

Admiralty-Office, October 14. 1709.

Whereas the Reverend Mr. Gifford, late Captain of her Majesty's Ship the Arcton, did on the second of October, 1709, make the Confession of Thomas Hermitage, a Boy belonging to the said Ship, relating to the Evidence that he had given on the Trial of Mr. John Bowen, for the Death of William Smith, and the Reasons that induced him to give the said Evidence; and the said Bowen being to be tried again on Tuesday the 25th Instant, upon an Appeal brought by the Relations of the Deceased: It is the Directions of my Lord High-Admiral, that the said Mr. Gifford do forthwith repair to Town, and come to this Office, that he may confront the said Hermitage, who now pretends that he was frightened by Mr. Gifford into his said Confession.

Thomas Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, &c. Lord High-Admiral of Great Britain and Ireland, &c. having ordered the Men belonging to the Affiance and Northumberland to be removed into other of her Majesty's Ships at Portsmouth, his Lordship is therefore pleased to direct, that all the Men belonging to the said Ships Affiance and Northumberland, which are in and about London, do immediately repair to Portsmouth, that so they may be put on Board the Ships they are to be removed to (where they will be paid) otherwise they will forfeit their Wages, and be taken up, and punished as Deserters.

Whereas frequent Applications have been made to the Lord High-Admiral of Great Britain, &c. for the Discharge of Men from her Majesty's Ships, on account of their being by Age, or other Infirmities, rendered incapable for further Service, and on several other Pretences, which Applications do much interrupt the carrying on the Publick, and consequently more necessary Services: And whereas there is reason to believe, that several Persons, for the sake of private Advantage, have occasioned these so frequent Applications, and that Affidavits have been made, wherein the Circumstances of many Men are very much misrepresented, it often having appeared to be so, when conditional Orders have been sent to the Captains of the Ship: whereto the Men do belong: His Lordship hath therefore thought it necessary to direct, that whenever the Captains of Her Majesty's Ships or Vessels shall find any Man or Men unfit for longer Service, either by Age, Wounds, or other Infirmities, they do forthwith discharge them, that so the Crown may not be put to the unnecessary Expence of maintaining those in Wages and Victuals, who are not capable of earning the same; and that they insert in their Tickets the reason of their Discharge. And for preventing Irregularities in Impressing Men for the Service of Her Majesty's Fleet, his Lordship doth hereby strictly charge and require, not only the Commanders, but Lieutenants and Officers of Her Majesty's Ships, that they do not Impress any Persons whatsoever, who are not qualified and capable to do Her Majesty's Service at Sea; nor any who are actually Servants by Indentures to Tradesmen, or Apprentices, or others that do actually serve in Ships or Vessels who are or shall be Protected for such Service, pursuant to a late Act of Parliament: in that behalf, unless the Commanders or Officers of the said Ships and Vessels of Her Majesty's shall be fully satisfied the said Persons have formerly been in the publick Service, and that they deserted the same.

Whereas Mr. Dudley Carleton, of London, Merchant, was on Friday the 23d of September last, about six a Clock in the Evening, found Robb'd and Murder'd near a House commonly called the Rosemary Branch, alias Halfway-House, between London and Newington, in the Fields between Cambray-House and Sir George Whitechurche's, in the Parish of Islington in the County of Middlesex: For the more effectual Discovery of the Person who were Guilty of this barbarous Murder, and in order to bring them to condign Punishment, Her Majesty (at the humble Suit of the Brothers of the Deceased) is pleased to promise Her most gracious pardon to any one Person concerned therein (except the Person who who actually killed Mr. Carleton) who shall discover his Accomplices in the said horrid Crime, so as they or any of them may be apprehended and convicted of the same.

SUNDERLAND.

And as a further Encouragement to such Discovery, the said Mr. Dudley Carleton's Brothers do promise a Reward of fifty Pounds to any Person or Persons whatsoever who shall first discover the said Murderers, or any of them, so as they or any of them shall be convicted of the same. Which said sum of fifty Pounds shall be paid by Mr. Edward Carleton, Merchant, in Trogmorton street, London, immediately after such Conviction.

The Commissioners for Victualling her Majesty's Navy having received a Letter by the Post, dated the 14th Instant, signed T. W. giving an Account of some Abuses in the Victualling at Dover, do hereby give Notice, That if the Person who sent the said Letter will come to their Office, and make out his Allegations, he shall have all fitting Encouragement.

Whereas several have pretended to sell Shares of the Benefit to arise from Her Majesty's Grant to the Right Honourable Thomas Lord Fairfax, Baron of Cameron in the Kingdom of Great Britain, for taking up Wrecks in the West-Indies: To prevent Persons from being imposed on by such as have no legal Title, the Original, with his Lordship's Endorsements thereon, are to be seen at the Office of James Puckle, Notary, near the Royal Exchange, London.

These are to give Notice, That at a General Meeting of the Bond-Creditors and Adventurers of the Royal African Company of England, held the 18th Instant, it was unanimously agreed that it be referred to the Grand Committee, to advise with Council in what manner the said Company may best preserve and prefer the Interest of those that have or shall subscribe (in case the Coalition doth not take Effect) within the time now to be limited for taking the said subscription, and to report the same at the next General Meeting after the Expiration of that time; and agreed, that the said time for taking the said Subscription be prolonged and limited to Thursday the 27th of this Instant October.
