The London Gazette.

Dubliched by Authority.

From Monday, February 21. to Churlony February 24. 1669.

Barnftable, Feb. 18.

His day arrived here the Bideford Merchant of this Port from Lisbonne, and the Royalty likewise of this Port from Cadis, being two vessels employed hence upon the Fishing Trade to Newfoundland.

Ckester, Feb. 19. The Rainbow of Leverpool bound for Dublin laden with Wooll and other Goods abou: a League from Leverpool sprang a Leak and foundred in the sea, the Master with Six men and two passengers happily escaped in the boat, leaving his Brother with one of his servants and 14 passengers in the ship, which in little time such to the bottom.

Several thips are fafely here arrived from Dublin.

Lyme, Feb. 19. The 17th Instant arrived here the Margaret of this place, in three dayes from St. Malos, laden with Canvas; the Master and People aboard her confirm the arrival of the New-Spain Fleet at St. Lucars; and, that several French men of Warr are fitted up at Brest, the Souldiers Raised, and Seamen Prest, and ready to be sent on Board those Ships designed for Madagascar and the East-Indies.

Cadis, Ian. 25. We have this certain account of the proceeding of Sir Thomas Allon with the Fleet under his Command; that on the 31 past he endured a great storm, but without any other damage then the splitting of some fails, and the 1st instant the wind being abated found all his Company even beyond expectation in view; the next day he plyed to the Westwards to meet and secure the Herring-Fleet. The 3d instant setcht up a French Tartan coming from Carthagens, who informed him of 47 Turks and Moors, which were there remaining out of above 200, whose thip had been forced on shorr by some of Sir Thomas Allens squadron the 14th past off Cape Palos. The fixth instant at night plying still to the Westward he found the Herring Fleet, and with them Captain Holmes, with whom he joyned also the Portland to lecure their passage to Legorn: the 11th instant being by Easterly winds driven into Malaga Road, he took care for the disposal of two prizes which were formerly put in there, and finding there several Fish ships and one other extraordinary rich Merchant thip, he ordered the Milford and Pearl to conduct them thence to Alscant; the 12th he failed from that Road, and met with the Mary, Briftol, Forefight and Spread-Eagle with a Convoy of 15 Merchants from Malaga: the 13th instant he past the Streights with many Merchants under his protection; and the next day came to an Anchor in this Bay, where he fpent fome days in taking in fresh provisions, the 19th instant he went out of this Bay, and the 21 having convoyed a Fleet of 30 Merchants as far as Cape St Marys, committed them to the protection of the Milford.

Cadis, Ian. 30. The 22 instant Sir Tho. Allen convoy'd cadis, Ian. 30. The 22 instant Sir Tho. Allen convoy'd the Merchant Fleet as far as the Cape St Vincent, and the 24th took leave of them; the next day anchored in Logos Bay, and took in a supply of Wood for necessary wies, and the 29th came to an Anchor in the Bry of Cadia, where he found the Iersey and Centurion, with a Convoy of Merchants homewards bound; the Iersey passing by Inica, saw neer that Island a Fleet of 16 sai, which he judged to be French men of war.

The Emperour of Morocco has made good his word to his Excellency the Lord Honard, and cauled all the English which were taken by the Sally men fince the Truce made with him to be restored to their liberty.

Warfaw, Feb. 2. All things are preparing for the intended Marriage of the King, who upon information that his Royal Spoule has left Vienna, intends the 8th instant to leave this place and begin his journey to Czen, lachow, a confiderable part of his baggage being already parted , the Emperours Resident, the Popes Nuncio, and Sir Peter Wich His Mojesty of Great Britains Envoye Extraordinary, are invited to be present at the solemnity of the Marriage, but the Nobless still continue to be distatisfyed, and the Primate has written several Letters to the King and the Vice-Chautellour of the Crown full of complaints and reproaches, that an affair of to great consequence as this is should be privately carried on without the confest and advice of the States; the faid Primate, the Bishop of Cracew, and the Bishop of Plosky, either of whose Office it is to Marry the King, have excused themselves from the journey to Grenftochow, so that tis believed the Ceremony will be performed by the Popes Nuncio: the Pomp and Magnificence of this Wedding is referved for this place, where Three Triemphal Arches are to be erected, one towards the Arienal, and two others in the great place of this City.

Most of the Dicties are ended with approbation of the Marriage, that of Sendomire is broken off by the peevishness of two or three persons only, who protested against the proceedings of the rest, but shole States have sent to desire His Majesties Letters to empowe them to meet the second time.

The Sieur Wisouski has received his dispatches and infiructions, and may in sew days set forwards on his Embassy to the Ottoman Court, according to the resolution taken in the last Diet.

Our Treaty with the Muscovites is broken off, and our Commissioners returning home, the divisions within this Kingdom giving that people too much reason to resule the surrender of Kiovia, and to believe they may farther make use of this opportunity of raising an advantage to themselves from our disorders. The Great Duke of Muscovy intends to marry again, and has taken a view of several Ladies, amongst whom he has taken particular notice of two, who are persons of great Beauty though but mean extraction.

The Tartars of Bialogrod are retired out of Ukranio, where they made great spoil, but were forced by General Sobiesky (who attended them with a strong party) to leave a considerable part of their booty behind them a tisubelieved that the occasion of their Retreat might be the news of the dea h of the Bassa of Silistriae

Madrid, Feb. 5, The Queen Regent employs most of her time in publick affairs, but has not yet nominated any person to succeed the Prince de Ligne in his Gharge of the Cavalry in Flanders, but its believed Her Majesty is much inclined to confer it on some eminent person of that Countrey, she having expressed her self very sensible of the many services done by them to the Crown of Spain during the late wars.

The Arrival of the New-Spain Fleet the first Instant at Sc. Lucar, gives no small satisfaction to this Court, as well as to the Merchants; it consisted of 22 Ships, who, besides other Rich Lading, bring with thom a large proportion of Silver upon His Majesties Account. The Gallions may be expected about the end of this Moneth.

Rana