

Cologne, August 25. The French, since the taking of Kempen by the Baron de Heyden, have quitted the Town of Alpen, and several other small Places they had possession of on that side, only in the Castle of Lyne they have left a Garrison of about 60 Men, who they hope will be covered by a Body of 10 or 12000 French, which lies between Erkelens and Keyserwaert; but a Body of 15000 Men of the Forces of the Allies being advanced as far as between Herd and Buelring, it is supposed that of the Enemy will soon retire.

Hambourg, August 25. Letters from Poland give an Account, That the Poles have invested the Castle of Pinschoff, where the King of Sweden has left all the Artillery and Bagage which he had taken from the King of Poland's Army in the late Engagement near that Place, which they hope to make themselves Masters of, before any Succours can come thither, there being only a small Swedish Garrison in the Place. We have no further Account of the March of the King of Poland. The King Sweden's Army lies encamped within 3 Miles of Cracow. The Swedish Forces lately come from Pomeran, under the Command of Count Guldensfort, remain still on the Borders of Silesia. Advices from Livonia say, That the Garrison of Dorpe defends it self very well, and that the Muscovites have twice endeavoured to take it by Storm, but have both times been repulsed with considerable loss.

From the Camp of the Allies at Helecten, August 27. The 24th Instant, the Confederate and the French Armies continuing in sight of each other, his Excellency the Earl of Marlborough and the other Generals resolved to attack the Enemy the next day, and the necessary Dispositions were making accordingly, when we had Intelligence that the Enemy had silently decamped in the night and marched towards Moil and Baken, whereupon, as soon as it was day, his Excellency followed them with 20 Squadrons of the Right wing, as the Earl of Arhlon was commanded the Left Wing did on his side, leaving orders for the rest of the Army to be in a readiness to follow; but the Enemy passed the Denle with so much haste that (there being besides a Morass between us and them) we could not reach them, nor pursue them as far as we desired. However we fell upon some Squadrons of the Kings Household that were in the Rear, of whom we killed at least 50 and took more Prisoners several of them Officers, besides the wounded that got off, of whom, as we are informed, several were Persons of Quality. We are also assured, that while the two Armies were near each other, our Cannon did the Enemy a great deal of damage, killing a great many of their Men, and among them several Officers of Note. The Detachment for the Siege of Venlo, under the Command of Monsieur d'Obdam, marched from hence this morning, and will invest that Place on this side of the Maese tomorrow, as General Heyden will do on the other side with the Forces under his Command.

Paris, August 26. The Duke of Villeroi arrived here the 23d Instant from the French Army in Italy, from whence he parted the 17th; He brings an Account, That the 15th in the morning, the King of Spain with the Army passed over the Rivers Pannagiana and Tagliata, and near Luzzara was engaged with the Imperial Army commanded by Prince Eugene, who having passed the River Zero, had formed his Army along the Po. The Action began about 5 in the evening, and lasted till night, when the Enemy remained Masters of the field. The number of the slain and wounded on our side is not yet certain, but it is known, that of the Regiment of Marines alone, the Marquis de Montevire, their Colonel, and about 40 Officers more, and 400 Soldiers, were killed, the Marquis de Crequi and the Count de Renel were so much wounded that they died the next day, the Duke of Lesaiguieres was wounded, as were also the Count de Grandi, the Marquis de Sezanne, and the Marquis d'Armes, besides several other Officers of Note, and a great number of Soldiers.

Hague, August 29. N. S. A Courier arrived here the 26th Instant from the Imperial Army in Italy, being dispatched by the Count de Vellen, by Order of Prince Eugene, to Count Guss, the Emperor's Envoy residing here, with the welcome News of his having obtained a Signal Victory over the French Army commanded by the King of Spain, though much superior in number to the Imperial Forces. His Highness understanding the 15th Instant, That the Enemy advanced towards Luzzara, he immediately marched against them, and being come near that Place, drew up his Army in order of Battel, which he had scarce done but the Enemy came nearer, so that about 5 in the afternoon the two Armies began to cannonade each other, and about 6 came to an Engagement. The Right Wing of the Imperial Army attacked the Enemy in the middle of so great a Fire as cannot be expressed, with such Fury and Undauntedness, that notwithstanding the Enemy had the Advantage of the Ground, having before them a Country full of Ditches and Canals, the Imperialists drove them 1000 Paces from the Place of Battel, and remained Masters of the Field, and of all that was in it, driving out of a great part of their Gendarmes, and those other Troops which on all occasions they most relied on. The Enemy, by the favour of the night, retired farther off, and abandoned several Posts, leaving every thing that was there, and intrenched themselves in such a manner, that it was impossible to attack them a second time, as the Prince intended; however, he was encamped within Musket-shot of them, and was playing upon them with his Cannon when the News came away. We have not yet the Particulars of the Loss on either side in this Action, so glorious to Prince Eugene and the Emperor's Forces under his Command; but as far as could be judged the Imperialists may have lost about 2000 Men, among whom is the Prince of Commerci, whose Death is extremely regretted, and the Loss of the French may amount to 7 or 8000.

According to our Accounts from the Confederate Army which is to be employed in the Siege of Venlo, they were to invest that Place yesterday. We hear, the Count de la Motte is marching towards Hulf, with a Body of French Forces, upon which the Forces of the Allies in the several Garrisons on that side are drawing together to oppose them. Three of our homeward-bound East-India Ships are safely arrived on our Coast.
