The KING has been pleased to award the Albert Medal to the late Kenneth John Wilson in recognition of his gallantry in the following circumstances:—

On 1st December, 1949, the oil tanker "Nassarius" was at sea off Port Sudan on a voyage from Beirut to Mena al Ahmeda. At about 2.30 p.m. the Bosun entered a tank in which dangerous gas fumes were present, intending to wash it out with a hose. He was twice forced by the fumes to leave the tank and while attempting to enter it for the third time was overcome by them and collapsed on the top ladder.

Senior Ordinary Seaman Kenneth John Wilson, aged 19 years, was called to help by a pumpman who had been working with the bosun, and the two men climbed down into the tank to try to support the bosun on the ladder until a life line could be obtained. Wilson immediately straddled himself over the bosun's feet, but the pumpman began to lose consciousness and was forced to climb out of the tank again. Wilson remained alone, and a line was passed down to him which he attempted to place around the bosun's shoulders. Before he could do this, however, he was overcome by gas. Realising that he would not be able to climb out unaided, he went to the first landing to await help. Here he collapsed and fell to the bottom of the tank.

He was brought up after about 10 minutes by the Chief Engineer who was wearing a smoke helmet, and was found to have serious head injuries. His breathing was restored by artificial respiration, but because of his injuries this had to be suspended, and he died half an hour later. Wilson displayed great gallantry in entering the tank without a protective helmet or life line, and his courage in remaining to secure a line about the collapsed man when another man had already been forced by the fumes to leave the tank was of the highest order.

Whitehall, October 17, 1950.

The KING has been pleased to award the Albert Medal to the late Henry Charles Morris in recognition of his gallantry in the following circumstances:—

On Sunday, 11th June, 1950, a man bathing in the sea at Anderby Creek, Lincolnshire, was carried out of his depth and got into difficulties. Henry Charles Morris, aged 67 years, heard his cries for help and immediately ran towards the water undressing as he went. Despite his daughter's warning that he should wait to get a lifebelt he plunged into the water naked and swam out to the man in difficulties. On reaching him he grasped his hand and began to swim back to the shore with him. Almost immediately a heavy breaker struck them both and separated them, and Morris was not seen again. His body was recovered three hours later. After Morris had been swept away it required the combined efforts of several other men to rescue the man in difficulties.

The incident occurred at a point on the Lincolnshire coast which at high tide is dangerous for swimmers at any time. On this occasion the tide was flowing in and conditions were particularly bad. Morris was a frequent visitor to Anderby Creek and was well aware of its dangers. He had been a strong swimmer but had done very little swimming for some years. His prompt and determined action displayed courage of a high order and he lost his life after a gallant attempt to rescue a younger man in difficulties.

Whitehall, October 17, 1950.

The KING has been pleased to award the Albert Medal to the late Harry Charles Edwards in recognition of his gallantry in the following circumstances:—

On Sunday, 11th June, a girl of 14 who was bathing in the breakers at Mablethorpe was carried out to sea by a receding wave and called for help. Harry Charles Edwards, who was paddling with his small nephew at the water's edge at the time, and was wearing a bathing costume, saw the girl's danger and immediately went through the breakers and swam strongly out to her. On reaching her, he told her to take hold of him and then began to swim back towards the shore with her. A large wave, however, struck them and parted them, and after it had passed Edwards was seen to be floating motionless on the water and being carried further out to sea. He was not seen again until his body was recovered from the sea three hours later.

At this point on the shore a large outfall tunnel enters the sea, and the rising tide creates a very strong current into the mouth of the tunnel. Swimmers are warned of the danger by a large notice. At the time the incident took place the tide was coming in strongly and the sea was at its most dangerous.

Edwards' action displayed the highest courage. He was a strong and experienced swimmer, and must have realised the extreme danger of swimming out beyond the breakers in such a sea. He nevertheless went without hesitation to the girl's assistance and gave his life in an attempt to rescue her.

