And to 37 Private Acts.

After which, His Majesty made a Most Gracious Speech to both Houses, which follows.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

AT the Opening this Parliament I told you, My Opinion was, That you were come together with Hearts fully disposed to do what was Necessary for the Safety, Honour and Happiness of the Kingdom: And having nothing else to Recommend to you, I had Reason to hope for Unanimity and Dispatch.

You have now Set so many Months, that the Season of the Year, as well as your particular Affairs, make it Reasonable you should have a Recess; I take it for granted you have Finish'd all the Bills which for the present you think Requisite to be Pass'd into Laws, and I have given My Assent to all you have Presented to Me.

If any thing shall be found Wanting for Our Safety, the Support of Publick Credit by making good the Faith of the Kingdom as it stands Engaged by Parliamentary Securities, and for Discharge of the Debts occasioned by the War, or towards the Advancing of Trade, the Suppressing of Vice, and the Employing of the Poor, which were as the Things I proposed to your Consideration when We met first, I cannot doubt but Effectual Care will be taken of them next Winter; And I wish no Inconvenience may happen in the mean time.

Then the Lord Chancellor, by His Majesty's Command, Prorogued the Parliament until Thursday the First Day of June next.

Venice, April 25. N. S. The Senate at their last Meeting had under Consideration the State of their Forces in the Levant, and resolv'd, That it's necessary to keep up a strong Body of Troops in the Morea, and therefore they do not intend to disband any considerable Number, but only to break some of the Regiments that are weakest, and to incorporate them into others. Signior Sfondra, who is appointed by the Senate to assist Signior Grimani at the Conferences for settling the Limits with the Turks, will depart hence this week for Dalmatia; and as soon as this Matter of the Limits is regulated, the Places to be restored by the Treaty between the Republick and the Port, will be evacuated on both sides. The Bishop of Aosta, who lately arrived here from Turin, being sent by the Duke of Savoy with the Character of his Envoy Extraordinary to the Pope, will continue his Journey to Rome in a day or two.

Lemberg, April 10. The Turks having given notice, That they are ready to evacuate Carniole, and the other Places they are to restore to this Crown in pursuance of the late Treaty of Peace, the Crown-General, and the Palatines of Kiowia and Podolia, appointed by the King to be his Commissioners for this purpose, are daily expected on this Frontier, in order to take Possession of the said Places; And in the mean time, Orders are sent to the Garrisons of the several Forts and Castles in Moldavia, which according to the Treaty are to be delivered to the Turks, that they put themselves in a readines to march from thence. The Grand Signior has sent Orders to the Tartars, not to molest the King of Poland's Subjects for the future; and they have so far complied therewith, that their Parties have not made any IncurSIONS into the Territories of Poland since their great Inroad soon after the Conclusion of the Peace, and of which Complaint being made at the Port, the Grand Signior writ to the Cham of Tartary, to let him know that these Hostilities are contrary to the Peace, and to Require him to send home with-
