

he rescued a wounded officer and a wounded man.

Lt. Eric Reginald Dennis, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He rescued some men who were buried under intense fire, displaying great courage and determination. Later, he set a splendid example to his men under very trying conditions.

Lt. James Foord, Mtd. Rif.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led a patrol and gained most valuable information. During an attack he led a party and personally accounted for several of the enemy. Later, although severely wounded, he remained at his post.

Lt. Herbert Renwick Hammond, Fd. A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. As F.O.O., he obtained observation and directed fire on the enemy's wire under very trying conditions with great courage and skill. Later, he carried out several most valuable reconnaissances.

Lt. Edward Burton Hart, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assumed command in the front line, and maintained his position at a very critical time, displaying great courage and determination. Later, he rendered most valuable services as intelligence officer.

Lt. William Jeffrey Holliday, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. With a small party he took an enemy position and held it against three attacks, displaying great courage and initiative. Later, although wounded, he continued at duty for 42 hours until relieved.

Lt. William Elgin James, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He constructed an advanced strong post under very heavy fire with great courage and initiative. Later, although wounded, he continued working with his men until the work was completed.

Lt. Hallgrimur Jonsson, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He commanded and handled two working parties with great courage and skill. He set a splendid example to his men throughout.

Capt. William Howard Keslick, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company under very heavy fire with great courage and initiative. Later, he rendered most valuable services by establishing and linking up various detached posts.

Rev. William Ennis Kidd, Can. Chapt. Dept.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He tended and dressed the wounded continuously for three days under very heavy fire, displaying great courage and determination.

Capt. John Hamptonne L' Amy, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his men with great courage and initiative, and reorganised the front line. Later, although wounded, he remained at his post and led his men to the final objective.

Lt. Lambert Dumont Laviolette, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He carried out a valuable reconnaissance under very heavy fire. Later, he led his company in the attack with great courage and initiative. He has previously done very fine work.

Lt. Honore Edouard Legare, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with great courage and initiative, setting a splendid example to his men. He was severely wounded.

Lt. Arthur Louis Levy, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He carried out a valuable reconnaissance under heavy fire. Later, he guided the attacking company with great skill and continued with the company until the objective had been gained.

Capt. (Temp. Maj.) John Douglas Macpherson, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He handled his company under heavy fire with great courage and determination. Later, he assumed command of his Battalion and set a splendid example to his men. He has previously done very fine work.

Capt. Kenneth Arnold Mahaffy, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his men, under intense fire, with great courage and determination. He set a splendid example throughout the operations.

Lt. John Alexander McDonald, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with great courage and determination, twice driving the enemy out of their trenches. Later, he established a block and maintained his position through continuous fighting until relieved.

Capt. Harold Wigmore McGill, A.M.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He tended and dressed the wounded under very heavy fire with great courage and determination.

Lt. William Watt McLellan, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Although wounded, he assumed command of and led his company with great courage and initiative. With one man he captured an enemy machine gun which he brought into action. Later, he rescued a wounded man under intense fire.

Lt. Stanley Currie Robertson, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He