RECRUITMENT UNDER NORMAL REGULATIONS TO THE GOVERNMENT COMMUNICATIONS HEADQUARTERS (DEPARTMENT OF THE FOREIGN OFFICE).

1. No candidate may compete more than twice under Normal Regulations.

2. Age.

Candidates must be at least 20½ years and under 24 years of age on the 1st day of August, 1951. But a candidate who has served in H.M. Forces may deduct the period of such service from his actual age up to a maximum of two years.

3. Marriage

(i) Both men and women are eligible.

(ii) Married women who have formerly been established civil servants and have drawn marriage gratuity (other than those who resigned compulsorily on marriage and whose resignation took effect before the 15th October, 1946, or who are widows or divorced, or who are separated from their husbands, or whose husbands suffer without hope of recovery from total physical or mental incapacity) will not be eligible unless they undertake to refund on appointment the marriage gratuity paid.

4. Nationality

(1) Every candidate must

(a) be a natural-born British subject; and

(b) have been born within the United Kingdom or within one of the self-governing Dominions of parents both of whom were also born within the United Kingdom or within one of the self-governing Dominions.

(2) No departure from this rule will be made without the special permission of the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and then only in exceptional cases and in favour of candidates who are British subjects and who also satisfy one of the following conditions:—

(a) If natural-born British subjects, they must either

(i) have at least one parent who is, or was at death, a British subject; or

(ii) have resided in His Majesty's dominions and/or been employed elsewhere in the service of the Crown for at least five years out of the last eight years preceding the date of their appointment.

(b) If naturalised British subjects, they must have resided in His Majesty's dominions and/or been employed elsewhere in the service of the Crown for at least five years out of the last eight years preceding the date of their appointment.

(c) If not qualified under (a) or (b) of this subparagraph they must satisfy the Commissioners that they are so closely connected with His Majesty's dominions, either by ancestry, upbringing, or residence, or by reason of national service, that an exception may properly be made in their favour.

5. Health and Character

Successful candidates must satisfy the Commissioners as to their health and character.

6. Education

(i) Candidates must either (a) have taken a full honours degree at a recognised University, and obtained at least second class honours at their degree examination, or (b) be in the last year of a course for a full honours degree at a recognised University. In the latter case, they will not be declared successful unless they can produce evidence, not later than 1st September, 1951, that they have obtained at least second class honours in their degree examination.

(ii) Candidates who are unable to satisfy the provisions of sub-paragraph (i) may qualify if they take the written examination under Method I for the Administrative Class of the Home Civil Service and reach in it a standard satisfactory to the Commissioners.

7. Examination

(i) The examination consists of the following:—

(A) A written examination consisting of two papers in English, two General Papers, and a test of General Intelligence, for each of which a maximum of 100 marks is allotted (making 500 marks in all).

(B) For candidates who pass the written examination:

a series of tests of personal qualities, followed by an interview before a Final Selection Board.

(ii) The final order of merit will be determined by the mark awarded by the Final Selection Board out of a maximum of 300. This will take into account the candidate's record, his intelligence and personal qualities, his work in the written examination, and the report on his performance in the series of tests of personal qualities. In the event of a tie between two or more candidates, the Commissioners will decide which to declare successful. The Commissioners may at their discretion require a candidate to attend a second time before the Final Selection Board if they consider it necessary to enable them to reach a decision.

8. Candidates trained as Teachers

Candidates who have been trained as teachers and upon whose training public money has been spent cannot be appointed until the consent of the appropriate central education authority (e.g., the Ministry of Education, the Scottish Education Department, the Ministry of Education for Northern Ireland) has been notified to the Commissioners.

9. Canvassing

Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support for their applications through Members of Parliament or other influential persons, except as referees to be named by them in their application forms, will disqualify them for appointment.

A fee of £1 10s. is payable by all candidates. This must be sent with the Application Form.

The Civil Service Commissioners further give notice that an Open Competition will be held under the above Regulations, the written examination commencing on the 4th January, 1951.
