Turin, May 19. N. S. The Duke de la Feuillade having appointed Montanaro for the Rendezvous of all his Troops which were quartered in the Mortterrar, Mantuan, and neighbouring Country, about 40 Battalions and 12 Regiments of Horse and Dragoons arrived the 8th Instant near that Place, where they encamped till the 10th. Upon Intelligence of the Enemy's Motions his Royal Highness sent General Daus to Asti, to order all the Germans and other Troops in Garison there to march to Turin, leaving only a Lieutenant-Colonel with 200 Men in the Castle, and two Battalions of Militia, with about 30 Hussars, to guard the Outworks of the

Town. At the same time his Royal Highness ordered the German Horse to encamp at St. Michel, and his own Horse at Alpignian; Directions were also sent to several other small Garisons to come to Turin. The 10th and 11th the Enemy marched from Montanaro, passing the Rivers Orco and Malone, to Cirie, on the Banks of the Stura, where they made a Bridge; and the next Day passed that River, and encamped at Druiat. The Troops which were on their March from Asti received Orders to stop at Quieri; but the Train of Artillery came straight hither. Five Piedmontese Battalions of this Garison were ordered to take Post in the new Redoubts on the Mountain of Turin, to prevent any Suspence, and at the same time Orders were given to provide these Works with Cannon. The 13th the Enemy marched from Druiat, and came within sight of our Walls: They encamped on the same Ground as the last Year, their Army extending itself from Lucinto to the Lodge of the Old Park near the Po. His Royal Highness got on Horseback, and visited the several Posts about this Place, and ordered several Houses on this side of the Doire within Cannon-shot of the Citadel to be pulled down. He gave Directions for posting several Guards, for placing the Cannon upon the Ramparts, and for the Troops which were at Quieri to come hither. In short, he forgot nothing which might contribute to our Defence. The 14th his Royal Highness was on Horseback by 5 of the Clock in the Morning, to view the Enemy's Camp, and observe their Situation, as well as the Works which they were making. He had not been long abroad before he perceived a strong Detachment of Horse and Foot in Motion, and that they directed their March along the Doire towards Pianez. His Royal Highness left an Adjutant to observe their March, and continued to view their Camp, and to visit several Posts along the Doire. About Noon the Adjutant brought word, That the Detachment had joined 15 Battalions which came from Suze, under the Command of Monsieur Givodan, between Alpignian and Pianez, and that the whole was encamped between Pianez and Lucento; That they had posted a strong Guard, with some Cannon, in the Castle of Pianez; and that they had begun to work on a Redoubt to cover their Workmen, who were ordered to make a Bridge over the Doire in that Place. Our Parties which were on the other side of the River disturbed the Enemy's Pioneers very much. Both sides fired upon each other all day, but at such Distance that it did little Execution. The Enemy worked very hard on their Line and Redoubts, which are the very same and in the same Places as they were last Year, from the Po to the Doire. Our German Infantry arrived from Quieri this Day, and was posted in the Redoubts on the other side of the Po, and the German Horse marched from St. Michel near to Quieri. His Royal Highness ordered the Guard of Horse posted at a Place called the Balon to be doubled, and a Detachment of 500 Horse to encamp at Vanquille, which is a large Plain under the Cannon or our Walls between the Po and the Doire. A Party of our Hussars being on the other side of the Doire, one of them advanced to a Guard of the Enemy, promising his Officer to behead the first Man he met: He was as good as his Word; the Person who had the Misfortune to fall in his way was the Lieutenant-Colonel of the Regiment des Vaisseaux: Our Hussar also killed a Lieutenant who endeavoured to relieve his superior Officer: The Battalion thereupon made a general Discharge upon the Hussar, who being wounded, fell from his Horse, and was taken Prisoner. The 15th his Royal Highness sent out several small Parties along the Doire and the Po, to discover what the Enemy were doing, and they brought word, That their Line was very much advanced; That they had traced a large Redoubt on the side of the Po; that they were building Ovens at Lucinto; and that they had not yet finished their Bridge over the Doir at Pianez. His Royal Highness perceiving, that it would be easy to disturb the Enemy in their Works, ordered 4 Field Pieces to be placed on the other side of the Po for that purpose. Our German Cavalry came to Montcalier this Day; a Regiment of Foot also arrived there from the Vallies of Lucerne; and a Bridge was ordered to be made there over the Po. His Royal Highness sent Orders to Pignero, and to the Parishes on that side of the Country, to supply this Town with a certain Quantity of Provisions. The 16th the Baron de Regall, General of Battalia, having got the Field Pieces ready on the other side of the Po, began to fire upon the Enemy by break of Day, which he continued near an Hour, with such good Success, that he obliged them to decamp, and, as we are told, killed about 50 Officers or Soldiers, and wounded several more. This was to unexpected, that it put the Enemy into great Confusion. His Royal Highness was on Horseback by break of Day: He went to Colin, to see if it were possible to hinder the Enemy's passing the Doire; but finding it too hazardous to dispute the Passage, he sent Orders to the Imperialists who were encamped at Montcalier to march to Colin, where they arrived this Evening, and to keep in those Parts as long as is possible, as well to destroy the Forage, as to get what we can into Turin before the Enemy are in a Condition to oblige them to retire. The Enemy having finished their Bridge over the Doire at Pianez, a small Body of their Granadiers passed the River, and began to intrench themselves on this side. The Deserters which came hither this Day told us, that the firing of our Cannon in the Morning, and the March of our German Horse, had so alarmed the Enemy, that they stood to their Arms all Day, and we perceived a Disorder in their Camp. A Party of our Hussars has taken

