Rome, August 29.

ON Monday last was held a private Confistory, where several Bishopricks were proposed. The Differences that have so long depended between the French and this Court, about the Regale and the four Propositions of the Assembly of the Clergy in 1682, are at last adjusted, and an Express has been dispatched to France by the Cardinals d'Estree and Fourbin, with the Treaty of Accommodation, which they concluded 3 or 4 days ago, after several Meetings, with the Cardinals Carpegna, Sfada, Panciatici and Albani, empowered by the Pope for that purpose; at the return of this Express, the Treaty will be Published in due form, and after that, the Pope will grant his Bulls to such of the French Clergy who assisted at the before-mentioned Assembly of 1682, and have since been nominated to Bishopricks by the French King, being 15 in number. The Business about the Imperial Ambassador's Servants continues in the same state, tho' several Cardinals, as well as the Venetian Ambassador, do very zealously employ their Offices to compose it. The Pope, upon the Instances of the Spanish Ambassador, has granted the Catholick King the Tenth of the Ecclesiastical Revenues within all his Dominions. The endeavours that have been used to reconcile matters at Naples concerning the Inquisition, have hitherto had little success, however the Congregation appointed by the Pope to consider of Expedients to make up this business, continues to have frequent meetings about it.

Genova, Sept. 2. By several Barks that are arrived in this Port from Toulon, we understand, That the French Fleet was taking in Provisions and other necessaries, in order to their putting to Sea again about the middle of this Month; The general report is, that they design to return into the Ocean. The French have lately sent some Men from Provence to reinforce the Garisons of Nice and Villa Franca.

Venice, Sept. 4. The last Letters from the Morea give an Account, That the Doge Morosini was still at Porto Perro; and that the Turks were encamped about Corinth with a Body of 14 or 15000 Men. We have advice from Constantinople, That the Lord Paget, Ambassador from Their Majesties of Great Britain arrived there on the 25th of July: That the Grand Vizier was marched towards Transilvania, with a very small Army, not having with him above 20000

Men, besides the Tartars who were to joyn him in his March; and that Cissina Baila, late Caimacan of Constantinople, being sent to some Government on the Borders of Perlis, a Messenger was dispatched after him to take off his Head, but having got notice of it it's said he made his escape. The Letters add, That several Princes of the Arabs were in Arms, and gave great disturbance to the Turks in those Parts.

Warsaw, Sept. 4. The Advices from Lemberg of the 27th past say, That the Garison of Caminiac had, with the assistance of the Tartars (of whom there lies a considerable Body in the Neighbourhood of that place) made an attempt to surprize the Fort de la Trinite about a League from Caminiac, but that they were repulld by the Poles, who are Posted there under the Command of Colonel Brandt. The Forces of this Crown are still Encamped at Wysn-wiec, from whence a strong Detachment is sent to attack the Tartars near Caminiac, and to destroy all the Corn and Forage thereabouts. The Abbot of Polignac, who is lately come hither in the quality of Ambassador from France, has begun to make his visits to the Senators and other Persons of Principal Note at this Court; 'Tis said his chief business is to assist the Envoys that are here from the Tartars, in order to make a separate Peace between this Crown and the Turks, in which, according to the present disposition of this Court, they are not like to have any better success now than they have had formerly in their endeavours of the same kind.

From General Veterani's Camp at Salvaros, August 28. Upon advice of the Grand Vizier's marching back towards the Danube, we decamped from Schosburg on the Frontiers of Transilvania, and came to this place; and Coll. Polland, who was sent before with a Detachment of Horse and Dragoons, had Orders to Post himself near Lippa. Several Parties have been sent out to gain Intelligence; and by the freshest Information we have of the Enemy, they were Encamped near Widin on this side the Danube. The Tartars who had joyned the Vizier in expectation of making an Incurision into Transilvania, and of getting good store of booty, are much dissatisfied at the altering of this design, and many of them have deserted the Turkish Camp, and are gone home again; The common report makes the Force the Vizier has with him, to consist of about 50000 Men; but the greatest part of these being Tartars, and undisciplined.
