DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC AFFAIRS

REFERENCE TO THE NATIONAL BOARD FOR PRICES AND INCOMES

Wages, Costs and Prices in the Printing Industry

Negotiations have been taking place recently between the British Federation of Master Printers and the Newspaper Society (on behalf of the employers) and the Printing and Kindred Trades Federation (on behalf of the nine trade unions involved) on claims for higher wages for workers in the general printing and provincial and suburban newspaper industries. The current wage agreements in these industries expired on 31st March 1965. The Government understand that the Executive Councils of the Unions have decided to recommend to their members acceptance of negotiated terms of settlement which provide for an increase of 10s. 6d. on basic weekly rates for printing craftsmen; a further 12s. increase from 1st January 1966 (of which up to 6s. would be set off against accrued cost of living bonus); and improvements in the cost of living bonus scheme. This follows increases of 3s. in basic weekly rates and 7s. 4d. in cost of living bonus which became payable from 1st January 1965 under the previous agreements and a third week's holiday with pay which came into effect following ratification of the agreement in January 1965.

The employers consider that their pay offer is fair and reasonable, having regard to the general position of the industry and to the agreed national policy for prices and incomes. However, taking into account the improvements that have already come into effect this year, the proposals would appear to be out of line with the considerations set out in paragraphs 11-15 of "General Considerations Relating to Prices and Incomes" (Part I of the White Paper on Prices and Incomes Policy, Cmnd. 2639).

The Government are concerned firstly about the extent to which failure to absorb higher costs in the printing industry by increased productivity and efficiency could result in price increases that would not be in accordance with the criteria for price behaviour set out in paragraphs 9-10 of Part I of the White Paper and which could have a widely diffused effect on industrial costs generally; and secondly, about the possible influence which these proposals, following on the improvements already made, could have on pay negotiations in other industries.

The Board are accordingly requested to examine and report on these issues in the light of the national interest
