Lisbon, Sept. 9. O. S.

An Express come hither from Medina Sidenia, not far from Port St. Mary's, with Letters of the Lieutenant, O. S. hath brought us the following Intelligence: That his Grace the Duke of Ormond hath taken possession of Port St. Mary's, making the Forces under his Command, to a Puerto Real on the inside of the Bay of Cadix, and became Matter of it; the only remaining Point of Importance on that side is the Point called San Pedro, which had been battered several days in and Land, and could not probably hold out above two or three Days: The taking of it will facilitate the Entrance into the Harbour of Cadix, although the French, as it is said, have sunk several great Gallies in the Passage between the two Castles: There were then in the Harbour two Spanish and three French Men of War, and eight French Gallies. The same Letters inform that they had attacked Cadix by Sea, having battered the new Works, and thrown a great quantity of Bombs into the Place with good Success, to the great Consternation of the Inhabitants, especially on the 21st and 22nd of September, when the Duke came away, inasmuch that the Spaniards who were sent to meet him, likened it to the Day of Judgment. It is said, that on the 22d the Duke took that Point which is called the Martingorda, which is very proper, and it is confidently reported, that the English have 400 Horse, which they have mounted there; and that the Fleet has taken a great many Prizes in that Part. All Relations are that the Duke of Ormond has used all the Spies and great Civility, and kept the Army in an excellent Order, only at Port St. Mary's, the Soldiers find the Place wholly abandoned by the Inhabitants, and the Governour-General of Andaluzia forced away from Cadix, leaving their Houses furnished, and their Cellars full of Wine, they could not be kept otherwise in the same Order there as they had been before the Siege, and as they were afterwards at Puerto Real, which, altho' in like manner, and under the same Command, was yet by the Duke's Order, which his Grace had given, and by the Care and Vigilance of the Officers, preserved from Pillage.

Sept. 15. N. S. They write from the Verona, that a Reinforcement of 1200 Men came thither on their March to join the Imperial Army commanded by Prince Eugene, which, according to our Accounts, was still encamped near Luzzara; the French continuing in their Camp near that place. The Town of Gustalla surrendered to the French on the 9th Instant.

Sept. 6. Letters from Drept in Livonia inform that the Muscovites had attacked Mariembourg, a Place near the River Duna, but had been repulsed; that Major-General Schlippenbach having got a Body of Men near Pernau, was marched from thence towards the Enemy. In Ingermanland Major-General Cronhorst had been again attacked by the Muscovites in his Post at Santz, but had beaten them off; and killed them 700 Men.

Sept. 24. The Imperial Army continues encamped near Croonwellsenbourg; and a Detachment of several Regiments of Horse and Foot has been sent on their March over the Rhine to observe the Motions of the Forces of Bavaria, which we hear have Orderly march towards the Upper Rhine. Prince Lewis is marching with another Detachment 15000 Men towards Fort Louis, which Place, it is said, the French intend to bombard, and to keep it block'd up with the Water. Marshal Catinat is retired with his Army under the Cannon of Strasbourg.

Sept. 26. Our Advices from Cracow say, that we have now a very good prospect of a Peace, and that more because the Emperor's Minister having conferred with the King of Sweden near an hour, and obtained his Consent to a Cessation of Arms for 3 Months, it is hoped before this Term is expired further Advances will be made towards an Accommodation, to which the Swedes may be induced by the Consideration of the Strength of the Muscovites in Livonia, the mischief they have done there by ruining a great part of that Country, and the Apprehensions of what they may do further, there not being a sufficient Strength in those parts to oppose them. It is said, above 20000 of them are got into Courland, and march towards Lithuania to join Oginsky. The King of Sweden continues with his Army at Cracow, and Count Guldenstern with the Forces under his Command lies encamped about 3 Leagues from that Place, for their better Convenience of getting Forage and Provisions.

From the Camp of the Allies before Venlo, September 24. The 23d Instant, we made Rejoycings for the taking of Landau, and all our Cannon and small Arms being discharged upon that occasion, the beleegued (upon a supposition, as it is said, that we were going to make a General Assault upon the Town) beat a Parley, which the Prince of Nassau Saarbruck, our General, having granted, and Hostages being given on both sides, the beleegued proposed several Conditions, as, That they should be conducted to Ruremonde, and should carry with them 10 Brass Cannons, 24 Pounders, and 6 Brass Mortars; That 400 Wagons, whereof 50 to be covered, and not to be searched, should be furnished them for their sick and wounded, and their Baggage; That the Governour and Garrison of Fort St. Michael, and all other Prisoners taken on either side during the Siege, should be set at liberty; That 6 months time should be allowed them to sell off such Estates, Goods, and other Effects as they should leave behind them; That they should not be stop't on account of any Debts, or under any other pretence whatsoever; And that they should evacuate the Place within twelve hours, and should deliver up one of the City Gates an hour before they marched out, and not sooner. But these Articles were refused, and others agreed upon, the chief whereof are, That the Garrison be conducted under a Guard by the shortest way in 8 days time to Antwerp; That they shall march out with their Arms and Baggage, Drums beating, Trumpets sounding, Colours flying, &c. That Boats shall be provided for their sick and wounded, and such Baggage as they can best be without, and 100 Carts, or as many as can be got, to carry their Provisions, and more necessary Baggage; That the Prisoners on either side shall be set at liberty, those of Fort St. Michael excepted; That two months time shall be allowed them to sell off such Effects as they leave behind; That none of them shall be stop't on account of their Debts, provided they give sufficient Security to their Creditors; That the Town shall not be pillaged, nor the Inhabitants molested in the Enjoyment of their Rights or Privileges; That the Garrison shall evacuate the Place the 25th Instant, at 8 or 9 in the morning, and should deliver up one of their Gates yesterday before Sunset; And that the French Commissioners should immediately deliver to the Officers appointed by our General the Keys of all the Magazines, and an exact Account of all the Provisions and Ammunition which the beleegued had made. Four Regiments of Foot are appointed to remain in Garrison at Venlo, and the rest of the Forces which have been employed in this Siege are preparing to beleegue Ruremonde, and Stevenswaert will be attacked at the same time by a Detachment of the Army of the Allies commanded by the Earl of Marlborough.

