Twin, July 22.

THE Duke of Savoy having resolved to pass the Mountains, and enter into France, where the adjoining Provinces, who have groaned under a long Oppression, seem ripe for a Revolution, and only to wait for an opportunity; His Royal Highness marched yesterday with part of the Army towards Barcelonette, and the Duke of Schonberg marches this day with another Body by the Valley of Lucerne; the Rendezvous of both being appointed at Guillestre, within a League of Ambrun: and when joyned together, they will make about 20000 Men. General Caprara is with His Royal Highness; and Count Palfi commands a separate Body, which remains in Piedmont, to secure the Country against the Excursions of the Garison of Pignerol, and the other French Troops posted on that side under the Command of Monsieur Catinat, who (including their Garisons) do not make above 10000 Men.

Genova, July 19. The Count de Rabenac, the French Envoy, intends to part from hence to morrow, having Orders to go to the Courts of Parma, Mantua, and Modena, and afterwards to Rome. A small Vessel come from Thoulon brings an Account, That the French Gallies lay still in the Port of Marseilles.

Venice, July 25. By several Vessels come from Corfou, we understand, That the Auxiliary Gallies, with a great Convoy, sailed from thence the 30th of the last month, to joyn our Fleet in the Levant. From the Coast of Barbary we hear that the Tripolins have lately taken three Venetian Ships.

Vienna, July 27. The last Advices from Hungary say, That the Turks having finished their Bridges over the River Sava, they had begun to pass it; and that some of their Troops were advanced as far as Semlin, where they intend to form a Camp. The Imperial Forces which lay about Esseck, were thereupon going to march towards Peter Waradin, under the Command of General Becke; and Prince Louis of Baden will leave this place in two or three days, intending to go Post to the Army. General Veterani gives the Enemy continual Allarms on the side of Temeswaer, and hinders them from putting any Provisions into that place. The Fleet designed to serve on the Danube is in motion, the Marquis de Fleury having Orders to repair with it towards Esseck. The Velt-Marshal Schoning, who is now a Prisoner in Moravia, will be brought to Neusbadt in Austria, in order to his Examination, at which the Emperor has given leave that some persons commissioned for that purpose by the Elector of Saxony, may be present.

Mentz, August 2. The Count de Tbungen, Governor of this City, is gone to the Confederate Army, where he is to command as General of Battalia. The Hussars have this week beaten another French Party, and have brought hither 12 Prisoners, 21 Horses, and 4 Mules. The French Army commanded by the Marechal de Lorge encamped the 21st past at Osthofen, and still continues there: They had placed several Pieces of Cannon in Battery on the side of the Rhine; but have however not been able to hinder the passage of the Boats which the Imperialists have brought to Sandhofen and Lampertheim, in order to make Bridges there.

Hydelberg, August 2. The Margrave of Bareith is encamped, with the Confederate Forces under his Command, near Wiselocke, and the Landtgrave of Hesse-Cassel near Gernsheim, whither he marched on the 29th from Bensheim: 'Tis still said that he will suddenly re-pass the Rhine. The Count de Furstemberg was detached some days ago from the Confederate Army, with 1000 Men, and 14 pieces of Cannon, which he planted in Battery at Nieu Manheim, to cover the Boats that are brought to Sandhofen, in order to the laying a Bridge over the Rhine. The French are encamped on the other side of that River, about Osthofen, destroying the Country in a most barbarous manner.

Cologne, August 5. The Troops of Munster begin their march this day, to joyn the Forces of Neuburg and Cologne, which are at present encamped about Cornelis Munster; and those that are in Garison in this City have likewise Orders to march thither. The Letters from the Upper Rhine give an Account, That the Confederates had raised a Battery near Nieu Manheim; That they had dismounted the Cannon the French had planted on the other side of the Rhine; and that they had begun to make a Bridge there; That the Margrave of Bareith was encamped at Wiselocke, between Hydelberg and Philipsburg; and the Landtgrave of Hesse at Gernsheim; and the Marechal de Lorge near Worms, on this side the Rhine.

