Warsaw, June 11. The King of Poland has caused Circular Letters to be writ to the several Palatinates, to refer to their Consideration in the Provincial Diets what may be fit to be done in the present Juncture of Affairs, and particularly in relation to the War with Sweden, as also to desire they will take care to pay the Arrears due to the Forces of the Crown, that so these Matters may be the better prepared for the Meeting of the General Diet, which the King declares he will Summon against Winter. The King having desired of the Crown General and the Great General of Lithuania, that while his own Forces are employed against the Swedes in Livonia, the Army under their Command may be posted near our Frontiers in order to act defensively, in case the Swedes should make an Inroad into the Territories of Poland; the Crown answered, that he could not do this with out Directions from the Reich; But the General of Lithuania has to day complied with the King's Desire, as to send him some of the Forces of that Duchy, upon condition, That the King take them into his own Pay.

In the mean time the Negotiations are continued, for restoring the Tranquility of these Parts, but nothing is yet concluded.
