WHEREAS by treaty, capitulation, grant, usage, sufferance, or other lawful means, His Majesty The King has jurisdiction in Egypt:

And whereas provision is now made by the Ottoman Order in Council, 1910 (S.R. & O., 1910, No. 1184) (in this Order referred to as "the Principal Order"), and the Egypt Order in Council, 1915 (in this Order referred to as "the Egypt Order") (S.R. & O., 1915, No. 141), for the exercise of such jurisdiction, and it is desirable to amend the said Orders:

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in this behalf by the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict., c. 37), or otherwise in His Majesty vested, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

1. This Order may be cited as "The Egypt (Amendment) Order in Council, 1922," and shall be read as one with the principal order and with the Egypt Order and with any order amending the latter.

2. The following provision is substituted in Egypt for article 81 (1) of the principal order:

Where it is proved that there is reasonable ground to apprehend (a) that a British subject is about to commit a breach of the public peace, or that the acts or conduct of a British subject are or is likely to produce or excite to a breach of the public peace, or (b) that a British subject has been guilty of conduct which, or has done or committed such acts as if done or committed in the United Kingdom, would in the United Kingdom constitute an offence under the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1920 (10 & 11 Geo. V., c. 46), or under the Vagrancy Acts, or under the Criminal Law Amendment Acts, 1885 (48 & 49 Vict., c. 69) and
