of Dinant and Charlemont; And the Marquis de Harcourt, Governor of Luxembourg, is marching to Reinforce him.

Utrecht, Septemb. 18. The Duke of Luxembourg's continuing his Resolution not to Fight, although our Army was incited by the marching off of the Landgrave of Hesse, and having so posted himself, that he could not be forced to it, His Majesty left the Army yesterday Morning near Aeth, and is come to this place in his way to Breida.

Hague, Septemb. 18. The King has left the Army in Flaners under the Command of Prince Waldecke, and will be this Night at Breda, where His Majesty will stay one day, and then go and pass 4 or 5 at Loos. The Landgrave of Hesse, and the Generals Fleming and Tilly, have pick'd the Meuse at Namur, and are marching with 20000 Men, in order to Fight the Marquis de Boufflers, who is at present about Rochfort and Chimay, or else to take their Winter Quarters in the Country of Lutzenburg.

From the Camp before Limerick, September 2. On the 25th of the last Month we decamp'd from Carrickish, and about 3 in the Afternoon came before this place, our Left reaching to the River, but the Enemy plac'd several pieces of Cannon on the other side, which oblig'd a Regiment of Dragoons, and another of Horse, that were posted nearest