Corner Prisoner, with two or three Troopers, and about 30 Horse, from an advanced Guard of the Enemy. His Royal Highness received two Couriers this Evening from Savonne and Oneglia, with Letters from good Hands, which assure us, That the Siege of Barcelona is raised, and that the Count de Toulouse returned to London the 12th Instant in great Disorder, having been obliged to leave his Cannon, several Officers, Bombardiers and Sailors, ashore. His Letters add, That above 2000 Men were drowned by the Precipitation with which the Enemy re-embarked; and that the Duke of Anjou was preparing to make his Retreat. This Success we hope will oblige the Enemy to take new Measures, and abandon their Siege upon his Place. This Morning by break of Day we find upon the Enemy's Camp near Lucinto, and obliged a great Body of Horse which was encamped there to retire with great Precipitation. Some Defectors which came hither this Morning from Suze confirm the News of the Count de Toulouse's Retreat.

Genoa, May 28. An Express arrived here this Day from Barcelona, which left that Place the 20th Instant, and brings the happy News of its being relieved, and of the shameful Retreat of the French from thence both by Sea and Land, leaving behind them all their Artillery, except 12 Field Pieces, their Provisions, Ammunition, and other Warlike Stores, and even their Sick and Wounded. When the Express came away their Army was within two Leagues of Genoa, directing their March towards Perpignan, consisting at most of 5000 Foot and 2500 Horse, and pursued by the Count de Catinet, at the head of a Body of Miquelets and other Troops, which were continually skirmishing with their Rear and Flank, and had already taken 3 of their Field Pieces, and killed many of their Men.

Vienna, June 2. The 30th past we received by a Courier from Genoa the happy News of the raising the Siege of Barcelona, which was continued by the Baron de Keller, sent hither Express by the King of Spain. The Baron d'Outin arrived at the same time from Erabant, being dispatched by the Duke of Marlborough, with advice of his Grace's Glorious Victory at Rammelies. These great success's have raised the Imperial Court, and in general all the People here, with an inexpressible Joy; and we hope will greatly contribute to the forwarding of the Negotiations for appeasing the Troubles in Hungary.

Frankfort, June 9. The Troops of Hesse, to the Number of 10000 Men, are encamped between this Place and Mentz, but will form upon the Imperial Army commanded by Prince Lewis near Ettlingen; which we hope will then be able to repulse the Rhine, and act offensively against the Enemy, who have lately detached 5000 Men to the Netherlands, and, as we hear, are shortly to send a further Reinforcement thither. The Garrison of Landau has lately been reinforced; and Parties from thence frequently make Excursions with very good Success.

Paris, June 11. The Detachment of 20 Men out of each Troop of Mousquetaires, and a like Number out of the Gens d'Armes and Light Horse that were left here, as usual to guard the King's Person, is ordered to be in a readiness to march for Flanders. A Draught is made out of the French Carabiniers in Germany to supply the Places of the Life Guard that were killed or taken in our late Defeat at Rammelies; and those Carabiniers are to be completed by Draughts out of the rest of the Horse of our Army on the Rhine. By this means the King hopes to restore the Troops of his Household which suffered so much in that Action; but no Expedients are yet found to recruit the rest of his Army. The Siege of Turin seems to be uncertain, especially if the Resolution continues of sending Detachments from the Duke de la Feuillades Army before that Place towards Spain. Our last Letters from Italy lay, the Duke of Savoy's Foot was for the most part got into Turin, and that his Horse was encamped at Montcalier, not far from thence, on the other side of the Po. The Duke of Anjou arrived at Pampelona the 2d Instant, from whence it is said he will proceed to Madrid; but it is much doubted whether he will attempt it till he has received fresh Reinforcements, the Disposition of the Spaniards towards him being such, that it is thought his Person cannot be safe without a strong Army of French to defend him. We have an Account from Spain, that the Portuguese had taken Ciudad-Rodrigo, the Garrison of which Place had obliged themselves not to bear Arms against the Allies for Twelve Months.

