Turin, May 26.

On the 23d Instant arrived here the Duke of Schoenberg from Flanders, and yesterday he went to Chieri to wait upon the Duke of Savoy; who continues in very good health. The Germans having settled their Contributions with the Duke of Modena, who is to pay them 100000 Pistoles, they are now on their march towards the Rendezvous at Carignan; The Troops of Milan are likewise moving this way, and we are assured that the Marquis de Legonez will bring into the Field this Summer 14000 Men, which being joined with the German Forces, and those of his Royal Highness, will make an Army of above 40000. We hear that some Spanish Troops are posted at St. Georges near Casal, in order to block up that place.

Vienna, May 27. The Imperial Forces begin to assemble at their Rendezvous near Mohatz between Buda and Esfelke; and the Auxiliary Troops of Brandenburg and Hannover have received Orders to hasten their march thither; The Duke de Croy, who is to have the chief Command over the Emperor's Forces in Hungary this Campaign, continues still at Graz, in Stiria, by reason of an Indisposition, which will not suffer him as yet to begin his Journey thither. The Letters from Upper-Hungary advise, that General Heusser had been with a Body of Horse to observe the situation of Jeno, but found the late great Rains had rendered it so unaccessible, the place being in a manner surrounded by Moras, that he had not yet made any attempt upon it; But some of his Troops had met with a Party of Turks who had been to Conduct a small Convoy of Provisions to Jeno, and had cut off most of them. On the other side 500 Turks of the Garison of Gyula had made an Excursion towards Debrezin, and had carried away several Hundred Head of Cattle, after having routed a Party of 100 Hussars, and killed several of them. The Advices from Turkey say, that the late Alteration at the Port had retarded the march of their Troops; but that to encourage them, 'twas given out, that the Grand Signior would go himself to the Frontiers. Yesterday we received Letters from Monsieur Heemskerck, the Dutch Ambassador, dated the 12th of April at Adrianople, which give new hopes of a Peace with the Turks, the Grand-Vizier, Caimacan, and all the great Officers of the Seraglio being very much inclined to it.

Hailbron, June 2. Yesterday Prince Lewis of Baden took a general Review of the Confederate Forces, encamped near this City, which consist at present of about 25000 Men; The same day he received Advice, by an Express, that the Troops of Saxony, who are 12000 effective Men, were come near to Wurtsburg, and the Courier was sent back immediately, with directions for them to continue their march thither with all the speed they can. The Troops of Hesse, who are above 6000, will likewise join us in few days, to which end their Horse are already on their march; In the mean time we have fortified our Camp, where Prince Lewis intends to expect the Enemy who we hear are moving this way.

Francfort, June 3. The Imperial Hessians met some days ago with a French Party, and cut them all in pieces except two, whom Prince Louis sent back to the French Army, with this Message: That he was come from a War against the Turks, and thought he had now to do with Christians, but that he found the French acted more like Barbarians then they, as appeared by the destruction of Hydelbergh, and the Massacre they had made of the Inhabitants; That the French had likewise in several Occasions broke the Cartel settled between the two Armies, for which reason he did not think himself obliged any longer to observe it, and for the future would treat them, as the Hussars had done to this Party they lately met with. We have an account from Hydelbergh, that the French, among their other Barbarities, have opened the Tombs of the Electors that were buried there, and particularly of the Elector Charles Louis, the Elector's his Wife, and the Elector Charles their Son, throwing their Bones and Ashes about the Streets, and carrying away the Leadn Coffins which the dead Bodies were laid in. Yesterday and this day passed through this City several Regiments of Hessian Horse, who are going under the Command of the Count de Lippe, to join Prince Lewis near Hailbron. The French have broke down the two Bridges they had made over the Neckar. They have not yet demolished the Castle of Hydelbergh, but the Mines are ready to blow it up; and in the mean time they keep in it a Garison of 2000 Men.

Cologne, June 5. We have an account from the Upper-Rhine, that Prince Lewis has fortified his Camp near Hailbron, and that the Saxons and Hessians would join him in few days, after which he would march towards the Enemy; Who, as these Letters assure us, are not so numerous as was at first reported. The Brandenburg Troops in Garison here are ordered to march towards the Meuse.

Paris, June 5. On Monday last Te Deum was Sung here for the taking of Hydelbergh. The French King, who was taken ill at Quenoy, and continued so 2 or 3 days, went thence on the 2d Instant to the Army; The Ladies are gone to Dinant. The Duke of Orleans arrived the 31th past at Vitre, being received by the Duke of Chaulnes at his entering into Britany, of which he is Governor. They write from Germany, that the Marechal de Lorge was marched towards Hailbron, believing the Enemy upon their approach would abandon that place. The Letters from Brest say, that the French Fleet was gone towards Belle-Ile; and those from Provence tell us, that the Count d'Estree was on the 22d past still near the Isles of Hieres, the Gallies not having yet joined him, but a day or two after they understood by a small Vessel come in to Marseilles, that he was failed, but they knew not whither.

Brussels, June 7. The French Army commanded by the Duke of Luxemburgh marched on the 2d Instant from Giwry towards Ettines, and Haine St. Pierre, and Haine St. Paul, where they continued on the 3d. The 4th they marched again, and encamped between Trafignies and Arquenme, within half a League of Nivelle; The French King, who had been stopt several days by his Indisposition at Quenoy, arrived, with the Dauphin, in the Camp; and yesterday the Army marched to Fleurus, their Right reaching as far as Sombref: The Marechal de Boufflers having marched from Tournay to Leuze, Cambron, Sognies, and Raux, advanced on the 3d from this last place to Ville Sur Haine, and has since followed the Duke of Luxemburgh. On the 5th our Army marched from Dighin to Louvain, where the Earl of Athlone joined.
