

The London Gazette.

published by Authority.

From Thursday September 27. to Sunday October 1. 1694

From the Imperial Camp near Peter-Waradin, September 13.

ON the 9th Instant, early in the morning, the whole Turkish Army advanced within half a German mile of our Intrenchments; and possessed themselves of all the Highs on this side the Danube; At 10 they pitched their Tents; Their Infantry encamped towards our Front, and their Cavalry and the Tartars towards our Left. About the same time their Fleet, consisting in 110 Vessels, (ten whereof are great ones) came within Cannon Shot of our Gallies and Barks, and ranged themselves in order of Battle; The rest of the day passed in Skirmishes between the Huslars Hungarians and Radziens, and the Turkish Parties and Tartars; and that night a Deserter came to our Camp, and informed us of the Enemies design upon our Bridge of Boats; upon which 300 Horse were commanded to secure it; and all our Baggage was sent over the Danube. On the 10th we expected to be attacked, and therefore put our selves in a readiness, but the Enemy continued quiet in their Camp, having made a Line to cover their Infantry; There happened some Skirmishes, as there had the day before. The 11th about break of day we saw 3 or 400 of the Enemies Standards drawn up behind a Line which they had cast up in the night, within 800 paces of us; and we played upon them both with Cannon and Small Shot. The same day some of the Enemies Troops landed on the other side of the Danube to attack our Baggage, but the alarm being given, they were beaten off and put to flight. About the same time a Deserter came over to us, and several of the French who had deserted the French Army in Germany, went over to the Turks. And this day we laid another Bridge over the Danube. The 12th by break of day the Turks began to play on our Camp with their Cannon from all sides, and their Vessels advanced as far as the Point of the Great Island, and Cannonaded our Bridge of Boats, and our Fleet; From which they were answered in like manner, as also from our Batteries on Land; The Enemy planted two Pieces of Cannon on the point of the Island towards our Left; several others of the French deserted, but two of them were shot by the Watch. This day a Moor came over to us who had formerly served General Piccolomini, and a Christian Slave taken in the Mores; Two of our Ammunition Wagons were set on fire by a shot from the Enemy, and about 30 Men were killed by this accident, and Count de Solms Herberstein, Lieutenant Colonel, was killed by a Cannon Shot. The 13th by break of day, the Cannon began to play again on both sides more violently than before; The Turks have planted 4 Pieces of Cannon on the Point of the Island, which we endeavour all we can to dismount from a Battery we have raised on the Waterside. The Turks play upon us with above 500 Pieces of Cannon as well by Land as by Water, though hitherto without any great damage. The Enemies chief design seems to be to destroy our Bridges, that they may the better make their Inursions on the other side of the Danube; and therefore Orders are sent to our Troops on that side, to guard the Passes, and to the Governor of Segedin, to be ready to join them. We hourly expect the Auxiliary Troops of Brandenburg, with 4 Regiments commanded by Major General Pultani, and with this Reinforcement we hope to give the Turks some difficulty to retreat.

Liege, Sept. 28. The Duke of Holstein-Plön arrived the 16th in the Camp before Huy; The 17th the place was formally invested; The Count de Guiscard, Governor of Namur, (who came thither on the 9th to view the several Posts, and to put things into a posture for a long defence) returning towards Namur with a Convoy of Dragoons some hours before, having left the Command of the Place in the Hands of Monsieur de Reignac, who had with him the Regiments of Poisou, and Augustois, and a Company of Dragoons. The same day the Town of Huy was surrendered upon Articles; The Garrison retiring into the Castle and the Forts; and two of our Battalions entering into the Town. At night we began to work on our Batteries, the Enemy all the while making a great fire with their Cannon and Mortars, though with little effect; They made a Sally the same day, but were quickly beaten back with loss. The 21th the Trenches were opened; and our Batteries being finished, they began to play the 22th in the morning, and the same was continued with such success, that they beat down the Enemies Batteries; and dismounted their Cannon. The 23d at night the Trenches were advanced to the Foot of the Counterescarp of Fort Picard, and two other Batteries were finished, on which, and those before-mentioned, were planted 60 Pieces of Cannon, and 20 Mortars. The 24th it was resolved to Storm Fort Picard, and the Red Fort; and accordingly the Brandenburgers who were upon the Guard that day, prepared every thing for the assault, which they began between 3 and 4 in the Afternoon, and by 5 they were Masters of the said Forts, those that defended them being put to the Sword, except some few that were made Prisoners, together with Monsieur de Condron who commanded in the Red Fort: The Brandenburgers lost in this occasion about 20 Men, with a Major of the Guards. After this our Troops made their approaches towards the Castle, and carried on the attack with such vigor, that the Governor and Garrison fearing a Storm, Capitulated yesterday in the Afternoon, and the Place was to be surrendered this morning.

Brussels, Sept. 29. The Elector of Bavaria has given the Government of Audenarde, vacant by the death of the Count de Liberchies, to the Count de Thian, who commands at present our Flying Camp near Wacquen. The Elector of Cologne is gone to see the Cities of Bruges, Ostend, and Newport; and will return in a short time to Liege. Besides Deynse, Dixmuyde, Ninove, and Grammont, 'tis said the Allies intend to fortifie Hall and Engbrien, and several small Castles, by which means our Frontiers will be much more advanced into the Enemies Country than they were the last Winter. 'Tis said also, that they have resolved to fortifie several Posts on the Frontiers of Liege, to cover that Country against the Enemies Inursions.

Hague, October 1. The States-General received yesterday by Express from the Duke of Holstein-Plön, an Account of the Surrender of the Castle of Huy; The Garrison beat a Parley the 27th about Two in the Afternoon; upon which Hostages were Exchanged, and the following Capitulation was made and signed the same day.

ARTICLES demanded by Monsieur de Reignac commanding in Huy; with those that were granted thereupon by the Duke of Holstein-Plön, who commanded the Forces of the Allies.

I. That the Garrison shall march out with Arms and Baggage, Drums beating, Colours flying, March lighted at both ends, and pass through the Breach.

Granted.