Major Robert Rankine, 14th Australian Infantry Battalion (Victoria).

On the night of 26th-27th April, 1915, during operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe, for gallantly leading an assault resulting in the capture of a most important post, and subsequently for holding that position against repeated attacks for five days without relief.

Major Frederick Waite, New Zealand Engineers, Territorial Force.

On the night of 2nd-3rd May, 1915, during operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe, for gallantry and resource in rallying his men and leading them forward at critical moments.

Captain Edward William Atkinson, 1st Battalion, The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers.

On 2nd May, 1915, during operations south of Krithia, for gallantly leading a counter-attack, capturing a Turkish trench 300 yards to his front, and for the efficient command of his battalion, all the senior officers having become casualties.

Captain Arthur Graham Butler, Australian Army Medical Corps (attached 9th Australian Infantry Battalion).

During operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe on 25th April, 1915, and subsequent dates, for conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in attending wounded under heavy fire, continuously displaying courage of a high order.

Captain Arthur Cunliffe Bernard Critchley-Salmonson, The Royal Munster Fusiliers (attached New Zealand Forces).

During operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe on 25th April, 1915, for great gallantry and resource in command of a small party, and saving a difficult situation. Again, on the night of 2nd-3rd May, he successfully led a small party to an advanced trench under great difficulties.

Captain Guy Westland Geddes, 1st Battalion, The Royal Munster Fusiliers.

On 25th April, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, for gallantly leading his men into lighters, and then swimming ashore under heavy fire. He continued doing duty till nightfall, although wounded early in the day.

Captain Richard Haworth, The Lancashire Fusiliers.

On April 25th, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, for gallantly leading 50 men to the wire entanglements of a strongly held redoubt. Although wounded, he refused to be removed until more troops arrived, and continued to command with a bullet through his back.

Captain Cecil Ridings, 1st Battalion, The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers.

On 28th April, 1915, during operations south of Krithia, for exceptionally gallant and capable leading under difficult conditions, maintaining a forward position in spite of heavy losses at a critical moment, although unsupported on either flank, and being himself severely wounded.

Lieutenant Henry Desmond O'Hara, 1st Battalion, The Royal Dublin Fusiliers.

On 25th April, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, took command of his Battalion when all other officers had been killed or wounded. At night, when the enemy broke through the line, he displayed great initiative and resource in organising a successful counter-attack, restoring the line and causing great loss to the enemy.

Awarded the Military Cross.

Captain Herbert Charles Crozier, 1st Battalion, The Royal Dublin Fusiliers.

On 26th April, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, for exceptional bravery in leading the way in the assault, encouraging the men by example. The success of the attack was largely due to him, and he was the first to lead when clearing the streets and houses.
