Madrid, Sept. 30.

WE had an account several days ago of Admiral Ruffel's departure with the Fleet under his Command from Malaga, taking his Course up the Straights; and we have since Advice, That he came to an Anchor on the 20th instant before Alicant.

Leghorne, Oct. 4. By a Bark in 6 days from Toulon we have Advice, That the French Men of War were getting into the Road, and 'twas said they would sail in few days towards the Coasts of Catalonia.

Turin, Oct. 8. The Duke of Savoy who came hither the last Week, returned on the 2d instant to the Army, which marched that day from Settimo Eronese to Chivas, where the Troops have since begun to separate in order to go into their Winter Quarters; and the Spaniards are marching back towards Milan. His Royal Highness has sent a Detachment of several thousand men under the Command of the Marquis de Parella, to reinforce the Vaudois, upon Advice, that the Marechal de Casinat had detached some Troops to attack them. In the mean time we hear, that the Vaudois have possessed themselves of all the Passes by which the French can enter into the Vallies, and that they have within these few days decated a Body of 1200 of the Enemy, who endeavoured to enter into the Valley of St. Martin, of whom they killed a considerable number, and took divers Prisoners.

Venice, October 9. We have Advice, That the Basha of Bosnia and Albania had drawn together a Body of men, and were marched towards the River Neretva, with a design as 'twas believed to make a second attempt upon Ciclut; And this Senate has thereupon resolved to send a Reinforcement of 1200 men to Dalmatia. We have no fresh News from our Fleet.

From the Imperial Camp near Peter Waradin, Sept. 30. On the 26th it continued to Rain very hard the whole day, with a violent Storm of Wind, and there passed nothing remarkable except the firing of some Cannon from the Batteries on both sides. We understood that the Troops which were detached the 25th to recover the Island of Ozerovitz, had not been able to put their Orders in execution by reason of the ill weather. In the afternoon the Enemy passed the Danube at Carlowitz in several small Boats, and attacked our Guard near Kabola, consisting of 40 Hussars, of whom they killed 3, the rest escaping to our Camp; upon which 500 Radziens were ordered thither to regain that Post, with a Detachment of Hungarians to support them; The same day a Defenter came over from the Enemies Fleet, who confirmed the account we had before, that most of their Gallies and Frigates were ruined by our Batteries; and that the men on board them were in a very ill condition, and many of them sick. There came likewise over to us an Arnaute from the Turkish Camp, who reported, that the great Rains that had fallen made the Enemies Troops very uneasie, the Soldiers being in many places up to the Knees in Water, and that there was much sickness among them. The 27th we understood that the Radziens, which were sent towards Kabola had not been able to effect any thing, for before they could arrive there, a greater number of the Enemies Troops had passed the Danube, and had posted themselves near that place, being in all about 5000 men, most of them Tartars. We heard likewise that the Enemy had taken divers of our Foragers on that side the River, as also several Wagons with Provisions that were coming to our Camp from Scutack, and that in all we had lost 450 men, with about 1000 Horses, Mules and Oxen; This News occasioned some Allarm in our Camp, and 6 Regiments were immediately detached under the Command of Maj. Gen. Corbelly towards Kabola; two Regiments whereof advancing with Major Gen. Basumpiere, they had a skirmish with the Enemy, of whom they killed 150, and took several hundred Horses; and towards night these Troops returned to our Camp. The Marquis Doria, Captain of Horse in the Regiment of Caprara, coming with his Nephew from the Troops commanded by Gen. Verciani, to serve as Volunteers in the Army here, they had both the misfortune to be taken Prisoners by the Tartars. The Radziens brought in the same day about 20 Turkish Prisoners. The Rain continued all this day and night, and another Defenter came over to us, who reported, that the Enemy waited only for fair weather to attack us. The 28th the Rain ceased during greatest part of the day, and Major General Basumpiere was detached again with two Regiments of Hungarian Hussars towards Kabola, to defend the Passes on that side: A Reinforcement of 400 Horse was sent to General Polland, who had the care of securing the Provisions that came to the Army; and it was ordered that 1600 Dragoons, and the same number of Horse, should continue in the Camp in order to support the Foot upon occasion, and that these should be relieved every 24 hours. The 29th it rained again very hard, so that there passed nothing of moment; and this day we are informed, that the Enemy suffer so very much by the weather, that they talk of decamping, and that they have already begun to remove their Artillery.

