Vienna, July 24. N. S. Letters from Hungary advise that General Heister having retaken Scheinbeck from the Malecontents, was encamped with his Army at Scharwar; from whence he sends frequent Detachments of his Cavalry to disturb and incommodate the Enemy, who continue to burn and pillage the Country wherever they come. The Imperial Troops which were posted at Leventz retired from that Place, on the approach of Prince Ragotski with the main Body of his Army. General de Croix, who is encamped with a Body at Altenbourg, will speedily be in motion to join General Heister; after which it is hoped he will be in a condition to undertake some Enterprize of importance. We have received Advice, that twenty five Villages of the Malecontents have lately submitted themselves to his Imperial Majesty; and that they have plundered the Country, and destroyed the Habitations of those who continue in the Interest of Prince Ragotski. Count Hannibal Heister is set at Liberty, after having been three Years a Prisoner of the Malecontents; at the same time several of their principal Officers, who were the Emperors Prisoners, obtained their Enlargement. We have received Advice, that there has lately happened a great Fire at Oimutz in Moravia, which had almost reduced that Place to Ashes. Count Traun, an Imperial Commissary, is lately returned from the Diet of the States of Hungary, assembled at Presbourg, and has brought with him the Answer of the States of that Kingdom to the late Resolution of the Emperor concerning the Redress of their Grievances. It is said the Deputies are much divided in their Opinions, some demanding a more ample Satisfaction than that to which his Imperial Majesty has condescended; others relying upon the Emperor's Promise, that all things shall be settled according to their Expectation as soon as the posture of Affairs will permit. They add, that there are no less Difficulties on the Account of Religion, the Roman Clergy having discovered great uneasiness at the Emperor's Promise, that no Person shall suffer any molestation on account of his Faith; and insist, that it should be declared, that the Protestants shall not enjoy the same Privileges as the Roman Catholics; or at least, that such Freedom as shall be allowed to the former, shall depend upon the Will and Discretion of the respective Governors, or Lords of the Country, by whom they shall be liable to be banished from, or suffered to remain within their Jurisdictions, as such respective Governors or Lords shall think fit: On the other side, the Protestants insist on their Rights with great Constancy, which has occasioned violent Animosities between them and the Ecclesiastics, the latter being supported by many of the Deputies of their own Religion. The Act for the Confiscation of the Estates of such Hungarians as shall continue in Arms is sent back hither, in order to receive some Concessions from the Emperor in favour of those Malecontents, after which it will be returned for the Approbation of the Diet. The Danish Troops which are in Hungary have Orders to begin their March to-morrow towards Saxony. The Infantry are to pass through Moravia, and the Horse through Austria. The Pestilence, which rages at Buda and Alba Regalis, has occasioned very severe Orders against any Commerce with those Places.

Frankfort, July 31. N. S. The Prince of Nieubourg, Grand Master of the Teutonic Order, set out yesterday on his Journey to Dusseldorp, General Thungen hath received Orders from his Imperial Majesty to act offensively against the Enemy, who by reason of the great Detachments sent into Flanders, are much inferior to us in Number. Hereupon that General sent an Express to the Elector of Hanover, to desire him to hasten his departure for the Army; and we hear that his Electoral Highness hath fixed on the fifth of August to begin his Journey for this Place, and he is expected here within eight Days. We are assured, that on the arrival of his Highness the Imperial Army will pass the Rhine, to force the Enemies Lines on the Lower, for which purpose General Thungen hath already caused Bridges to be laid over that River near Schrech. The Enemy have assembled all the Forces they had in Alsatia behind those Lines. The Prince of Wirtemberg, Governor of Landau, hath visited the Lines which the French have cast up near Weissenbourg; he found there many Redoubts, but most of them defenceless for want of Men, which confirms the repeated Advices we have received of the weakness of the Enemy. Letters from Dresden say, that King Augustus returned there on the twenty second, attended by a numerous Train of Nobility and Foreign Gentry. These Letters add, that the Troops which were commanded to march towards the Lower Lusatia, had received new Instructions, wherein those Orders were countermanded.

Waterford, July 25. Capt. Saunders, with Comrades Her Majesty's Ship, the Shorehata, having received advice that a Privateer had landed near Dungarvan and done much Damage, and that two or three more were in the Offin of larger force, he sailed out of this Harbour on the 23^d about seven in the Morning; and discovered one of the Privateers with two Prizes close in with the Shore. As soon as she espied the Queen's Ship giving her Chace, she Rationed her two Prizes. About eleven Capt. Saunders came up with her, and forced her on Shore in Tramore Bay; but not thinking it safe to come nearer than within half Gun shot, he cast Anchor in three Fathom Water, and fired several Shots at her, all perceiving the Privateer landing her Men, with their Arms, he mounted his Boat with as many armed Men as she could well carry (being about fifteen) and sent them on Shore. The French were sixty in number, and having under Shelter of their Ship formed themselves in a Body, they attacked the Men of the Shoreham after they were landed, who fought them with much Bravery. Upon the noise of Firing, the Country, and a Detachment of Soldiers from their neighbouring Quarters, came in: But before the Soldiers appeared the French had laid down their Arms.

Wilmington, July 30. Yesterday arrived the Neptune Privateer of Middleburg, Captain Peter Garerison Commander, and hath brought in with him a French Ship as Prize from Nantes, bound for Guiney, twenty four Guns and ninety Men.
