the feveral Conferences, and by unfair Representations of Matters of Fact, and false Infinuations, endeavouring to throw the blame of the ill success of those Negotiations on the Allies. It is looked upon here as a plain discovery of the Infincerity of the French during this whole Affair; and being laid before the Deputies for Foreign Affairs, and by them communicated to the Ministers of all the Allies, it was unanimously concluded (fince the French had declared they thought any further Conferences useless, and had rejected the Proposals made to them) that it concerned the Allies no longer to give Credit to the Professions of the Enemy, but to continue the War with the utmost Vigour. These Sentiments of the Ministers of the Allies were immediately communicated to the States-General, who came to a Refolution, which was fent the same Evening to the Ministers of France, in Answer to their Letter, accompasied with a few Lines from the Pensionary, by a Domestick of the Abbot de Polignac; and we are fince advited that they are preparing to return to France. This. Letter of the French Ministers is por yet published; but it is faid, that they themselves caused Copies to be dispersed at Amsterdam and Rotterdam, with a defign to infinuate to the People that their Endeavours have been sincere towards obtaining a Peace. An Answer to the same, together with a more faithful and exact Relation of the Proceedings throughout the whole Negotiation, will be speedily made Publick here. To Morrow the States of Holland intend to Adjourn themselves to that Dzy Fortnight. A Company of Enthusiasts and pretended Prophets having deligned to fet up Meetings at Rotterdam, the Ma-gistrates of that City judged it convenient to Banish them out of their Territories, which was accordingly executed 12st Week.
