From Prince Eugene's Camp before Reggio, Aug. 12. N. S.
TH 3rd 7th Infant we decamped from the Neighbourhood of Carpi, leaving a good Garison in that Place, and came to San Martino. We had Advice, That the Duke of Orleans continued in his Camp near Guastalla, having the River Crostolo before him, and was inrenching himself. We were obliged to halt the 8th, to give time to our Bread-Wagons to come up. We received an Account, That the Troops which the Enemy had left along the Mincio, between the Lake de Guarda and Mantua, were retired from thence, except those that were in Garison at Goito; and that the Imperial Troops which had been left near Verona, under the Command of Major-General Wetzell, were preparing to advance that way. The 9th we marched to St. Prosper. We received from Riva a Confirmation of the Enemy's being retired from the Mincio, with Advice, That they had likewise burnt Salo and the Vale Sabbia, having burnt all the Boats with which they used to cruise upon the Lake di Guarda to intercept our Convoys, and 28 Barks more that belonged to the Venetians. The 10th we had an Account, That a Detachment of the Enemy had attacked the Imperial Troops which were sent about a Week before, under the Command of General Roccaione, towards Reggio; but had been soon repulsed with considerable Loss. Another strong Party of the Enemy attempted to seize some of our Ammunition that was lying to Carpi; but our Troops that guarded it fell upon them, and totally routed them, killing several of them, and taking some Prisoners. It being judged necessary, for the better securing of our Communication with Germany, to possess our selves of Reggio, we accordingly marched towards that Place, and the 11th at Night we took Post near the Citadel. The Field-Marshal-General Kriechbaum was ordered with a Detachment of our Troops to attack another part of the Town; and Major-General Zinzendorf with another Detachment passed the Crostolo, to invest the Place on the other side of that River. Colonel Locatelli being sent out with a Party of 50 Horse, met with one of 15 of the Enemy, most of whom he either killed or took Prisoners, without the Loss of one Man on our side. We received Advice from Major-General Wetzell, That he had taken Post at Valeggio on the Mincio, where he had been joined by part of the Hessian Troops; and that the Prince of Hesse was coming up with the remainder of them. This day we carried on our Approaches within 20 Fathom of the Ditch; and we do not doubt but we shall be soon Masters of the Place.

Verona, Aug. 21. The 11th Infant Prince Eugene, with the Imperial Forces under his Command, came before Reggio. The 12th, at Night, the Garison retired out of the Town into the Citadel; whereupon the Imperialists posted some Troops in the Town, and the next Day raised Batteries against the Citadel, and sent a Summons to the Governor, who refused to surrender. Their Batteries having begun to play, the Governor beat a Parley the 14th; but not being admitted to capitulate, he surrendered the same Night at Discretion, and the Garison, consisting of near 1000 Men, remained Prisoners of War. The 15th, Prince Eugene having provided the Town and Castle of Reggio with a strong Garison, and sufficient Stores of Provisions and Ammunition, marched from thence, and encamped between the Rivers Prospero and Lenza. The 16th he passed the River last mentioned, and entered into the Parmesan. The 17th he advanced to St. Donino, intending to continue his March towards Piedmont. The Duke of Orleans not being strong enough to attack the Imperialists, has passed the Po, and marches on the other side of that River to observe them. The French seem to design to make a stand at Stradilla, a difficult Pass which lies in Prince Eugene's Way; but he proceeds with such diligence, that it is hoped he may get thither before they have assembled a sufficient Body of Troops there to dispute his Passage. The Prince of Hesse, with the Troops he has brought from Germany, having joined Major-General Wetzell at Valeggio on the Mincio, has taken the Town of Goito, and is advanced to La Volta, whence the Enemy retired with such Precipitation, that they left behind them a great Magazine of Hay, besides other Stores.

From the French Camp before Turin, August 21. N. S. The 16th Infant the Belieged sprung a Mine under the Lodgment we had made on their Covered-way, which did such Execution, that it destroyed a Battery of 5 Pieces of Cannon we had erected there; and 18 Gunners, a Lieutenant-Colonel, 3 Captains, and between 2 and 300 private Men, were bury'd under the Ruins, of whom no more than 50 escaped alive, and those were all very much wounded, many of them having lost their Limbs. The 17th the Garison set fire to another Mine, but not with equal Success. That Day the Duke de la Feuillade received Advice, That Prince Eugene having taken the Castle of Reggio at Discretion, had passed the River Lenza, and was marching thro' the Parmesan, in order to come to the Relief of Turin; Whereupon Orders were dispatched to a Detachment of Horse and Dragoons, which had been sent to rejoin us. The 18th we began to make a new Lodgment on the Covered-way, and to raise another Battery. The Duke of Savoy came that Day with 3000 Horse and 2 Battalions of regular Troops, and a considerable Body of Militia, to Chieri, on the other side of the Po, and encamped with his Right near that Place, and his Left towards Santena. The Duke de la Feuillade thereupon sent a Reinforcement to our Troops posted that way, with Orders to be upon their Guard. The 19th, before Break of Day, 500 of the Duke of Savoy's Horse passed the Po, in order to get into the Town, each Trooper having a Sack of Gunpowder behind him. The Count d'Etain, who commanded our Forces on that side, having notice of it, marched immediately towards them; but before he could come up with them, some were already got into the Place: He charged the rest, who retired in good Order; however he killed some, and took 15 Prisoners. The Garison, to favour this Design, made a Salley at the same time from another part of the Town; but after a sharp Dispute was repulsed. The 21st the Duke of Savoy retired with his flying Camp towards Carmagnole. This Day two Batteries we have raised upon the Covered-way, one of 11 Pieces of Cannon, the other of 6, began to fire. The Belieged ply us very warmly with their Cannon and Mortars, and the Bombs they throw into our Trenches do us a great deal of Mischief; and their Works being all undermined, we are obliged to carry on our Approaches with a great deal of Caution, which renders this Siege very tedious.