Darmstadt, June 5. Major-General Ross was detached from the Army the 11th Instant, N. S. with 1000 Horse and Dragoons to summon Bruges; which Place surrendered to him the 2d in the Evening. He put a Guard of Dragoons into the Town, and encamped with the rest at the Gates; the French Battalion that was in the Place retired upon his Approach. Some Hours after the Enemy abandoned Fort Bavier, seated between Bruges and this Place, where they had a Battalion of Walloons, and left in it 18 Pieces of Cannon, and good Store of Ammunition and Provisions. The same Evening they abandoned this Town, where they had a French, and a Walloon Battalion: They left here 13 Pieces of Cannon, of which 12 belonged to the French, 5000 lb. Weight of Powder, and a great quantity of other Ammunition and Provisions. Major-General Ross put a Lieutenant with 50 Men into Fort Bavier, and left 100 Dragoons at Darmstadt, the Battalions that were to be sent by Monsieur Paoli from Suze not coming till the 4th in the Evening, when it longer Garrisons were put into these several Places.

From the Duke of Marlborough's Camp at Arfeld, June 14. N. S. On Friday the 11th Instant, my Lord Duke of Marlborough set out from the Hague, in order to return to the Army, and lay that Night at Moor-Dyke. The next Day, as his Grace was proceeding on his Journey, he was met at Merssen, two Leagues from Antwerp, by the Bishop of that City, attended by all the Clergy, both Secular and Regular, who assured his Grace of their inviolable Loyalty and Affection to King Charles the Third, and to the House of Austria; acknowledging at the same time his Grace to have been the glorious Instrument of their happy Deliverance from the Tyranny of France, under which they had laboured ever since the Death of King Charles the Second. The Margrave of Antwerp, with the Burgomasters, and the rest of the Magistrates, attended his Grace at some distance from the City, where the first Penitence, in the Name of the rest, made a speech to the same purpose as the Clergy had done before, and presented his Grace the Keys of the Town, telling him, They had never been delivered up to any Person since the Great Duke of Parma, and that after a Siege of Twelve Months.

His Grace at his Entry into the Town was received with all the Honours and Ceremonies usually paid to their Sovereign Princes, 150 of the Principal Citizens going in Procession before the Coach his Grace was in with lighted Flambeaux to the Bishop's Palace, where he was splendidly entertained; and lodged that Night. The Marquis de Terazena, Grandee of Spain, and Governor of the Citadel, who has declared for King Charles the Third, waited on his Grace during the whole Solemnity; and the Streets were crowded with infinite Numbers of People, continually repeating, with the greatest Marks of Joy and Satisfaction imaginable, Long live King Charles the Third. His Grace left Antwerp yesterday early in the Morning, and arrived the same Evening at the Camp.

When the Garrison was to march out according to the Capitulation, one Spanish and one Walloon Regiment stay'd behind them; and of the other Regiments of those Countries, there were scarce 150 left when they parted by Brussels, most of the Officers and Soldiers entering into the service of the Catholic King; as likewise the Marquis de Winterfeld, Lieutenant-General, and Governor of Lier, who commanded the Garrison in the City of Antwerp; and the Baron de Vrangle, a Major-General, being one of the best Quality, and of great Credit among the Troops.

The Troops are to disperse, that Offend and Newport will be both invited at the same time: Monsieur d'Auverquerque, who is to have the Direction of those two Sieges, is to march towards Offend to-morrow with a strong Detachment of Foot, and 30 Squadrons.

The Marquis de Terazena is to advance with some Troops towards Dendermonde, the Inhabitants of which Place seem disposed to follow the Example of their Countrymen, in declaring for their lawful Sovereign.

The Troops of Prussia are come to the Maese, where those of Hanover are expected in two or three Days. My Lord Duke has given Orders for those Troops to advance towards Brussels.

Hague, June 15. N. S. A Detachment from our Army has taken Post at Plasfendale, which will facilitate the Sieges of Offend and Newport. The King of Prussia is expected from Berlin at Cleves the 23d Instant; and his Majesty intends to come from thence hither. There are Letters from Germany which say, the Marshal de Villars was to send a Detachment towards the Netherlands, which will so weaken his Army, that it will be impossible for him to make any further Attempt on that side.

The Address from the Borough of Abingdon, mentioned in the last Gazette, was presented to Her Majesty by Grey Neville Esq; introduced by the Rt. Hon. the Lord Chamberlain.

Notice is hereby given, That a General Court of The Governours of the Bounty of Queen ANNE, to be held on Wednesday the 26th Instant, at 10 of the Clock in the forenoon, at the New Buildings adjoining to the Banqueting-House in Whitehall.

By the Receiver-General for Prizes.
THE NEAR Proceed of the Cargo of the Prize Ship La Seine, taken by Her Majesty's Ships Esquilant, Euxine and Dreadnought, (the Rainbow Privateer in Company) being now adjudget; Notice is hereby given, That the Officers and Companies of the aforesaid Ships will (on Monday the 17th Instant) be paid their just Proportions of the said Prize, according to the Directions in Her Majesty's most Gracious Declaration for the Encouragement of Her Ships of War, &c.
