Edinburgh, October 3.

His being the Day appointed for the meeting of the Parliament, his Grace James Duke of Queensberry, Her Majesty's High Commissioner, came to the Parliament-House, where his Grace's Commission was read, and recorded, as usual. After which Her Majesty's Letter to the Parliament was read, as follows:

ANNE R.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Since your last Meeting We did Nominate Commissioners to treat of an Union betwixt Our Two Kingdoms of Scotland and England, and by their great Care and Diligence a Treaty is happily concluded and laid before Us.

We have called you together as soon as Our Affairs could

We have called you together as soon as Our Affairs could permit, that the Treaty may be under your Consideration, in pursuance of the Ast made in the last Session of Our Parliament there; and We hope the Terms will be acceptable to

The Union has been long desired by both Nations, and We shall esteem it as the greatest Glory of Our Reign to have it now perfected; being fully perswaded, That it must prove the greatest Happiness of Our People.

An entire and perfect Union will be the solid Foundation

An entire and perfect Union will be the folid Foundation of lasting Peace: It will secure your Religion, Liberty and Property; remove the Animosties amongst your selves, and the Jealcuses and Differences betwirt Our Two Kingdoms: It must encrease your Strength, Riches and Trade; and by this Union the whole Island, being joined in Affection, and free from all Apprehension of different Interests, will be enabled to resist all its Enemies, Support the Protestant Interest every where, and maintain the Liberties of Europe.

We do upon this Occasion renew the Assurances We have formerly given you, of Our Resolution to maintain the Government of the Church as by Law established in Scotland: And the Ass of both Parliaments upon which this Treaty proceeded, having reserved their respective Governments of the Church in each Kingdom, the Commissioners have left that Matter entire; and you have now an Opportunity for doing what may be necessary for Security of your present Church-Government, after the Union, within the Limits of Scotland.

The Support of Our Government, and your own Safety, does require that you do make necessary Provision for maintaining the Forces, Ships and Garisons, until the Parliament of Great Britain shall provide for these Ends in the United Kingdom.

We have made Choice of Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, James Duke of Queensbury, to be Our Commissioner, and Represent Our Royal Persen, being well satisfied with his Fitness for that Trust, from the Experience We have of his Capacity, Zeal and Fidelity to Our Service, and the Good of his Country; which, as it has determined Us in the Choice, We doubt not but it will make him acceptable to you.

We have fully instructed him in all Things We think may fall under your Consideration, and seems to be necessary at present: Therefore We destre that you may give entire Trust and Credit to him.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

It earnot but be an Encouragement to you to finish the Union at this Time, that God Almighty has blessed Our Arms, and those of Our Allier, with so great Success, which gives Us the nearer Prospect of a happy Peace, and with it you will have the full Possession of all the Advantages of this Union; and you have no Reason to doubt but the Parliament of England will do what is necessary on their Part, after the Readiness they have shown to remove what might obstruct the entring on the Treaty. We most earnessly Recommend to you Calmness and Unanimity in this Great and Weighty Affair, that the Union may be brought to a happy Conclusion; being the only effectual Way to secure your present and future Happiness, and to disappoint the Designs of Our and your Enemies, who will doubtless, on this Occasion, use their utmost Endeavours to prevent or delay this Union, which must so much contribute to Our Glory, and the Happiness of Our People. And so We bid you heartly farewel.

Given at Our Court at Windfor-Cafile the Thirty first Day of July, 1706. and of Our Reign the Fifth Year.

By Her Majesty's Command,

MAR.

And then his Grace the Lord High Commissioner, and the Lord Chancellor, made the following Speeches.

The Speech of his Grace James Duke of Queensberry, Her Majesty's High Commissioner to the Parliament of Scotland.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

FR Majesty by Her Gracious Letter has acquainted you, That the Treaty of Union between the Kingdoms of Scotland and England (pursuant to an AH made in your last Session) has been happily agreed on, which is now in my Lord Register's Hands, ready to be laid before you.

The Lords Commissioners for this Kingdom have been dili-

The Lord, Commissioners for this Kingdom have been diligent and zealow in concerting just and reasonable Terms; and it must be acknowledged we met with a very fair and friendly Disposition in the Lords Commissioners on the other Part

The Treaty has with all Humility been presented to the Queen, and was most graciously received; and though no Reign was ever so truly great for wise and sleady Councils, and so many important Successes, as that of Her Majesty, yet you see She is pleased to esteem the perfecting of this Union as the greatest Glory of Her Reign, being the most solid Foundation of a lasting Security to the Protestant Religion, and the Liberties of Europe, and of Peace and Happiness to Her People.

These Rensons I doubt not will make the Treaty acceptable to you; and I perswade my self, that you will preceed with such Calmness and Impartiality as the Weight of the Subjest requires, and as becomes so great an Assembly.

The Lords Commissioners for both Kingdoms were limited.

The Lords Commissioners for both Kingdoms were limited in the Matter of Church Government, for the Security of Presbyserian Government in this Church: You have the Laws already made for its Establishment, the Queen's repeated Assurances to preserve it; and I am impowered to consent to what may be further necessary after the Union.

peated Allurances to preferre it; and I am impowered to confent to what may be further necessary after the Union. Her Majesiy has been pleased to Recommend to you to make Provision for the Forces, Skips and Garisons, which is very necessary; the Subsidies granted at your last Meeting being run out: So I doubt not you will speedily renew them.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I am not insensible of the Difficulties that attend the weighty Character it has pleased Her Majesty to henour me with; but with your favourable assistance (upon which I very much rely) I hope, by my Zeal and Fidelity for Her Majesty's Service, and the Good of my Country, which are inseparable, to discharge my Duty in this extraordinary Occasion.