From the Camp of the Allies at Soutendael, September 25. The 22d Instant, in the evening, the two Lines of the Army and the Artillery being drawn out, made a triple Discharge of the Cannon and small Arms, for the taking of Landau. The 23d, in the morning, the Earl of Marlborough received an Account by Express, that the Town of Venlo capitulated the evening before, and last night his Excellency had Advice, that the Garrison marched out yesterday morning towards Antwerp, whither they are to be conducted. His Excellency has given Orders for attacking Ruremonde and Stevenswaert both together, for which purpose 12 Squadrons of Horse commanded by the Count de Noyelles, a Brigadier-General, were detached from hence the 25th to invest the last of these places, and yesterday

Monday they were followed by 9 Battalions of Foot under the Command of the Count de Baylyes, General of the Foot, in order to turn the Siege: the Earl of Orkney, Major-General, commanding under him, and Major-General Gore being to have the Direction as Engineer: The Forces which were at the Siege of Perle are to attack Raricoude. The Bombes are fortifying Tourenon, Hoffen, and St. Tron, three small Towns, to preserve their Communication between Lige and Brabant.

From the Camp of the Allies at Soutendael, Sept. 28. We have an Account from the Camp before Stevenswaert, that the Canon and Mortars arrived here yesterday morning, that our Forces have passed the Maele, and taken Polt in the Island, where they are raising Batteries, and making Preparations for the Siege. We are told, the Garrison consists of about 500 Men, and have 35 Pieces of Cannon, but are in want of Gunners, so that it is not doubted but they will surrender as soon as a Breach is made. The Artillery is also landed near Rutemonde, which is to be employed in the Siege of that Place, and all things will be ready for opening the Trenches against it in a day or two. The French continue in the same Camp.

Hague, Sept. 29. N. S. We expect to hear next week of the taking of Rutemonde and Stevenswaert, which Places are not in a Condition to hold out long. The Diet of the Circle of Westphalia is met at Cologne, and it has been proposed to them to enter into the Alliance against France and Spain, to which they shew a great Inclination.

Witchborough, Sept. 18. The Africa and the Limor arrived here this evening from Virginia, the Masters whereof say, they came from thence with a Fleet of about 150 Merchant Men more, under the Convoy of 5 Men of War, which are failed up the Channel; and that 3 more of our homeward-bound Virginia Ships are put into Wight.

Hull, Sept. 19. Yesterday failed from hence divers Merchant Ships under Convoy of Her Majesty's Ships the Deford and the Milford for Hamburg and the Baltick.

Falmouth, Sept. 19. A Dutch Privateer called the Seven Provinces of Middlebourg brought into this Port the 15th Instant a French Fireship, which he took in the Bay of Biscay, the Captain whereof reports, that the Count de Chateaurenault is come away from the Havanna with the Galions, being 12 in number, under the Convoy of his Squadron, consisting of 26 French Men of War, and 3 Fireships, of which this Prize was one, but was separated from them in bad Weather, in the Latitude of 40 Degrees, about 30 days before he was taken. He adds, that Montieur Chateaurenault intended to go to Placentia in Newfoundland to Man his Fleet, having lost 3 or 4000 Men, but the Wind changing, he altered his Course. Yesterday arrived here the Friendship of London, Nicholas Chim Maker, who came in 6 weeks from Mounterrat, and gives an Account, that about 10 weeks ago, Colonel Codrington, Governor of Her Majesty's Leeward Islands, attacked that part of St. Christopher that was possessed by the French, who without much Resistance surrendered themselves Prisoners: And that the Privateers belonging to Barbadoes and the Leeward Islands had taken many French Vessels, whereof they had sent 14 into Mounterrat and Antegoa.

Plymouth, Sept. 20. Six or seven homeward-bound Merchant Ships from the West-Indies came in here the 16th Instant, as did likewise a French Prize from Newfoundland, sent in by Her Majesty's Ship the Hampshire, which came in the next day with another French Prize from the same Place. Yesterday a Dutch Privateer brought in here a French Sloop laden with Wine and Brandy, which was bound to the West-Indies.
