Falmouth, Octob. 14.

He fealon has been of late very tempefluous, in fo much that no Ships have been able to put in, or go out of this Harbour ; but we hear not of any - confiderable loss upon the Coafts, except one Veifel of Plymouth laden from Wales with Coals which the laft week was caft away.

Tarmouth, Oftob. 16. This day two fhips, one of this place, the other belonging to Hull, intending hence for Retterdam, were put back again by contrary winds. The Fifthing trade of this place is carried on with much diligence and fuccefs, great quantities of Herrings being daily brought in hither.

Zante, Sept. 4. Three days fince arrived here a fquadron of nine Spanith Gallies from Naples, but brought not with them any confiderable trelief either of Men or Moneys for the affiftance of Candia; after they had ftaid here abour, 24 hours, they put again to fea and returned back, affirming that the feafon of the year was now fo far advanced, that the Gallies could not without imminent danger be kept any longer out at fea.

Yesterday arrived here a Feluca from Candia, informing us that the Turks having made a large breach in the Fort St. Andre, they came on briskly to allault its but were beaten off with the loss of about 2000 men, the befieged not wanting above 50 men; but that the Turks are making great preparations in their Camp, fo that 'tis daily expected that they will make a general affault upon the Town with their whole force.

Yesterday came in here a Tartan from Marfeillès informing us, that at his departure from the coafts of France, leveral ships were freighted, and had taken in Soldiers for the affistance of Candia, whole appearance upon those less is daily expected, and will be received with much joy by the belieged.

Milan, Sept. 27. The last week the Count Tomaso Ferrero arrived here to complement our Governour the Marquis de Mortara in the name of the Duke of Savoy his Master upon his admittance and entry into his Government; the like Complements having been also made him by the Envoy from the Cantons of Swizzerland.

The 25th, the Marquis with his Lady, and a great Train of perfons of Quality, went to vifit the Cittadel, commanded by Don Balthager Mercader, who treated them with much liberality, and fivore fideliny to the Governour according to the usual eufom and form.

The Governout has lately difpatcht away a Courrier to the Court of Spain, to give an account of the State of affairs of his Government, and to know the intention of their Majefties and Councel of Spain, in order to the difpolal of the Forces, amongft whom he defigned a greater Reformation, and is in the mean time confidering of convesient wayes for procuring Moneys for the defraying the neceflary expences of the State, effecially for the payment of the German Regiments, that they may be the better kept in Difcipline and Order till the return of the faid Courrier. The Treafury of this place being Iow and exhaulted, 'tis believed Order will be flortly given to the Viceroy of Naples to (upply this Government with fuch fimmers of Money as fital be thought convenient for its pretent fupply.

Turin, Oct. 4. Seigneur Morefini, late Ambassador in this Court from the Republick of Venice, having been received by the Duke and Dutchels to his fatisfaction, departed hence the 29th pass, intending for the Court of France, where he is to appear under the fame Chatafter. The 30th paft, the Sieur Ranuzzi, Archbilhop of Damiatas and now Nuncio from his Holinefs, made his publick Entry with much State and magnificence, conducted in the Dukes Coach by the Marquifs de St Germain, Mafter of the Horfe to the Duke, and the Mafter of the Ceremonics, and attended by a numerous train of other Coaches of foreign Minifters, and the Nobility and principal perfons about the Town 3 and the fame day was also attended by the faid Marquis and Mafter of the Ceremonies to his Audience from the Duke, and afterwards from the Dutchefs, with the Ceremonies usually practified on the like occafions.

Venice, Octob. 13. Letters of the 9th paft from Candia inform us, that the Enemy having loft many men in feveral affaults given to the City of Candia, it was expected they would have taken fome time so refresh themselves, which the Defendants intended to have emploied in the repair of their breaches, and preparations for their defence against their farther attempts, but in this their expectation failed them, the Turks returning again to affault the Fot Sabi-onera with more fiercenels then before, which they repeated the 3, 4, 3 and 6th of the last moneth, being encourageed thereto by a large breach which they had made on that fide, of 20 Venetian paces in breadth; in these attempts the Turks fought with more then ordinary obstinacy, and although great numbers of them fell, yet they endeavoured to march over their dead, and to advance their Standard upon the breach, but by the infinite courage of our menathey were fo ftrongly oppoled, that their Standard was immediately broken in pieces, and themfelves driven off with extraordinary flughter 3 in this fervice the tvalour of a Gallyflave was very remarkable, who with his own hand was obferved in one day to have killed 42 of the Enemy, whom the Cap ain-General afterwards encouraged by a publick reward, and making him prefently Se Jeant to a Company.

Nor was the Enemy less active on the other fide, against the Fort St. Andre, which was should defended by General Cattarin Cornar. The 5th instant the Turks made three alfaults upon the Fort with such fury that the Town feemed f equently in danger to be loss, but where in the end forced to give off with incredible loss of men, but the number of them hard to be guessed at s in these Aflaults the Defendants loss about 300 men, and some considerable Officers.

Since these attempts of the Enemy, they have made their approaches more towards the Sea-fide, with intentions to batter the Arsenal, and to prevent the entance of all fuccours, and are continually playing upon the Town with To great Mortar-pieces. In the mean time the Garrion wants not courage to oppose them to the uttermost, nor is the Captain General wanting by his Letters to follicite for a speedy supply of Men and Ammunition which will be but necessary for the defence of that important place.

Hambourg, Oftob. 16. The Queen of Sweden having this week received a return of fome confiderable fums of money from Swedeland, is preparing for her journey into Italy, where the defigns to make a long ftay; in Order whereunto, the has already fent away a part of her baggage, and one of her principal Officers to prepare her Lodgings at Rome in the Pallace appointed for her reception.

The Swedes forces which were quartered in the Dutchy of Bremen, are paffed the Elve, the i 3th inftant, in 200 Boats, lead by the Galliot belonging to Constable. Wrangle, atter whom followed feveral other veffels I aden with their baggage. Their Officers have bought 40 0 pair of shoces in this Town to supply the necessary of their Foot. They have