The Speech of James Earl of Seafield, Lord High Chancellor to the Parliament of Scotland.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Thath been, and is, the great Happiness of this Nation, That the Queen, our Sovereign, hath always made is the chief Design of Her Reign, to protest Her Subjects in the Enjoyment of all their Rights and Privileges, to promove their Good, and to establish their Peace and Prosperity upon sure and Listing Foundations. Lasting Foundations.

Isfing Foundations.
For these Ends Her Majesty, in Her mest Gracious Letter, deth mith great Earnestness recommend to you the Concluding of the Union of the Two Kingdoms, and has plainly and fully laid before you the great Advantages that the Union must bring with it to all Britain, and in particular to this Kingdom.
The Lords Commissioners named by Her Majesty for this Kingdom, to treat of this Union, have endeavoured to discharge this great Trust with all Fidelity, and have agreed to such Terms and Conditions as, I hope, shall be sound just, honourable and advantagious. The Treaty has been already received very graciously by Her Majesty, and is now ready to be reported to you for your Consideration. Confideration Gonsideration.

I do not think it proper at this Time to descend into the particular Articles of the Treaty: I shall only beg Leave to say in general, That it must be of great Advantage to have this whole ssaud unite under one Government, and conjoined entirely in Interest and Assection, having Equality of all Rights and Privileges, with a free Communication and Intercourse of Trade, which must certainly establish our Security, augment our Strength, and encrease our Trade and Riches.

We can never expect a more favourable Juncture for compleating this Union than at present, when Her Maissey has not only ing this Union than at present, when Her Majesty has not only recommended it, but declared, That She will esteen it the greatest recommended it, but declared, That She will efteen it the greatest Glory of Her Reign to have it perfected; and when the Parliament of England has shown their inclinations for it, by remaining all these Obstacles that did lie in the way of the Treaty: And it must also be acknowledged, That the Lords Commissioners for England did testify their good Disposition all along in this Affair: And the great and glorious Successes wherewith God her filler, give must be listed Her Majesty's Arms, and those of Her Allies, give must Hope of a near and advantagious Peace, whereby we will be put in the Possession, and actain to the full Enjoyment, of all the Liberties and Privileges of Trade now offered by the Treaty.

The Commissioners of both sides have only treated of such things as concern the Civil Government. Liberties. Privileges, Trade.

as concern the Civil Government, Liberties, Privileges, Trade, and Taxes, but found themselves limited as to the Church Government, that being referved to each Kingdom by the respective Acts of Parliament upon which the Treaty proceeded: And you have now not only the Laws already made, with Her Majelty most gracious repeated Assumes, for maintaining and continuing Presbyterian Church Government within this Kingdom, but this further Opportunity of making such Conditions and Provisions as ball be found necessary for its Security, after the Conclusion of this Union, within the Limits of Scotland.

Her Majesty recommends to you to provide the recessary Supplies for the Iroops, Garisons, and Ships: The Funds sormerly given are expired; and therefore I doubt not but you will easily comply with what is so plainly necessary for the Preservation of the Publick Safety, and preventing the Designs of Enemies now in Time of War.

My Lords and Genylemen vernment, that being reserved to each Kingdom by the respective

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Niy Lords and Gentlemen,

Since we have now the Opportunity of establishing for our selves and our Posterity, by this Union with England, all that concerns our Religion and Liberties, together with the most valuable Privileges of Trade, I am hopeful that you will proceed to the Consideration of the Articles of the Treaty, in such manner as shall bring it to the desired Conclusion; and it cannot but tend to the lasting Honour of this Session of Parliament, to have so happily sinished this most important and weighty Matter.

His Grace the Lord High Commissioner was attended in his going to the Parliament-House by most of the Nobility, Barons, and Members of Parliament, as he was likewife in his Return to Her Majesty's Palace of Holy-Rood-House; where his Grace gave them a noble Entertainment.

Vienua, Off. 5. N.S. Count Zinzendorf, Chancellor of the Court to the Emperor, set out from hence yester-day towards Francfort. Letters from Hungary give an Account, That General Staremberg being marched from Comorra, with the Imperial Army under his Command, came the 25th of the last Month before Neudorf, a Fort in the possession of the Malecontents, within a German Mile of Gran, and situated on the Banks of the Danube, which they had made very strong, to secure a Passage over that River. The Imperialists raised Batteries against this Fort; but finding it would take up too much time to besiege it, they refolved to take it by Storm, which was accordingly performed the 27th about 5 in the Morning, when our Troops assulting the Garison in 6 several Places at once, beat the Enemy from their Works in less than half an Hour, and put most of them to the Sword; the rest were made Prisoners of War, among whom is their Commander in chief, a French Officer, named Chaffan. The next Day the Army marched forward towards Gran, in order to retake that Place, of which the Malecontents had posfessed themselves about 10 or 12 Days before. General Rabutin came the 13th past between Gasprin and Gingifch, which Places the Malecontents had abandoned as they had likewise done Misgoz and Annoth, having first removed their Magazines of Provisions: He continued his March in order to join General Staremberg. Czacki, one of the Generals of the Malecontents, is affembling a Body of Troops on the Borders of Tranfilvania, with intent, as he gives out, to attack Giula,
