MINISTRY OF DEFENCE

Whitehall, London S.W.1.

25th January 1966.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to approve the following award:

Bar to the Air Force Cross

Flight Lieutenant Robert Vernon Anthony MUNRO, A.F.C. (584210), Royal Air Force.

On 24th September 1965, Flight Lieutenant Munro was flying a Kestrel aircraft on a trials sortie which was planned to end at West Raynham with a decelerating transition. Shortly after the start of this manoeuvre and while the airspeed was falling rapidly past the aircraft's conventional stalling speed, Flight Lieutenant Munro found that fore and aft movement of the control column had become restricted. During a transition, precise longitudinal control is vital to maintain the aircraft in a safe attitude. Reacting extremely quickly to the situation, Flight Lieutenant Munro managed to restore the aircraft to conventional flight before it became uncontrollable and found by experiment that the tail trim was ineffective and that the tail-plane could be moved over a small range only by using considerable force. Since there was a risk that the controls might lock completely in an out of trim condition, Flight Lieutenant Munro decided to leave the control column in its existing fore and aft position and to carry out a circuit and landing using engine power to control altitude and rate of descent. Flight Lieutenant Munro would have been fully justified in ejecting from the aircraft. Instead he elected to carry out an extremely hazardous landing which, through outstanding airmanship and courage, he achieved without causing damage to the aircraft. By his skill and presence of mind he not only saved a valuable aircraft but also enabled the cause of the control restriction to be determined, thus eliminating possible future failures and increasing the safety of flight for others.
