A Constantinople, August 2. N. S. A Discovery has lately been made here of a dangerous Conspiracy that had been formed in order to make an Insurrection, and to depose the Sultan, which happened in the following manner: The Visier Azem having received Intelligence the 30th past of a Meeting of part of the Conspirators, immediately sent for the Musti and Osman Pasha; but before they got to his House he mounted on Horseback, and went with his Guard of Janisaries to the Place of Assembly, where, after some Resistance, about 20 Persons were seized. They had prepared their Arms and Ammunition, and were to have put their Design in Execution in few days. The chief Men engaged in this Conspiracy were, the Nisangi Pasha, a Visier of the Bench, and Hassan Effendi, who had been Caddee of Cairo, and was one of the Commissioners dispatched hence to Adrianople by the Rebels at the time of the late Revolution. It is found to have spread its Roots farther than it was at first believed, there being near 1000 Persons of all Ranks concerned in it. If it had continued undiscovered till they had thought fit openly to declare themselves, 'tis uncertain what numbers of People might have joined them, and how far the Attempt might have succeeded, in a Place where the People are always disposed to Sedition and Novelty. The Grand Signior was with his Seraglio diverting themselves under Tents in some Woods; Leagues from this City; but upon notice of this Event, he came the same night to Town, and the Danger being over, returned to his Diversions the next day. There is a Report, that Count Teckely is turned Roman Catholick, and is preparing to remove from Hunn, but it is not certain whither; and that in order thereunto he has sent his Plate and other precious Effects to the Jesuits College at Galara.

Venice, Sept. 19. Our Senate having appointed Signior Desino to be their Proveditor-General at Brescia, in the room of Signior Molino, he is gone thither to take possession of that Employment. The Governor of Bergamo has made an Agreement with Prince Eugene, for the furnishing of the Imperial Army under his Command with Forage and Provisions out of that Country. His Highness, as is said, has given Orders for the building of Barracks in the District of Gera d'Adda, for the use of his Army, whence it is conjectured that he intends to continue in those Parts till the Arrival of the Reinforcements he expects from Germany, from whence he daily receives fresh Supplies of Men and Ammunition. He has ordered the Roads from his Camp towards Crema to be enlarged, and Bridges to be made over the River Seriole, from whence some judge that he has a Design upon that Town, he having also sent a Detachment that way. The Duke of Venosme continues in the same Camp near Rivolta, and has ordered the Town of Bordolano to be fortified, intending to keep a Garison there, for the better preventing the Excursions of the Imperialists into the Mantuan and Cremonese. They write from Brescia, That the Prince of Anhalt Dessau is perfectly cured of the Wound he received in the late Action near Treviglio; and that Prince Alexander of Wirtemberg is also in a fair way of Recovery.

Wilna in Lithuania, Sept. 12. The Muscovite Forces left this Place the 10th Instant, and are marched in two Columns to a Camp marked out for them at Grodno. The Lithuanian Troops are posted at Brest-cici, and the Saxons along the River Narew, behind Tikozin; which Place being of Importance, is garrisoned by 2000 Muscovite Foot and 500 Cossacks. General Lewenhaupt, who commanded the Swedish Forces in Courland, having Advice, that the Czar of Muscovy was advancing that way with part of his Troops, quitted that Province, and retired to Riga. The Czar is now before the Castle of Mittau, which Place is pretty well fortified, and has a good Garison in it. It is said he intends, when he has reduced it, to rejoin the rest of his Army.

Vienna, Sept. 19. Count Breuner, Lieutenant-Colonel of the Regiment which was commanded by the late Prince Joseph of Lorraine, arrived here the 17th Instant from Piedmont: The Emperor has made him Colonel of that Regiment. Count Diemanstein, Great Chamberlain to the Elector Palatine, came hither the same day from Dusseldorp. That day also the Emperor settled the Regency of the Lower Austria, and constituted Baron Kirchbaun Deputy Stadholder of this Province. His Imperial Majesty is expected here this evening from his Palace called the Favorita; and intends on the 22d Instant to receive the Hoimage of the States of Austria, as being the Regent Arch-Duke, which will be performed with great Solemnity. Letters from Buda say, that General Herbeville, with the Imperial Army under his Command, was continuing his March towards Upper Hungary, and that the Detachment commanded by General Glockelsberg was advancing towards Transilvania.

Berlin, Sept. 26. The Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel came the 19th Instant in the evening from Swerin to Oranienbourg: The next day the King of Prussia and the Prince Royal went to meet his Highness, and brought him to Charlottenbourg. The 22d the Landgrave came with his Majesty hither; and having seen the Castle and other Curiosities of this Place, they returned to Charlottenbourg, from whence the Landgrave set out the day following towards Swerin. His Majesty has made him a Present of a very fine Set of Horses. General Flemming came hither the 21st; and having waited upon the King at Charlottenbourg, went back from thence towards Dresden. They write from Courland, That the Cattle of Mittau is surrendered to the Muscovites upon Articles.

Frankfort, Sept. 27. The Town of Drusenheim surrendered to the Count de Frise the 24th Instant, and the Garison, consisting of about 400 Men, became Prisoners of War. Haguenau was invested the 26th, where the French have above 2000 Men: The Direction of that Siege is given to General Thungen; and we doubt not but that Garison likewise will be obliged to surrender at Discretion. Prince Lewis continues in his Camp at Wiersheim. By possessing himself of Drusenheim, he secures his Communication with the Lines of Stolhoffen; and the taking of Haguenau will make him Master of a great part of Alsace: It is thought his Highness will also attack Fort Louis, which, by the present Disposition of his Forces, is in a manner blocked up.

From the Duke of Marlborough's Camp at Herentals, October 1. N. S. Yesterday the Army made a Forage to the Right; and a Guard being posted for the Security of the Foragers at the Village of Wechlersandr, a Party of the Enemy came to the same Village, and being
