

may be prescribed by any general or special instructions of the Secretary of State.

(4) The Secretary of State or an immigration officer, in accordance with general or special directions of the Secretary of State, may attach such conditions as he may think fit to the grant of permission to an alien to land, and the alien shall comply with the conditions so attached.

An alien who fails to comply with any conditions so attached shall for the purposes of this Order be deemed to be an alien to whom leave to land has been refused.

(5) For the purposes of this Part of this Order the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands shall not be deemed to be outside the United Kingdom.

2.—(1) An alien (not being a seaman) coming from outside the United Kingdom shall not land in the United Kingdom elsewhere than at an approved port:

Provided that at a port other than an approved port (a) an alien seaman may land with the leave of an immigration officer, and (b) any other alien may in special circumstances be permitted to land by the Secretary of State.

(2) For the purposes of this Order the ports specified in the Second Schedule to this Order shall within the limits defined therein be approved ports.

(3) The Secretary of State may by order add any port to the list of approved ports, or remove any port from that list, and prescribe or alter the limits of any approved port, and this Order shall thereupon have effect accordingly.

3.—(1) An immigration officer or a medical inspector may inspect any alien seeking to land in the United Kingdom, and any such inspection shall be made as soon as practicable after his arrival.

(2) For the purpose of any such inspection an alien may land, subject to such conditions as may be imposed either by an immigration officer or by the Secretary of State, and any alien on whom any such condition is imposed shall not, for the purposes of this Order, be deemed to have landed so long as the conditions are complied with. An alien conditionally landed may be detained in such manner as the Secretary of State may direct, and whilst so detained shall be deemed to be in legal custody. The Secretary of State may prescribe for security to be given by the owners, agents, or master of the ship in the case of aliens conditionally landed.

(3) An alien landing in contravention of this Order and an alien arriving at any port other than an approved port may, until dealt with under this Order, be detained in such manner as the Secretary of State may direct, and whilst so detained shall be deemed to be in legal custody.

(4) Where leave to land is refused to an alien, the alien may, with the leave of an immigration officer, be placed temporarily on shore and detained at some place approved by the Secretary of State, and whilst so detained shall be deemed to be in legal custody and not to have landed.

(5) Any alien to whom leave to land has been refused (including a seaman engaged at a port outside the United Kingdom and seeking to land for discharge) shall be removed from the United Kingdom by the master of the ship in which he arrived, or, if directions for this purpose are given by the Secretary of State or an immigration officer, by the owner or agents of that ship, to the country of which he is a national or from which he embarked for the United Kingdom, or where (if a seaman) he was engaged.

(6) Without prejudice to any other provision of this article where leave has been refused to any alien to land by an immigration officer, and the alien is found on shore in the United Kingdom, it shall be lawful for the immigration officer or any constable, notwithstanding any intervening prosecution and imprisonment of the alien, at any time within one month after the arrival of the alien to replace that alien on board the ship in which he arrived in the United Kingdom, or on board any ship belonging to the same owners and bound for the port from which the alien came to the United Kingdom.

(7) The master of any ship arriving at a port in the United Kingdom may detain on board any alien until inspected or landed for inspection under this article, and shall on the request of an immigration officer so detain any alien arriving in that ship, whether seaman or passenger, to whom leave to land has been refused by an immigration officer, and any alien so detained shall be deemed to be in legal custody.

(8) Any alien landing or embarking at any place in the United Kingdom shall, on being required so to do by an immigration officer or constable acting under general or special directions of the Secretary of State, make a declaration as to whether or not he is carrying or conveying any letters, written messages or memoranda, or any written or printed matter, including plans, photographs and other pictorial representations, and if so required shall produce to the officer any such letters, messages, memoranda or written or printed matter, and the officer may search any such alien and any baggage belonging to him or under his control with a view to ascertaining whether the alien is carrying or conveying any such letters, messages, memoranda or written or printed matter, and may examine and detain, for such time as he may think proper for the purpose of such examination, any letters, messages, memoranda or written or printed matter produced to him or found on such search.

4. Nothing in this Part of this Order shall prevent the landing in the United Kingdom of any alien who satisfies an immigration officer either—

(i) that he holds a prepaid ticket to some destination out of the United Kingdom and that the master or owner of the ship in which he arrived in or by which he is to leave the United Kingdom has given security to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State that, except for the purposes of transit or in other circumstances approved by the Secretary of State, the alien will not remain in, or having been rejected by another country will not re-enter, the United Kingdom, and will be properly maintained and controlled during transit; or

(ii) that having taken his ticket in the United Kingdom and embarked direct therefrom for some other country after a period of residence in the United Kingdom of not less than six months, he has been refused admission to that country and has returned direct therefrom to a port in the United Kingdom.
