In the close of the Evening his Grace, according to the Measures on which he had resolved, ordered a Detachment of 20 Battalions and 38 Squadrons, under the Command of Count Noyelles, Lieutenant-General Scholten, and Lieutenant-Grace of County of the Cou

Count Noyelles, Lieutenant-General Scholten, and Lieutenant-General Ingoldesby, the Horse (that were principally concerned in this Action) being commanded by Lieutenant-General Lemsely, to advance towards the Posts above-mentioned, which were at least 3 Leagues from our Camp; and at 10 at night he followed with the self of the Army, having given Notice to Monsieur d'Auverquerque that he might march back again, in order to join and second him.

By break of day, the Detachment being come to the Lines, forced their Passage with little Opposition, and got over with so much diligence, that 3 Regiments of French Dragoons, which were encamped near the Place attack'd, had not time to appose them, but were obliged to retire to Leeuwe. Immediately after, Moalieur d'Alegte appeared with a strong Body of Horse and Foor, computed at 50 Squadtons and 20 Battalions, and advanced with great Resolution; But his Grace being already got over with good part of the Horse of Battalions, and advanced with great Resolution; But his Grace being already got over with good part of the Horse of the Right-Wing, and having formed them, he attacked the Enemy with so much Bravery, that after a hot Dispute of two hours, he obliged them to retire with considerable Loss. His Grace thereupon immediately ordered a Detachment to march to Tirlemont, where they sorced the Battalion of Monluc, which was in that Place, to surrender at Discretion.

Another Detachment of Dragoons, which his Grace sent to pursue the Enemy, had the good Fortune to overtake and Another Detachment of Diagons, which is overtake and purfue the Enemy, had the good Fortune to overtake and feize a great part of their Bagage.

In this Action Monlieur d'Alegre and the Count de Hoorn, Lieutenants General, two Majors General, and a great number of other Officers and private Soldiers, were taken Priferers: We also took to Pieces of Cannon, 8 whereof were treble Bairels, and many Standards and Colours. It is not possible to express the Bravery and Resolution our Troops the used on this coordinate. thewed on this occasion.

Yesterday our Army marched from Tirlemont to this Camp, the Right being near Vherbeck, within a Mile of Louvain, and the Leit at Corbeck. The Enemy having marched all and the Left at Content and Dyle the fame evening at Hever, and encamped near Bulleheim, But their Rear-Guard was and entamped hear bedinenen; but their Rear-Guard was not quite passed over when our advanced Squadrons appeared; whereupon they immediately took up their Bridges, leaving behind them a great number of their Root, of which the Parties sent out by his Grace have brought in above 1400 Prisoners.

Several Officers and Soldiers who were wounded and made Prifoners at the forcing of the Lines are still hourly blought in; and the Number of Officers now Prifoners amounts to near 80, belides those of the Regiment of Monluc.

The Enemy have quitted Diett, and withdrawn the two Battalions that were there in Garison; upon which the Magitiates deputed two of their Body to wait upon his Grace, and beg his Protection.

The Enemy fire upon us from the Walls of Louvain, bur without doing us any Damage.