Paris, August 4. The last Letters from Piedmont, of the 26th past, give an Account, That the Duke of Savoy was on his march to enter into France; and by the way of Provence we hear, That the Enemy have appeared near Ambrun, which puts this Court under great apprehensions; and it's said that 10 Battalions are orde-ted to march that way under the Command of the Marquis de Vens. The French King has given to the Son of Monsieur de Harlai, who is very young, one of the places of Councillor in Parliament of the last Creation: There were in all 18, of which 7 or 8 are not yet disposed of, no body appearing who is willing to give the Price, that is fixed at 10000 Livres; especially seeing divers of the Old Councillors offer to sell their Places for 80000 Livres. There are under Consideration several new Projects to find Money for supporting the War, which is raised with great difficulty, the Provinces being quite impoverished, through the want of Trade, and the excessive Taxes that lay upon them.

From His Majesty's Camp at Lambeque, July 28. O. S. Our Army continues encamped in this place, and the French at Englien: All our Advices, as well as the Defesters, assure us that the Enemies Loss in the late Action is at least equal, if not greater than Ours; 'Tis said that they have lost a great number of Officers, and divers Persons of Quality, among whom the Prince de Turenne, the Duke de Villeroy and Mr. Tilladet, both Lieutenant-Generals, and the Marquis de Bellefonds, are particularly named; and the Duke de Chartres and the Duke de Maine are said to be both wounded. There never was greater Bravery than our Troops shewed in this occasion; Of ours, there were engaged but 22 Battalions, with a Detachment of Dragoons; and against these the French brought down 45 Battalions, and 4 Regiments of Dragoons. Divers of their old Regiments, as those of Champagne, Dauphin, of the King, and Barbesieux, two Swiss Battalions, and others, are quite ruined; and the Musqueteers of the Household have suffered extremely. Several Officers who were thought to have been killed on our side, are, as we hear since, Prisoners. We have likewise taken three Captains, a Cornet, and several other Prisoners of the Enemy, with the blue Standard of the Regiment of Dauphine; and we do not hear that we have lost one Colour or Standard. On Tuesday last there was a small Skirmish between some of the French Troops and those that covered our Foragers, in which some few were killed and wounded on both sides. We are informed, That the French have since Sunday last cast up several Retrenchments, for the greater Security of their Camp.

Hague, August 8. All the Accounts we have received of the late Action in Flanders, do speak with great admiration of the Courage and Gallantry of our Troops, who beat the Enemy, with very unequal Numbers, from several strong Posts, and from a Pass where they had planted several Pieces of Cannon; and at last made their Retreat in so good Order, that the Enemy durst not venture out of their Camp to give them any disturbance. Our Loss is computed at 2000 killed, and 1000 wounded; the Enemies we are assured is greater: They have lost divers Officers of the first Rank; the Prince de Turenne, Monsieur de Tilladet, Lieutenant-General, the Marquis de Bellefonds, the Prince de Tingri, the Chevalier de Colbert, Brigadier Stoupa, with several other Persons of Quality, are reckon'd among the Slain; and the Duke de Chartres and the Marquis de Boufflers among the Wounded: but we expect a more certain and exact List by our next Letters. The Marquis de Murtaigne, with another Marquis, and some others, are taken; together with a Blue Standard belonging to the Regiment of Dauphin, which was quite cut in pieces, insomuch that of the Captains only one is said to be left alive; 2 Swiss Battalions and 10 of the French have likewise suffered very much.

Falmouth, July 28. On Tuesday last the Depeford-Frigate sent in here the Mediterranean of London, of 300 Tuns, bound home from Jamaica, which was taken by two French Capers, and soon after re-taken by the said Frigate.

Plymouth, July 31. On the 27th past arrived here the Dove of this place, in 12 weeks from Jamaica; and this day the Expedition from Antegoa. Yesterday came into this Port the Merchant Ships bound for New-found-Land, with their Convoy.

Portsmouth, July 31. Captain Newill in the Kent, with some other of Their Majesties Ships, are come in from cruising, having re-taken 5 small Vessels that were lately taken by the French Privateers in the Irish Seas.

Tarmouth, August 1. Yesterday and this day passed through this Road to the Northward about 300 light Colliers, under the Convoy of two Men of War.
