PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by subsection (1) of section 11 of the Moneylenders Act, 1927, it is provided that no action by a moneylender for the recovery of money lent by him or for enforcing any agreement or security relating to any such money shall be brought in any inferior court other than a county Court, so, however, that His Majesty may by Order in Council direct that any inferior court specified in the Order shall have the same jurisdiction as respects such actions as aforesaid as it would have had but for the provisions of that subsection, and that any such Order may contain such provisions as appear to His Majesty expedient with respect to the making of rules of court for regulating the procedure to be followed in the case of any such action:

And whereas it is expedient that the Courts specified in the Schedule to this Order (being inferior Courts other than a county court) should have the jurisdiction aforesaid subject to provisional rules made by the Lord Chancellor regulating the procedure to be followed in the case of any such action in those Courts:

And whereas in pursuance of subsection (2) of the said section a draft of this Order has been laid before each House of Parliament for a period of not less than twenty-one days during the session of Parliament:

Now, therefore, His Majesty is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows:—

1. Subject to the provisions of this Order and of any rules made thereunder, every Court specified in the Schedule to this Order shall, as respects actions by a moneylender for the recovery of money lent by him or for enforcing any agreement or security relating to any such money, have the same jurisdiction as it would have had but for the provisions of subsection (1) of section 11 of the Moneylenders Act, 1911.

2.—(1) The Lord Chancellor may make provisional rules regulating the procedure to be followed in any Court specified in the said Schedule in the case of any such action as aforesaid.

(2) Any such rules may be varied or revoked by any subsequent rules made by the authority having power to make rules regulating the procedure of the court to which they relate, but, subject to any variation or revocation by subsequent rules made by that authority or by the Lord Chancellor under this Order, they shall continue in force as from the date on which they are expressed to come into operation.

3. The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply for the purposes of this Order in like manner as if it were an Act of Parliament.

4. This Order may be cited as the Moneylenders (Local Courts) Order, 1927, and shall come into operation on the 1st day of January, 1928.
