"The Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury hereby give notice that, at a Trial of the Pyx begun at Goldsmiths' Hall in the City of London on the 15th day of February 1979 and concluded on the 11th day of May 1979 the following verdict of the Pyx Jury was delivered to the Queen's Remembrancer, viz.:

TRIAL OF THE PYX VERDICT

1. We, the undersigned, were duly sworn on the 15th February 1979 before the Queen's Remembrancer at Goldsmiths' Hall in the City of London to assay gold, silver, silver Maundy and cupro-nickel coins of Her Majesty, which were produced to us by officers of the Royal Mint. Accounts of the Deputy Master and Controller of the Royal Mint similarly produced to us showed that the coins had been made by the Royal Mint between the 1st January 1978 and the 31st December 1978 inclusive in accordance with the Coinage Act 1971, a Proclamation made on the 20th December 1968 relating to coins of fifty new pence and Proclamations made on the 23rd October 1972 and the 15th December 1976 relating to coins of twenty-five new pence. Those accounts also showed that the coins had been set aside for the trial of the Pyx as prescribed by the Trial of the Pyx Order 1975.

2. In this verdict any reference to the permitted variation from standard weight, fineness, composition or diameter is to such variation from the standard weight, fineness, composition or diameter as is allowed by the Coinage Act 1971 and the Proclamations made on the 20th December 1968, the 23rd October 1972 and the 15th December 1976.

3. We ascertained the number of coins in each packet produced to us and that it corresponded with the number which the officers of the Royal Mint represented the packet to contain.

4. Gold Coins

(a) We took out from each of the one hundred and twenty-seven packets of gold coins one sovereign.

(b) We weighed in bulk the sovereigns taken out and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being point one seven (+ 0.17) of a gram above standard weight.

(c) We then melted those sovereigns into an ingot and assayed it, comparing it with the standard trial plate of gold produced to us by officers of the Department of Prices and Consumer Protection, and we found that the ingot was within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the amount of the variation being point nought one (+0.01) parts per thousand above standard fineness.

(d) We weighed in bulk the residue of the coins remaining in the packets of gold coins and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being three point six eight (-3.68) grams below standard weight.

(e) We then took out from that residue six sovereigns and weighed and assayed them separately. We found that each of the sovereigns so weighed was within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amounts of the variations being point nought nought nought two (+0.0002), point nought nought one two (+0.0012), point nought nought one five (+0.0015), point nought nought eight one (+0.0081) and point nought nought nine four (+0.0094) of a gram above standard weight and point nought nought one three (-0.0013) of a gram below standard weight. We also found that each of the sovereigns so assayed was within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the amounts of the variations being point nought four (+0.04), point nought six (+0.06), point nought eight (+0.08), point one nought (+0.10) and point two four (+0.24) parts per thousand above standard fineness and point one four (-0.14) parts per thousand below standard fineness.

5. Silver Maundy Coins

(a) We weighed in bulk all the silver Maundy coins produced to us and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being point nought four (+0.04) of a gram above standard weight.

(b) We then assayed those silver Maundy coins, comparing them with the standard trial plate of silver produced to us by officers of the Department of Prices and Consumer Protection, and we found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the amount of the variation being one point six (+0.16) parts per thousand above standard fineness.

6. Silver coins of twenty-five new pence

(a) We ascertained that all the silver coins of twenty-five new pence contained in the packets weighed less than one kilogram and more than five hundred grams.

(b) We weighed all the silver coins in bulk and found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being point six (+0.6) of a gram above standard weight.

(c) We then assayed all the silver coins, comparing them with the standard trial plate of silver produced to us by officers of the Department of Prices and Consumer Protection, and we ascertained that the coins were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the amount of the variation being two point eight (+2.8) parts per thousand above standard fineness.

7. Cupro-Nickel Coins

(a) We ascertained that of the cupro-nickel coins contained in the packets produced to us the coins of each of the denominations of fifty, ten and five new pence weighed more than one kilogram and the coins of the denomination of twenty-five new pence weighed less than one kilogram.

(b) From each packet of coins of fifty, ten and five new pence, we took out sufficient coins and grouped them into ten lots so that each lot comprised coins of the same denomination and weighed not less than nine hundred and eighty grams nor more than one kilogram.

(c) We then weighed each of those lots in bulk and found that it was on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amounts of the variations being as follows:

for six lots of coins of point one (+0.1), point fifty new pence: seven (+0.7), one point seven (+1.7) and two (+2.0) grams above and point nine (-0.9) of a gram below standard
weight;

for two lots of coins of point eight (+0.8) and one
ten new pence: point eight (+1.8) grams above standard weight; and for two lots of coins of one point two (+1.2) and five new pence: one point four (+1.4) grams above standard

(d) We weighed in bulk the residue of the coins remaining in the packets of coins of fifty, ten and five new pence and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being four hundred and sixty-seven point nine (+467.9) grams above standard weight.

(e) From the packet of coins of twenty-five new pence we took out all the coins and weighed them in bulk and found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being point five (+0.5) of a gram above standard weight.

(f) We then assayed coins not weighing less in all than five hundred grams, comparing them with the standard trial plates of copper and nickel produced to us by officers of the Department of Prices and Consumer Protection, and we ascertained that the coins were on the whole within the permitted variations from standard composition, the amounts of the variations being both for the coins of fifty new pence and for coins of twenty-five, ten and five new pence minus point one (-0.1) per centum of copper and plus point one (+0.1) per centum of nickel.

(g) Finally, we measured the diameters of twenty of each of the coins of fifty, ten and five new pence and of nineteen of the coins of twenty-five new pence and ascertained that the average diameters of those coins were within the permitted variations from standard diameters, the amounts of the only variations being for the coins of fifty new pence point nought two (-0.02), of twenty-five new pence point nought one (-0.01) and of ten new pence point nought six (-0.06) of a millimetre below standard diameter.
