THE following Address was presented to Her Majeity by Constantine Phips and William Ungsian Edgs, introduced by the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Nortingham, Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State.

To the Queen's Mask Excellent Majesty.
The humble Address of the Governor, Council, and Representatives of Your Majesty's Province of New-Hampshire in New-England, convened in General Alfembly.

V E Your Mijesty's most Loyal and Dutiful Subjects of this Province, humbly pray to be admitted with all other Your Mijesty's good Subjects, to offer our Condectance for the Loss of that most excellent Frince, our late Sovereign Lord King William III. of Glorican Medicity; and knowly to prossente our selves at Your most Surved Mighty GOD, that has preserved Your Majesty for the great Bruesse and Comfort of Your Mijesty's Torce Kingdoms, and of all the Provinces and Plantations under your Royal Government; and with all hamble and success Affurance of our constant and entire Obedience to Your Mijesty's Commands at all times, and our most earnest Prayers, That God will give Your Majesty a long and happy Reign over us, and presper your owns, to the Subduing the Exorbitant Power of France, and all other Your Majesty's Enemies whatsever.

Which Address Her Majesty received very graciously.

Venice, Offober 21. N.S. According to our last Advices from the Imperial and the French Armies, they were still encamped in the same Places, and the former continued to send out Parties with very good Success: They confirm all that has been said of the famous Excursion of General Davia, who having ventured into the Capital City of the State of Milan, after a very long March, returned to the German Camp with a Booty of above 3000 Pistoles, 100 sine Horses, a great quantity of rich Silks, and other Goods, to a very considerable value; and add, that the smaller Parties sent out from the said Camp have within these few days taken from the French near 200 Prisoners, 70 Horses, 12 Mules, about 200 Oxen, 100 Sheep, and 240 Sacks of Corn, besides other Booty; We hear also, that the French Soldiers desert daily in great numbers. Orders are come from Vienna to the Valley del Sole, near the Veroneze, to provide Quar ers for 4000 Germans, which are on their way from Germany, in order to join the Imperial Army commanded by Prince Eugene.

Copenhagen, October 24. Orders were fent from hence fome time ago to all the Governors of the Forts and Castles on any of the Coasts in the Danish Dominions, not to harbour any French Privateers, or their Prizes; Since which we hear from Norway, that none of them have appeared in those Parts. Letters from Lithannia give an Account, that Monsieur Bonas, the French Envoy to the Court of Sweden, going from Riga to Cracow, on purpose to oppose the Negocia ions that are on foot for restoring the Peace of the North, fell into the hands of a Party of Oginsky's Troops, who took him Prisoner. Here is a Report, that the Muscowites have besieged Narva;

but it needs Confirmation.

Berlin, October 28. The Letters from Foland, which came in this day, bring an Account, that the Fall which the King of Sweden had lately from his Horse does not prove to be of so dangerous Consequence as was at first reported, the Hurt he received in his Thigh being only a great Contusion, so that he was able to go abroad in a Litter, and was marched with his Army from Cracow, intending to proceed by slow Journeys towards Prussa. The Deputies appointed to offer him the Mediation of the Republick, for adjusting Matters between him and the King of Poland, having sent him a Letter to acquaint him with the Commission they were charged with, he has writ them an Answer, desiring first to be satisfied, Whether the Forces of the Crown acting in an Hostile manner against the Swedes, was by Direction from the Republick. It is said these Deputies, who were on their way to his Camp, are thereupon gone back to Warsaw, looking upon this Demand as a Resulal of accepting the Mediation, since it implies that the Republick is a Party concerned in the War.

mand as a Refusal of accepting the Mediation, fince it implies that the Republick is a Party concerned in the War.

From the Camp of the Adies before Liege, November 2. On the 25th past a Detachment of 14 Squadrons of Hosse, and 10 Batralions of Foot, under the Command of the Prince of Hosse, Lieurenant-General, marched over the Macse to beliege the Chartreuse. The Weather proved so bad, that we could not open our Trenches until the 28th, which was done by the Brigade of Murrey. At night they were relieved by Brigadier-General Witchers. The Batteries and Lines of Communication were all finished that night, so that our Mortars began to play the 29th in the morning, and our Cannon about noon: In an hour after the Enemy beat a Parley, and the Capitulation was agreed to; Theraking of this Place cast us 2 Officers killed and 50 wounded, none of them English, and 12 Soldiers killed and 50 wounded. The 31st, the Garison marched out of the Place, being upwards of 1500 Men, besides near 300 that are computed to have deferted from thence before the Capitulation. The Troops of Liege came out first, and immediately quitted the French Service, marching off in a Body, and their Colonel came to his Excellency the Earl of Murborage, who was present to see them march out, and made him a Compliment upon his quitting that Service: Of the Swist there deserted likewise above 400 as soon as they came out, so that this Garison will be very much lessende before they get to Antwerp, whither they are marching, being conducted by a Squadron of Brigadier-General Word's Regiment. To morrow the Army will separate, and the next day his Excellency designs to embark in a Yacht at Mustricks, and to go down the Marse, intending to vitit Seevens march, Ruremonde, and Venlo, and to be at the Hague on Tuesday next. We have begun to repair the Works of the Citadel of Liege, which will soon be in Pessecion again.
