(Made 6th October 1972)

Under section 9 of the Diseases of Animals Act 1950 (as amended by section 105 of the Agriculture Act 1970) the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food and the Secretary of State for Scotland have power to vaccinate any animal which is in an infected area for the purposes of that Act.

A person on whom such a requirement is imposed must comply with the terms of any notice served on him at the time requiring him within 24 hours to state in writing for what other relevant animals within a radius of 10 miles he is also responsible.
