

then collected several men whose horses were killed, mounted them on others, and led them safely back through the enemy barrage.

2nd Lt. (temp. Lt.) Henry Murray, R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He rushed into a burning gun-pit and succeeded in rescuing a wounded man. He set a splendid example of courage and determination.

*Lt. Robert Ingram Musson, R.E.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He remained at duty all day under heavy fire supervising the ferrying of troops across the river. On more than one occasion he himself rowed a pontoon across.

2nd Lt. John Mutimer, R.G.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed the utmost courage and coolness in going into an ammunition recess which was on fire from hostile shelling. At great personal risk he saved a large number of cartridges which were beginning to burn.

2nd Lt. Lewis Archibald Nelson, Leic. R. and M.G. Corps.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He rendered valuable assistance to the infantry, making gaps in the wire and clearing the enemy trench, thus saving many casualties. Later, he reached his objective entirely unsupported, and remained in action for four hours.

2nd Lt. Evelyn Charles Yorke St. Vincent Nepean, R.F.A., Spec. Res.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He handled a difficult situation with great skill, and his coolness under fire set a splendid example to those around him.

Lt. (temp. Capt. and actg. Maj.) William Percy Ness-Walker, R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed great coolness and courage when moving his battery after the infantry advance. By his splendid example he exercised an excellent influence over those under his command at a very trying and critical time.

2nd Lt. Kenneth Bailey Nicholson, R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He made a gallant attempt to rescue several men who were buried in a dug-out. Later, he maintained communication under heavy fire. He was wounded.

2nd Lt. Charles Nixon, R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He reconnoitred an observation post, and kept his communication with his battery under heavy shelling. He has previously rendered valuable service in a similar manner.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Sigurd Oswald Norman, M.G. Corps.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He fought his Tank with the greatest skill and energy, locating and silencing several enemy machine guns, and later, unsupported, he passed through the enemy lines and dealt with many targets.

2nd Lt. John Clifford Foster Nowill, R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. The covering of a large ammunition dump was set on fire by hostile shelling. He single-handedly removed the burning mass and extinguished it. This gallant action was performed at great personal danger from the burning ammunition, which was exploding in large quantities.

2nd Lt. William John Nunn, R.G.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He assisted to put out fires amongst the ammunition while the battery was being heavily shelled. The extinction of the fires prevented considerable damage being done to material.

Capt. Capel D. O'Brien-Butler, R. Ir. Regt., Spec. Res.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. He led his men in the most gallant manner, and was largely responsible for the success of the raid.

Lt. Ernest Frederick Ogley, Ind. Army.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He assumed command of a party who were sent forward to cut wire and handled a difficult situation with marked ability. He set a fine example to his men.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Harry Bernard Oldfield, R.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed the greatest coolness and courage in conducting the fire of his battery. The position at that time was being heavily shelled, and it was owing to his fine example that the fire of the battery was accurately maintained.

Temp. Capt. Victor David O'Malley, R. Dub. Fus.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He moved up and down the line under the most intense hostile fire in order to encourage his men. Later, he assisted several wounded men back to safety.

Lt. (temp. Capt.) Denis Clifford O'Rorke, K.R.R.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He took command of another company in addition to his own, and handled a difficult situation with the greatest skill. He set a fine example to his men.

2nd Lt. James Houston Orr, Sco. Rif., Spec. Res.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led a patrol to within ten yards of