Vienna, May 10. The Prince of Darmstad has lately raised a Regiment of Cuitalliers in Bibemia for the Emperor's Service, which is ordered to the Upper Rhine; as are also several Regiments of Horse and Foot that have had their Winter Quarters in the Emperor's Hereditary Dominions. According to our last Accounts from Italy, the French Army under the Command of the Duke de Vendojne was actually marching towards the Oglio, in order to pais that River, and to relieve Mantua, where the Garison suffers very much for want of Province fions, and the Horse for want of Forage. Prince Eugene had thereupon reinforced the Blockade of that Place, and had drawn his Troops together near the Oglio; and we expect our next Advices will bring an Account of some Astion between them.
