Given at Our Court at Kensington, the Eleventh Day of Offsber, 1705. In the Fourth Year of Our Reign.

GOD Save the QUEEN.

Rome, September 26. N. S. A Courier whom the Pope lately sent to Vienna, with Letters for the Emperor and Empress; and the Empress Dewager, upon the Occasion of the Differences with the Imperial Court, returned hither this Morning; and this Matter sems at present to be in a fair way of Accommodation, through the Mediation of the King of Roland and the Elector Palatine, which is accepted by both Parties. Cardinal Janson, who manages the Affairs of France at this Court, has been endeavouring to perswade the Pope to resse more Forces in order to oppose the Imperialist, if they should offer to take Winter Quarters in his Dominions; but this would savour so much of Partiality towards the French, and engage the Pope into so great an Expence, that his Ministers do all advise him against it.

Pinice, Ostober 3. The Imperial Army under Prince Eugene, and that of France and Spain under the Command of the Duke of Vendosine, continue in their former Camps, and had begun to build Barracks for their Troops, as if they were not soon to remove from thence. Count Passy, who had been dispatched by Prince Eugene to Vienna, is returned to the Army, with fresh Instructions for his Highness, and a considerable Sum of Money to pay the Troops. Signior Ruzzini, Am'assaor Extraordinary from this Republick to the Grand Signior, embarked here the 27th pass, in order to repair to Constantinople, and will shortly be followed by Signior Erizzo, whom the Senate has appointed to reside at the Ottoman Porte as their Bailo, or Ambassador in Ordinary.

Was Jaw, September 30. Preparations are made here for the Coronation of the new Elected King Stanislaus; however some think that this Solemnity will be put off some time longer, several Members of the Assembly of the Consederated Nobility of Poland, which is sitting here, insisting that they should not proceed to the Coronation till after the Conclusion of the Treaty that is now on foot with the King of Sweden. We have an Account from Tycozyn, That Prince Menziko, First Minister of State to the Czar of Muscovy, came lately thicher, and after he had conferred with the Vice-Chancellor of Poland, and reviewed the Saxon, Polish and Lithuanian Troops, lying near that Place, he returned to Grodno, to meet the Czar his Master, who we hear is advanced thither with 24000 Men, and is followed by 40000 Men more, intending to join the Troops above mentioned near Tycozyn, and then to march towards this Place. A considerable Body of Costacks is also advancing this way from Rusland, in order to join him. The King of Sweden with his Army continues encamped at Bionitz.

Libau in Courland, Offober 3. The Czar of Muscovy having possessed himself of the Castle of Bautske, which was the last Place belonging to the Dutchy of Courland that remained in the Hands of the Swedes, the Garison surrendring upon Articles, he has left a Body of 10000 Men to oppose any Perces which the Swedes might send this way, and is marching with the rest of his Army towards Warsaw. The Muscovites have put a Garison of 300 Men into this Place.
