The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs has received from His Majesty's Ambassador at St. Petersburg the text, in French, of an Order issued by His Imperial Majesty The Czar on the 28th ultimo, respecting Articles to be treated as Contraband of War, of which the following is a literal translation. The Russian Government further state that all the articles enumerated in Rule VI are regarded as unconditionally contraband, and the Russian Government reserve to themselves the right to supplement the list of contraband articles by the addition of others if, in the circumstances of the war they should deem it necessary to forbid the conveyance of such articles to Japan or to Japanese armed forces.

(Translation.)

An Order of His Majesty the Emperor, communicated to the Senate by the Minister of Justice, approving the Rules which the Imperial Government will enforce during the war with Japan.

His Majesty the Emperor was graciously pleased on the 14th February, 1904, to write in his own hand upon the original, "Let it be so."

Rules which the Imperial Government will enforce during the War with Japan.

I. Japanese subjects are authorized to continue, under the protection of Russian law, to reside and to follow peaceful callings in the Russian