From the Imperial Camp near Peter Waradin, Octob. 4. The Turks having withdrawn the Cannon from their Batteries, decamped the first instant in the night without any noise, and marched the next day 5 or 6 Leagues towards Semlyn, as we were informed by divers Defenters, who added, that the ill condition of their Troops, and the difference that arose between the Visier, and the Cham of Tartary, had obliged them to make this Retreat: Some Detachments of Radziens were sent out to observe them, and to attack their Rear if an opportunity offered, which was all we could do, seeing most of the Imperial Cavalry was posted on the other side of the Danube. So soon as the Enemy had quitted their Camp we fell to work to demolish their Lines and Batteries; and on the 3d we began to remove our Artillery from the Batteries, and put the heavy pieces into the Magazine at Peter Waradin. The Imperial Cavalry are marched towards Cobila, about 5 Leagues from hence, where there is still plenty of Forage; and the Infantry will pass the Danube to morrow, and march towards Futack, and from thence towards Illocke; except 8 Regiments of Horse, and 4 or 5 of Foot, who are designed towards Segedin, with orders as 'twas thought to attack Gyula. The Radziens have taken 20 Turkish Vessels laden with Provisions, as also a Frigate that carried 7 Guns, having killed above 100 of the Enemy who were on board them, thrown divers others into the River, and taken 60 Prisoners. 'Tis reported that the Son of the Cham of Tartary was killed some days ago in the Rencontre near Kibola, and that the Tartars, who had passed the Danube under his Command, to the number of 7 or 8000 men, instead of returning to the Turkish Camp, had resolved to march home, and that in passing the River Theyssie, (which they were obliged to swim) a great number of them were drowned, and that they left most of their Booty of Horses and Cattle behind them.

Vienna, Oct. 6. The Count d'Ulfeld, who parted from the Imperial Camp near Peter Waradin on the 2d instant, and arrived here the 5th, brought an account, that the Grand Visier decamped the Night before he came away, and retired towards Belgrade with a great deal of Confusion, having left several pieces of Cannon, Tents, and part of his Baggage behind him. This unexpected retreat of the Enemies is said to have been occasioned by a Mutiny among the Janisaries and Tartars, who would no longer bear the great hardships they suffered, by the badness of the weather, without any likelihood of gaining any advantage upon the Imperialists: We hear likewise that several thousand Tartars were drowned in passing the River Theyssie; and that the Imperialists had taken 20 Turkish Vessels laden with Provisions. This News occasions a great deal of Joy here.

Vienna, Oct. 9. 'Tis confirmed by all the Advices from Hungary, that the Grand Visier is retired towards Belgrade; That the Enemy left a great deal of Baggage, and many sick Men behind hind them; That the Son of the Cham of Tartary was killed in the skirmish near Kobola; and that several thousand Tartars were drowned in passing the River Theyfle. The Imperial Army had pass'd the Danube at Peter Waradin, and march'd towards Futack. Several Deferters that came over to us reported, that before the Enemy retir'd there was a great difference between the Cham of Tartary, the Aga of the Janisaries, and the Grand Visier; and that the Cham had reproach'd the Visier for not having done any thing with so considerable an Army as he had under his Command.

Francfort, October 17. The Confederate Army which has been encamp'd several days at Mounck-nsturm, began to separate this day, and march towards their Winter quarters, upon the News that the French have done the like, and that the Marechal de Lorge, with several other French General Officers, was going to Strasbourg to regulate the Winter quarters for their Troops; Some of their Forces are march'd toward Simmeren, under the Command of the Marechal de Joyeuse, who are to Winter on that side.

Cologne, Oct. 19. The States of this Diocess are still assembled at Bon, to raise Subsidies for the Service of the next year. The Letters from the Upper Rhine tell us, That the Armies on both sides were going into their Winter Quarters.

