WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACTS, 1925 TO 1930.

The Secretary of State for the Home Department announces that in response to an application from the Scottish Master Plasterers' Association, he proposes to make a Special Scheme under Section 47 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925, as extended by the Workmen's Compensation (Silicosis and Asbestosis) Act, 1930, providing for compensation in respect of the disease known as Silicosis for workmen employed in the Scottish Plastering Industry. This Scheme would supersede the Various Industries (Silicosis) Scheme, 1931, so far as it applies to the Scottish Plastering Industry, and would provide for payment of the compensation out of a Special Trade Compensation Fund and generally would follow the lines of Compensation Schemes for the Refractories and Sandstone Industries. For the purposes of the Scheme, the Scottish Plastering Industry is defined to mean all the processes involving exposure to silica dust carried on in Scotland in or incidental to the preparation for and application of (a) lime or patent plaster or cement plaster finishes, (b) cement pre-cast products, (c) concrete construction, (d) granolithic or other trowel finished paving surfaces.

The draft Scheme has been issued for the consideration of employers or others affected and any observations in regard to it should
