THe 3d instant came in here the Samuel and Mary of Bristol from Virginia laden with Tobacco, intending for Holland, telling us of the fruitfulness of this last year, but that a great sickness has been lately amongst the Planters.

Bristol, April 9. Here are lately arrived from Virginia, the Richard of this place, the Concord, the Tryal, and the Loves increase, all of them laden with Tobacco, The John and Mary of London from Lisbonne with Oyl and Sugars, the Prince from Rochelle with Salt and Wine; the Charles of Minehead from Fyal, and the William and James of London from Mexis.

Plymouth, April 10. This day arrived here the Advice Fregat bound for Tangier, the St George of London for Bilboa, and the Italian Merchant of London for the Streights.

Weymouth, April 11. The tenth instant arrived here two small vessels of this Port from Kochelle, but heard not any thing of any Turks men of war in the Channell, one of them only met with a French Merchant ship who had been outwards bound, but springing his main Mast, was forced to bear home again for France, who told him, that off the Burlings he met with an Argier man of war, which advised him to hasten away, for that there was a Sally man of war near him.

Vienna, April 5. Several Papers of importance were found at the seizure of the Count de Tattenbach, which have made a great discovery of the whole design of the Count Serini: the same party which seized his person at an Assembly of the States of Stiria, found in the search of one of his houses, 100 thousand Rixdollars, and above as many French Crowns, with Arms for 6000 men.

Father Forstal who was employd hither by the Count Serini to mediate for his reconciliation, was dismiss'd the Court on Wednesday last without any satisfactory answer. Prince Lobkowitz only writing to the said Count a Letter, but in such general terms, as will give him but little reason to presume of the Emperours favour.

This week arrived here in post from Carelstadt the Count de Paradeis, giving the Emperour this account, that the Marquis Frangipani the Count Serini's brother-in-law, was with a considerable body advanced near the Town of Zagrabia to summon the inhabitants to joyn with the Count Serini, but the Count d'Herberstein, the General of Croatia, and Governour of Carelstadt, having intelligence of their motion, had drawn together a body of 1500 horse, with whom he fell with much courage upon the Marquis, and after a sharp dispute defeated him, who with much difficulty saved himself; in this encounter was seized a Turkish Aga, with several Letters of importance written to him by Count Serini.

Since this defeat, Count Serini is with the said Marquis and about 2000 men retired into the Fort of Czakonshurme, where the Count d'Herberstein is investing him with an Army of about 8000 men, the rest of the Imperial forces marching from all places to form a Siege and oblige him to a surrender.

The Count Serini has by his Letters to the Bishop of Newshadt, desired to intercede with the Emperour for his pardon.

The Hereditary Provinces are raising forces for the Emperours service, whose Army will in little time be increased 30 thousand men, besides the forces which are in the severall Garrisons.

Upon the news of these disorders in Hungary, the Electors of Saxony and Brandenburg have sent to offer their assistance to the Emperour for the reducing that kingdom to his obedience.

Venice, April 5. Upon the News of the arrival of our Captain-General Norfini, in Istria, severall Barks were immediately ordered out to attend him hither, but were hindred from putting out by contrary winds. On Monday last the said Generalissimo arrived here, forty Barks filled with his Relations, and the Officers which had served under his Command went out to meet him, and conducted him to this City. Six other Ships which came out with him from the Levant, are yet at Istria, whereon are embarked above 2000 Souldiers, and above 60 Officers; who, being most of them German, it is thought fit to land them at Trieeste, being the most convenient Port, from whence they may march with most speed to the Emperours Service, who has recalled all the Officers and Souldiers employed in the Service of this Republick, and intends to make use of them for the reducing the Kingdom of Hungary to his Obedience.

General Heister, and Count Veterani intend to leave this place on Monday next; Count Portia suddenly may follow them with his Regiments, and the other German Souldiers are here remaining.

Prince Euest of Brunswick Lunenbourg, lately arrived here from Rome, is sending away his Train for Germany, and will in few dayes follow in person.

The Marquis de St. Andre Montbrun continues yet in the service of this Republick, and is still at Corfu, taking care of the Fortifications both there and in Cephalonia.

A Vessel lately arrived at Corfu from Candia, affirms, That the Turkish Fleet was daily expected there from Nigroponte, to attend the Visier to Salonica.

Hague, April 18. The Duke of Lorraine has employed hither one of his Counsel the Heer Risencourt, who was yesterday admitted to his Audience, where having communicated his Letters of Credence, he gave thanks in his Masters name to the States, for the free offer of their Mediation in the differences with the Prince Elector Palatine; declaring the Duke his Masters readines to submit all his interest to their arbitration.

The Rhinegrave seems to be very apprehensive lest some design may be formed against Maastricht, the place of his Government, upon information given him that the Prince of Conde is designed to command a considerable body of an Army about Charleroy.

The Spanish Ambassador has by a late Memorial presented to the States, discovered also the like apprehension, and that the Constable of Castile is not fully satisfy'd with the intentions of the French, and therefore presses them to reinforce their Garrisons on the frontiers, and to augment the number of their recruits; the Five thousand already resolved on, being supposed by him to be too small a number, considering the present posture of affairs.

Upon the desires of the Rhinegrave, the States have ordered the Fleer Bredrodes Troop, and one other greater Troop