Paris, Octob. 18. The French Fleet did not sail from Toulon on the 6th as was reported, for the Letters from thence of the 10th, tell us, they were still there, but that the Marechal de Tourville would sail the next day, having sent before seven or eight Men of War, with some Fire-Ships towards the Coast of Catalonia. Here has been a report that the French would besiege Barcelona, and 'twas said that several Battalions were ship'd at Toulon for this Service; but the news of Admiral Russel's being to winter in the Straights, seems to have broke this Design, and they appear at this Court under some Perplexity what Measures to take. The French Ministers are at present taken up to find out Funds for the next Year. They cannot meet with Buyers for the Multitude of new Offices they have created; and the Ordinary Revenues lessen every day by the decay of Commerce. They talk of laying a Tax upon every Town, and upon the Clergy. Tho' the Harvest has been pretty plentiful this last year, yet Corn bears a great price still, and 'tis feared there is not enough to supply the Kingdom for the next year; for which reason several Regulations are made to prevent as far as may be, the Inconveniencies we suffer'd the last. There has been a great Mortality of late in most parts of this Kingdom, and its said that above 80000 Persons have Died in this City and Suburbs since January last. The Marquis de Genlis is arriv'd here from Catalonia, and (as we are inform'd) brings an account, That our Troops on that side are very much weakened, and not in a Condition to undertake any thing further this year.

Liege, Oct. 19. The Troops of the Allies command'd by General Dewitz, continue still in the Country of Luxemburg, raising Contributions. The Forces which are to remain in Garison here this Winter began to march in 2 days ago, and are to consist of 22 Battalions, with several Regiments of Horse. They are hard at Work to repair the Fortifications of Huy.

Brussels, Octob. 20. The Elector of Cologne went from hence this day, in order to make his publick Entrance into Liege, and take possession of that Bishopricks. The Count de Thian lies with the 7000s under his Command near Durbuy, to cover the Workmen that are employ'd on the Fortifications of that Place. The Armies in Flanders are separated.

Hague, Oct. 22. N. S. The Lord Marquis of Carmarthen, with the Yachts and Men of War under his Command, is arriv'd before the Maese to attend the King in his return for England. His Majesty is expected here to-morrow night from Low, and will Embark with the first fair Wind. Our Army in Flanders is separated, and the Duke of Holstein Plöden came hither this day. The Council of State are now under Consideration the State of the War for the next year. Great preparations are making here for the Reception of the Electors of Bavaria. The Letters from Vienna say, that the Turks had repass'd the Save, and that the Tartars were separated from them; There having pass'd very high words between the Cham and the Visier.

Plymouth, October 14. Their Majesty's Ship the New Africa, Captain Knapp Commander, of 46 Guns, who sail'd lately from hence, as Convoey to several Ships to New-England, met about 45 Leagues from the Lizard, with 3 French Privateers of 36, 30, and 14 Guns each, and engaged them for 2 Hours, when the Privateers left them. Captain Knapp with the Soldiers under his Command on Board the Ship, was very serviceable during the fight, very much annoying the Enemy (with small shot. So that all the Merchant Ships were secured, and proceeded on their Voyage, except a small Brigantine, who separating from the rest, was taken. The Master afterwards ransom'd the Vessel, and is come in here, who gives this account, and that the French had left 28 Men on Board one of the said Ships. A Flushing Privateer has brought in a French Prize, bound from Nantes to Lisbon.

Francis Parry and George Clarke Esquires, Abell Slaney, and Daniel Barton Gent. the sole making and Coining of Copper Farthings and Half Pence, and having by their said Letters Patentes enjoy'd the Patentes to change 200 l. by the week Weekly of such of the Tyn Farthings and Half Pence as are not counterfeit. They are to give notice, That the Patentes intend to begin to change on the 6th day of November next, at their Office in Angel Court, over against St. Sepulchres Church, London.

Whereas divers Persons have lately presumed to Enrich and Exercise several Lotteries, Games, and new Inventions resembling them, contrary to the express Prohibition of Their Majesties Letters Patentes Granted to the present Farmers of the Lotteries, who pay a considerable Rent for the same, to the great Detriment of the said Farmers, and are likewise the chief occasion of the common prejudice generally conceived against the Lotteries; This is to give Notice, and so desire all Civil Magistrates, and others, whom it may concern, that in pursuance of the said Letters Patentes they forthwith effectually suppress, and Punish according to Law, all such as shall so presume to erect, use, or exercise any such Lotteries or Inventions, without the License of the said Farmers first duly had and obtained.

Whereas the Trustees for Mr. Neale's Fortunate Adventure have not yet had leisure to adjust the Accounts with the Goldsmiths and their several Acountants for paying the Benefit Tickets; This is therefore to give notice, that the Matter will be settled by Thursday the 25th instant at furthest, and that after that day the Benefit Tickets will be paid on Demand by the Goldsmiths they paid the Money into; And all Tickets taken in the Country, if Mr. Neale, will be paid by Mr. Fowles Goldsmith, in Fleetstreet.
