From Sunday July 3. to Thursday July 6. 1704.

THE following Address has been presented to Her Majesty.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Bishop, Dean and Chapter, of Hereford, and Clergy of the Diocese of Hereford.

May it please Your most Excellent Majesty,

THO' it is impossible for us to express the just Sense we have of our Happiness in Your Majesty's most affectionate and constant Zeal for the Church of England; yet we cannot be wholly silent under it: We cannot but perpetually praise God for it, and thankfully publish to the World that our Church is the Support and Glory of the Reformation, so Your Gracious Majesty is the Glory, and, under God, the Support of our Church, which You not only defend and preserve in her Purity against all Opposers, but illustrate and adorn by showing a Character.

You afford her not only Your Protection, but all Encouragement and Favour, and at the same time that Your Revenues are freightened and burthensd by a most expensive War, for the Defence of our Religion and Liberties at home, and for the Support of the Empire and other Kingdoms and States, against the Common Enemy abroad; You extend Your Royal Gravity and Bounty to the Poor Clergy, in so liberal and magnificent a Manner, as is without Precedent or Example.

As this hath filled our Hearts with Joy and Gladness, so it hath no less inspired them with Gratitude and Thankfulness, and engaged us all to redouble, if possible, those zealous and earnest Prayers, which we constantly offer up to God for Your Majesty's long and prosperous Reign, and the happy Success of all Your Glorious Undertakings; and that God would give such a particular Blessing, on the rest of Your Revenues, that they never suffer any Diminution, but rather receive a peculiar Blessing and Increase by this Royal and Religious Charity to the poor Servants of God; and that he would remember You concerning this, and never wipe out the good Deeds You have done for the House of God, and the Offices thereof.

Which Address Her Majesty received very graciously.

Florence, June 21. Letters from Nice of the 10th Instant give an Account, That the Charles Gally, an English Man of War, was arrived there, which the day before, being becalmed, was attacked off that Port by 4 French Gallies that came out of Antibes and Monaco, but after a sharp Fight of three hours, the Gallies left her, being very much disabled; and having lost a great Number of Men; the Charles had only 8 Men killed, and 11 wounded.

Turin, June 27. Our Duke continues in his Camp at Crestinino. The French go on but slowly with the Siege of Vercelli, the Garrison of which Place has made several Gallies, with good Success. The Duke de la Feuillade, with the Body of French Forces under his Command, after the taking of Saiz, marched to Buslini, from whence he decamped the 25th, and it is said he is marched towards Pignerol. A Detachment of 3000 Men of our Duke's Forces, which was sent out to observe him, is marched towards Carmaniola.

Copenhagen, July 1. A Fleet of above 100 Sail of Dutch Merchant Ships, under Convoy of 7 Men of War, came into the Sound the 29th past; whereof 3 Men of War, and 13 Merchant Ships, are gone for Norway.

Vienna, June 28. The Two Deputies of the Malecontents in Hungary set out for that Kingdom the 25th Instant, with the Emperor's Declaration upon several Heads of the Grievances the Malecontents complain of, which these Deputies had laid before him. The Emperor has named the Archbishop of Colozza, who has performed very good Services in contributing his Endeavours towards a Composure of those Troubles, and the Bishop of Neutra, Chancellor of Hungary, to be of his Privy Council. We do not hear of any Action in those Parts since the Victory gain'd by General Heiter on the 13th Instant at Giermutz, over the Body of Malecontents commanded by Count Forgatsch. General Heiter has since sent a Detachment of 1000 Horse, under the Command of Count Viard, and 500 Foot, commanded by Major-General Gratz, with some Cannon, to the Relief of Oedenbourg, which Place is in a manner block'd up by Count Caroli, with another Body of Malecontents. Berzeni, with the Malecontents under his Command, is it is said in the Island Schut and Count Forgatsch, with the remains of his Forces, at Scharwar on the Raab. A small Body of Imperials from Tirol, under the Command of Colonel Heindel, have made an Incurfion into Bavaria, and possessed themselves of Schongau on the Leck and Weilheim, a small Town not far from Munich.

From the Duke of Marlborough's Camp at Obernirgen, July 3. On the 27th of the last Month the English Foot and Artillery, under the Command of General Churchill, who had been joined in their March by a Battalion of the King of Prussia's Forces, arrived in our Camp, which was then at Gingen, and took their Post in the Line, where an Interval had been left for them. All the Forces we expected have now joined us, except the Danish Horse, who (it is believed) may come up in a day or two. The 30th the Army march'd from Gingen and Herbreching, and encamp'd with our Right at Lanthausen, and our Left at Balmertshoffen: We pass'd so near the Enemy's Camp, that it was thought convenient to send our Lieutenant-General Bulau the night before with a Detachment of 2000 Horse and Dragoons to secure the Avenues, by which the Enemy might have disturb'd us in our March. The 1st Instant we continued our March in fight of the Elector of Bavaria's Army, and encamp'd with our Right at Amerdingen, and our Left at Onderringen, where the Duke of Marlborough received Advice, that that Elector had sent a considerable part of his Troops to reinforce a Detachment he had on the Schellenberg near Donawert, a Post of great Consequence to the Enemy, as being on a rising ground, and commanding the Town; for which reason they had been for several days raising Works there; the better to strengthen it by Intrenchments. His Grace thinking it necessary to lose no time in the Attack, march'd yesterday about 3 in the morning from Onderringen, at the head of 6000 Foot and 30 Squadrons of Horse, detached from the Left Wing, besides 3 Regiments of Imperial Granadiers; and advanced to the River Wentz. The March was long, and the Roads bad, and it took up so much time to make Bridges; and pass over the Troops and Cannon, that the rest of the Army coming up, the Detachment was supported by 30 Battalions more. The necessary Dispositions being all made, the Attack began about 6 in the evening, and the Enemy being strongly intrenched; maintained the Fight with great Obstinacy for an hour and half; during which time there was no Intermiffion of firing on either side, till the Enemy at length was forced to yield to the Bravery of our Troops: We possess'd our selves of their Intrenchments; and pursued them with great Slaughter to the Danube; where the Count d'Arco, Field-Marshal-General of the Elector of Bavaria's Forces; with their other General Officers, Monsieur Lutzelbach, Lieutenant-General, the Count de Maffei, General of Battalia, and two French Generals, made their Escape by swimming over the River. The Enemy's Forces in this Action consisted (as we are told) of two Battalions of the Elector's own Guards, one of Granadiers, 8 other Bavarian and 5 French Battalions, 4 Regiments of Cuirassiers, of 800 men each; and 3 Squadrons of Dragoons; which were entirely routed. We took 15 Pieces of Cannon, with their Ammunition, Tents, and Bagage, and most of their Colours; all the Count d'Arco's Plate, and abundance of other Booty; Part of their Ammunition being under ground, and not discovered by our Men, blew up in the night, and did some mischief to a Squadron of Dutch Dragoons. We have not yet the Particulars of the Loss on either side: As for our part, it fell heaviest upon the Battalion of English Guards, the Royal Regiment commanded by the Earl of Orkney, and Lieutenant-General Ingoldshy's Regiment; Major-General Wood, Colonel Palmer, and Colonel Meredith, are the chief among the English that are wounded; Lieutenant-General Geor, and the Count de Bentheim, Major-General, both in the Service of the States General, are killed; and the Prince of Wolfenbuttel Beveren, Major-General in the Emperor's Service, Prince Lewis of Baden, and General Thingen, are slightly wounded; Count Strum is shot through the Body; the Hereditary Prince of Hesse-Cassel, and Count Hoorn, Lieutenant-General, who commands the Duke of Wirtemberg's Forces, are likewise wounded. All the Troops in general behaved themselves with the greatest Bravery; but none distinguish'd themselves more than Her Majesty of Great Britain's Subjects, who in this Engagement had the Post of Honour, which they sustain'd with the Universal Applause and Approbation of all the Generals of the several Nations, who were Eye-Witnesses of their Courage and Resolution. The Horse and Dragoons who supported our Post, in the Attack took a little Market-Boot of the Enemy during the Action.

Our Horse was commanded by Lieutenant-General Lumley, and our Foot by the Earl of Orkney and Major-General Withers. A little before the Attack an Adjutant-General arrived, being sent to the Duke of Marlborough by Prince Eugene, with an Account, That the Marbals de Villeroi and Tallard were at Strasbourg, making Preparations in order to send to the Elector of Bavaria a considerable Detachment through the Black Forest; and his Grace has Advice from other hands, that they design to reinforce him with 50 Battalions and 60 Squadrons of their best Troops; which we hope will be prevented, or at least, that their Succours will come too late to be of any great Use to the Enemy.

Donaue, July 4. The Duke of Marlborough, after the Signal Victory he obtained the 2d Instant at Schellenburg, marched towards this place. The Elector of Bavaria, upon Advice of the Retreat of his Troops in that Part, immediately quitted his advantageous Camp between Leinfelden and Dillingen, and having repass'd the Danube, advanced towards the Leck, lest we should cut off his Communication with Bavaria, and part of his Troops have already pass'd that River, as it is suppos'd the rest will do as soon as we have pass'd the Danube, which we hope to do tomorrow. Our Orders we are making for that purpose being already in good forwardness. The Elector had first Order'd it might be the Governor of this Place to let fire to the Town, to burn his Magazines, and to break down the Bridge here over the Danube, and then to retire with his Garrison; and in that purpose they had fill'd most of the Houses with straw, our Forces already enter'd into the suburbs, and that Preparations were making for our passing the River, they thought fit to press their own safety before the Execution of these Orders, and retir'd early this morning, moving only by a single line or two, and break down part of the bridge, after they had pass'd it. Our Men immediately took possession of the Place, where they found a great Magazine of Gun-powder, 3 large Casks of Cannon in the Arsenal, 2000 Sacks of Meal, and a great quantity of Oats and other Provisions, which will help towards filling the Magazines that are to be provided here for the Subsistence of our Forces.

According to the Report of the Prisoners, the Enemy had on the Schellenberg 15 Bavarian and 5 French Battalions; and some say 9 Squadrons, others 15, of their best Troops; of all which the greatest part were killed on the Spot, drowned in the Danube, or taken Prisoners. The sequel of this whole Action makes it appear, how right a Judgment the Duke of Marlborough made both in advising this Attack, and hastening the Execution of it, since a delay till the next day might have hazarded the Success. His Grace was present in the greatest danger, that he might not only give the necessary Orders, but the better encourage the Soldiers in the discharge of their Duty.

Frankfurt, July 6. This day To Deum was Sung here, with all other pious Demonstrations of Joy, for the great Victory lately obtain'd by the Confederate Army commanded by the Duke of Marlborough over the Elector of Bavaria's Forces at Schellenburg. The Lord Curis, Lieutenant-General Ingelshoff, and Baron de Weob, came hither the 2d Instant, with several other English Officers, and let forward yesterday for the Army on the Danube. There is an Account, That the French have pass'd the Ruine at Straubourg, and are now encamp'd near Kehl; and that Prince Eugene is making the necessary Dispositions to prevent their Designs.

Hagen, July 11. N. S. On the 7th Instant the Detachment of the S. A. S. Forces commanded by the Baron de Trogne enter'd into the French Lines near Mursdorf without any Opposition; but the Rivers Herk and Demar being overgrown in such manner, that it was judg'd impossible for the rest of the Army to come up to support him, it was resolv'd in a Council of War to give over that Enterprize; and Orders were accordingly given him to return to the main Army, which is since march'd to St. Aon. Baron Spar is march'd from the Neighbourhood of Bruges, and is now encamp'd near Sas van Ghent.

Salmstadt, July 1. The Sidney Frigate has sent in here two Prizes laden with Wine and Brandy from Bourdeaux. A Dutch Privateer sent in two days ago a Prize call'd the Swallow of Bayonne, bound for France, and brought in this day a Sloop of Nevis, which he had retaken from the French.

Tormentum, July 3. Yesterday pass'd through our Road, and on the back of our Sands, about 150 Sail of laden Colliers from Newcastle, under Convoy of Her Majesty's Ships the Affiance and Queenborough, most of them bound for the River Thames.

Portsmouth, July 4. Her Majesty's Ship the Tarrar came to Spithead the 2d Instant from the Fleet commanded by Sir George Rooke, whom she left the 8th past, O. S. off of Africa. She brings an Account, That on the 25th of May last they had Advice by the Charles Galley of the French having 36 Sail of all sorts out at Sea, through which they had pass'd in the night time, whereupon a Council of Flag Officers being held, it was resolv'd the Fleet should make the best of their way to find the Enemy. The 27th, at 9 at night, our Scouts made the Signal of seeing a Fleet, and about 10 the Lark came from them, and brought an Account, That the French bore South by East about 4 Leagues from them, and were standing to the Northward; upon which our Fleet tack, and counted 36 Sail of the French; they keeping their Wind, our Fleet pursu'd them till the 29th, at 8 at night, and then finding that the Enemy gain'd upon them, and declin'd coming to an Engagement, making all the hast they could towards Toulon; there being but little Wind, and a Possibility of coming up with them, our Fleet alter'd their Course.

Westminster, July 4. The Parliament met this day, and was further prorogued until the 19th of October next.
