

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Sunday June 13. to Thursday June 16. 1709.

St. James's, June 14.

THE following Addresses having been transmitted by his Excellency Thomas Earl of Wharton, Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, were presented to Her Majesty by the Right Honourable the Earl of Sunderland, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Knights, Citizens and Burgesses in Parliament assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects beg Leave to return our most humble Acknowledgment and Thanks for your Majesty's most Gracious Answer to our Address, in which your Majesty is pleased to take notice of our Expressions of Duty and Loyalty

Your Majesty's Care of our Welfare will enable your faithful Commons, by Actions, as well as Words, to let the World see how entirely they are devoted to your Majesty's Service; and how low forever the present Condition of this Kingdom is, we cannot but promise our selves, from your Majesty's Goodness, that it shall once again flourish, to the Honour of your Majesty, and to the Ease and Satisfaction of all your Majesty's Protestant Subjects.

Long may your Majesty live to support, as you have restored, the Liberties of Europe; to obtain which Blessing nothing in our Power shall be wanting that may contribute thereto.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Arch-Bishops, Bishops, and the rest of the Clergy of the Church of Ireland, in Convocation assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, by our Profession and Inclination always nearly interested in every thing that concerns your sacred Person, partaking in all your Afflictions, and rejoicing in all your Successes, do take this first Opportunity of our meeting in Convocation, to condole with your Majesty upon the Death of that Excellent Prince your Royal Consort; and at the same time, to congratulate you on the Gracious and Remarkable Providences which have always attended your Reign.

And as we are deeply sensible of the many Blessings we have received by your Majesty's happy Accession to the Throne of your Royal Ancestors, so we shall, upon all Occasions, contribute what in us lies to support you in it, and maintain the Succession as by Law Established in the Protestant Line against all Pretenders whatsoever.

May Almighty God make up the Loss of your Royal Consort in the Love and Affections of your People, and a constant Supply of Personal and National Blessings; may he still continue to reward your Exemplary Piety, your Care of the established Church, and Zeal for the Common Good of your Subjects, and of all Europe, with a constant Course of Victories, or with the more desirable Blessing of an honourable and lasting Peace.

Which Addresses Her Majesty received very graciously.

To his Excellency Thomas Earl of Wharton, Lord-Lieutenant-General and General-Governor of Ireland.

The humble Address of the Arch-Bishops, Bishops, and the rest of the Clergy of the Church of Ireland, in Convocation assembled.

May it please your Excellency,

WE acknowledge Her Majesty's Care of us, in appointing a Person of such eminent Abilities and great Experience to be our chief Governor. We are truly sensible of your Excellency's good Inclinations and Affection to this Country, and therefore cannot doubt but you will have a particular Regard to the Welfare and Security of the Church as by Law established, which is the main Support and Strength of the English Interest in this Kingdom.

And we beg leave upon this Occasion to represent to your Excellency, that it hath been the constant Practice as well as Principle of our Church, to pursue Peace, and cultivate a good Understanding amongst all Men; and as we have always hitherto avoided doing any thing which might cause uneasiness to any of our Fellow-Subjects, so neither shall we by our future Behaviour give them a just reason of Offence.

We shall make it our Care and Endeavour to preserve a perfect Union and Friendship amongst our selves, and that there be no Contention amongst us, out who may shew most Zeal for Her Majesty's Service, for the promoting true Religion and Piety, and (under a full assurance of your Excellency's Favour) for making your Government easy and prosperous.

St. James's, June 14. Yesterday in the Evening Count Kuffstein, Envoy-Extraordinary from the Emperor to condole the Death of his Royal Highness Prince George, (introduced by the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Boyle,) had his private Audience of Leave of Her Majesty.

Vienna, June 8. N. S. The Swedish Ministers in these Parts have received, by the way of Poland, a Journal of the Motions of the King of Sweden's Army in Ukrania, from the beginning of January to the 11th of April, N. S. This Relation contains an Account of the several Rencontres that have passed between Parties of the Swedish and Russian Armies; and says, that in the Month of February the King of Sweden, with the greatest part of his Army, entered the Frontiers of Muscovy, in order to engage his Enemy in a general Action. But the Muscovites declining a Battle, and retiring still further into the Country, and a sudden Thaw having then rendered the Rivers impassable, his Swedish Majesty returned again into Ukrania, having burnt all the Towns and Villages on the Frontiers of Muscovy for the Space of seven Leagues. On the 14th of March his Swedish Majesty arrived at Budestin, and quartered his Army between the Rivers Pizol and Worzlo. By this Means he blocked up Pulrawa, in which Place were five thousand Muscovites, There he intended to continue till the Forage should be sprung up. This Account adds, that the General of the Cossacks, who are distinguished by the Name of Zaporowitz, had submitted himself to the King of Sweden's Protection, bringing over with him an Army of 15000 Men, which he assured his Swedish Majesty he would soon augment to a greater number, and with it invade Muscovy. He gave likewise the King of Sweden hopes, that the Tartars, as also the Danish Cossacks, would soon follow his Example. Last Night the Emperor and Empress returned from Laxenberg to the Favourite, where they intend to reside during the Summer-Season. Last Week a Courier arrived here from Barcelona, who left that Place on the sixteenth of May. All the Troops were then on their March towards the Segra, where they were to Rendezvous. Marshal Staremberg was to set out thither in a few Days; and it was thought the King himself would go into the Field this Campaign. Prince Adam of Liechtenstein and Count Traun, the Emperor's Commissioners to the Diet of Hungary, are gone to Presburg; and have carried with them his Imperial Majesty's Resolutions touching the Grievances of that Kingdom. Marshal Heister intended to set out from hence this Day, in order to open the Campaign in those Parts, and to restrain the Excursions of the Hungarians. The Malecontents attempted some Days ago to put in a Supply of Provisions into Neuhausel, but the Germans having timely notice of it, defeated their Design, beat their Convoy, and seized on their Provisions. 'Tis said, the Danish Troops will begin their March out of Hungary