Leghorne, July 12.

This week are come hither several Vessels from the Coast of Provence, who bring Advice, That the French Fleet was returned to Toulon, having failed in much haste before Barcelona, upon the News that Admiral Russell was coming into the Straights; which has very much disappointed those who not long ago talked of nothing else but the taking of Barcelona, and of insulting all the Coasts of Spain and Italy.

Venice, July 16. The Letters from Dalmatia of the 6th inform us, That the Proveditore General Dufino having put a good Garison into Ciclat, had sent back his Troops into their Quarters, and was himself returned to Spalato.

Turin, July 17. The Marquis de Leganez returned hither on the 11th from Milan, and took the next day a Review of the Spanish Forces at Millefiori. The 13th the Duke of Savoy, and Prince Eugene, General of the Emperors Forces, went from hence to the Army, which is encamped near Ayraque and Scallenge. The 14th, the Spanish Forces marched from Millefiori to Laquette. The Governor of Milan went yesterday to the Camp. The German Forces are come from Mousferat, and have joyned those of his Royal Highness. The Marechal de Carinat continues encamped near Fenestrelle. We have advice, That the French Governor of Nizza has broke all the ways from Piedmont to that place, and done all he could to make them unpassable; apprehending it seems, that his Royal Highness may have some design that way. The Letters from Provence tell us, That the French Fleet returned on the 4th of this month to Toulon. This day marched by this place a Detachment of the Spanish Troops, which is to be employed in the Blockade of Cazal.

Vienna, July 17. The last Advices from Hungary give an account, That 7 Imperial Regiments of Horse were encamped at Colloret, under the Command of Major General Gronsfelt, that the Count de Herberville lay at Verismarton with 8 Regiments of Horse, 6 of Foot, and one of Dragoons; and Lieutenant General Staremberg, with 7 of Foot, and 2 of Dragoons, at Buckin near Illecke; and that these 3 Bodies would joyn together in few days. General Caprara, and the Count de Hyderheim, General of the Imperial Horse, will certainly go from hence the next week to the Army. The Letters from the Frontiers do not yet make mention of the motion of the Enemies Troops in any considerable Body; Some say, that the Visier was set out from Adrianople, and that he is expected at Belgrade towards the end of this month.

From the Confederate Camp under the Command of Prince Lewis of Baden, at Hochenheim, July 23. We continue encamped in this place. The Resolution is taken to fortifie Mannheim, and Prince Lewis has already given Orders for Summoning in a great number of Boats for this purpose. A Bridge is likewise going to be laid over the Rhine near Mannheim, in order to our passing that River, and advancing towards the Enemy; who as yet continue in their Camp between Oppenheim and Wormes. 'Tis reported that the Marechal de Lorpe has sent a Detachment of 3 or 4000 Horse towards Piedmont.

Cologue, July 27. The Letters from the Palatinate tell us, That the Confederates were going to fortifie Mannheim, and that they intended to pass the Rhine there. The French are encamped about Gersheim.

Paris, July 23. On Monday last arrived here several Expresses from Diep, with advice, That the English and Dutch Fleet was come before that place; upon which the Marquis de Beuvron, Lieutenant General of Normandy, and the Lieutenant of Rouen, were immediately dispatched thither: And the Sieur Lappara, Brigadier of the Ingeniers, was ordered to march towards Normandy with all the Kings Musketeers that attended the Court, and 10 Companies of the Suiss, and 4 of the French Guards, who began their march the 21th and 22th, with Orders to joyn the Troops and Militia that are there already for the Defence of that Coast. Monsieur de Beuvron, upon his arrival at Diep, caused the Streets to be unpaved, and the tops of the Houses to be covered with Dung, and used all other necessary Precautions to hinder the effect of the Enemies Bomba; which they began to fire the 22th, and we hear they have already done great execution. They write from Spain, That Admiral Russell had passed the Straights, being joyned by the English and Dutch Squadron, as also by the Spanish Men of War from Cadix. From Provence 'tis confirmed, That the French Fleet was returned to Toulon; and from Catalonia, That the Marechal de Noailles had separated his Army, and put them into Quarters of Refreshment about Girona.

Paris, July 26. The Letters from Rouen and places adjacent tell us, That the Enemies Bomba have had a very terrible effect at Diep, the whole Town being burnt or beaten down, so as to be reduced to one heap of Ruins; which has occasioned not only a great Consternation among the People of that place, but has given such an alarm to our other Maritime Places, that the Chief Inhabitants are retiring from thence with their best Goods, fearing a like Treatment. The Letters from Toulon of the 15th say, That two Frigats, which were sent out to get intelligence, were come back, and reported, that they had not met with any of the Enemies Ships, except 15 Spanish Gallies which they saw off Alicant, taking their Course towards Barcelona. The Marechal de Touville has tried the Batteries he caused to be raised in several places for the security of that Port; and 5 Gallies more are come thither from Marseilles, who are posted with the rest to secure the Ships. The Advices from Piedmont say, That the Duke of Savoy had drawn his Army together near Ayraque; and that there was a Discouragement in his Royal Highness designed to march into Provence. Monsieur de Carinat is encamped near Rochecorail; And the Duke de Verulamie is gone to Nizza, where he is to have 18 Bataillons and 36 Squadrons under his Command. Money
