

led three small parties and established them under very heavy fire 200 yards from the enemy's trenches, holding his ground for seven hours until relieved. He has previously done very fine work.

(The Military Cross was awarded in the London Gazette dated 26th September, 1916.)

Lt. Adam Harrison Gilmour, M.C., Can. Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Three times he led carrying parties with water and bombs to the front line, over 1,500 yards of captured ground, swept by machine-guns, in daylight. Later, although wounded, he guided reinforcements to the front line.

(The Military Cross was awarded in the London Gazette dated 19th August, 1916.)

Rev. Ronald John Beresford Irwin, M.C., M.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He attended the wounded and dying constantly by day and night, in the open, under heavy fire. Later, he rescued and brought in many wounded men from between the enemy's firing line and our own. He has previously done fine work.

(The Military Cross was awarded in the London Gazette dated 14th January, 1916.)

2nd Lt. Archibald Stuart Charles MacLaren, M.C., K.O. Sco. Bord.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He attacked and brought down an enemy machine from a height of 5,000 feet. He has on many previous occasions done very fine work.

(The Military Cross was awarded in the London Gazette dated 27th July, 1916.)

Lt. (temp. Capt.) Frederick Frank Minchin, M.C., P.P.C.L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He flew 150 miles at night to bomb an enemy aerodrome, descending to 500 feet, and doing serious damage. On another occasion he landed 45 miles from our line to pick up the pilot of a damaged machine in a hostile country.

(The Military Cross was awarded in the London Gazette dated 31st May, 1916.)

Temp. Lt. (temp. Capt.) John Charles O'Callaghan, M.C., R.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He went out beyond the front line to observe for his battery while wire cutting, being exposed at the time to heavy fire. He has set a splendid example throughout the operations.

(The Military Cross was awarded in London Gazette dated 25th August, 1916.)

Temp. 2nd Lt. George Edward Porter, M.C., Devon. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He re-formed his men and organised the defence of the position under very heavy fire, displaying great courage and initiative.

(The Military Cross was awarded in the London Gazette dated 26th September, 1916.)

Temp. Capt. Edward Robert Seymour Prior, M.C., S. Lan. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led the assault with great courage and initiative, gaining his objective and consolidating the position.

(The Military Cross was awarded in London Gazette dated 20th October, 1916.)

Lt. (temp. Capt.) George Ranald Macfarlane Reid, M.C., Arg. & Suth'd Highrs.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He with his observer pursued a hostile aeroplane for some six miles into the enemy's territory, and there shot it down. He has on many previous occasions done very fine work.

(The Military Cross was awarded in London Gazette dated 24th June, 1916.)

Lt. (temp. Capt.) Owen Reginald Schreiber, M.C., R.H.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He extinguished a fire in a gunpit at great personal risk, removing 70 rounds of ammunition. During this period he was under intense shell fire.

(The Military Cross was awarded in London Gazette dated 14th January, 1916.)

Temp. Lt. (temp. Capt.) Peter Ross Shields, M.C., N. Lan. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with great courage and determination, gaining his objective. He set a splendid example to his men.

(The Military Cross was awarded in the London Gazette dated 20th October, 1916.)

Lt. (temp. Capt.) Robert MacMillan Stevens, M.C., R. Welsh Fus.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led several bombing attacks, under intense fire, with great courage and skill, and greatly assisted in capturing the enemy's trenches.

(The Military Cross was awarded in the London Gazette dated 19th August, 1916.)

Capt. Robert Neil Stewart, M.C., Cam'n Highrs.

For great skill and courage in handling his company during attacks. He disposed his company to its fullest advantage, with splendid results. Although wounded, he remained at his post, inspiring absolute confidence in his men. It was owing to Capt. Stewart's skill and devotion to duty that the attacks were so successfully repulsed.

(The Military Cross was awarded in London Gazette dated 23rd June, 1915.)

2nd Lt. (temp. Lt.) Norman Austin Taylor, Lond. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Although wounded, he continued with the attack, and led his company with great courage and initiative.

(The Military Cross was awarded in London Gazette dated 24th June, 1916.)

2nd Lt. (temp. Capt.) Awdry Morris Vaucour, M.C., R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He attacked 10 hostile machines and completely scattered their formation. Previously, while returning with a perforated petrol