Wednesday, May 8. The Mails from Holland of the 11th and the 14th Instant, N. S. which came in late this Night, give an Account, That his Grace the Duke of Marlborough set out from the Hague the 9th, in order to go to the Army. They were from Paris, That they had Letters from the Army before Barcelona of the 27th past, N. S. which say, That they had taken Fort Montjuich the Day before, but that the Town still made a vigorous Defence; and that there was an Account of Sir John Leake's Squadron being in the Mediterranean. There are Letters from Stralsund of the 12th Instant, N. S. which say, That they had News there of an Engagement between the two Fleets in the Mediterranean, of which they give no Particulars; from whence it is concluded that the Success of it must have been to the Enemy's Advantage.
