Dublin, June 14.

ON Saturday last arrived here the Right Honourable the Countess of Osory; who was met upon the way and attended into this City by a Train of above 60 Coaches, most of them with Six Horses, and about 200 Gentlemen on Horseback; his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant received her at her Coach side where she alighted, and conducted her to her apartment in Sir James Shanes house, where she received the Compliments of all the great persons of the Town, and intends with the first fair wind to put to sea from hence for England.

His Excellency being informed of several violencies, murders and robberies committed by the Tories, has ordered a Proclamation to be issued out against the principal of them, commanding them to submit themselves to their Tryals before the 30th of this instant June, after which time they are to be taken and adjudged as Rebels and Traitors to His Majesty, promising a reward of Twenty pound for every of them that shall be taken alive, or for every head of them that shall be brought into the Sheriff of the County where he shall be killed.

All the Army in Ireland is ordered to a general Rendezvous at the Carragh of Kildare in the County of Kildare on the 20th of July next, where his Excellency intends to take a view of it.

Falmouth, June 15. A Dutch Merchant ship put in here the 11th instant from Ross in Ireland, whether she was employed to lade home with Provisions, but a late death of Cattle in those parts, had so much raised the prizes, that she was forced to change her design and take in Coals.

Rome, June 3. The Pope having taken notice of the Lowness of the Apostolick Chamber, which upon several occasions has been much Exhausted by the Popes his Predecessors, has begun to make a considerable Retrenchment in all his Expences, and to make an abatement in the Galleries to all his Officers, and has for Example began it upon those Charges, which he lately conferred on his Relations; Reducing the pay of the General of the Church, from 12 to six thousand Crowns a year, dealing proportionably with others. He intends to make sale of two of his Gallies, which are supposed to be more then are necessary for his service.

The Cardinal de Bouillon is well advanced on his way towards Bavaria. The Duke de Chaulnes the French Ambassador is upon his departure homewards, leaving the place he held, at all Ceremonies to the Portugal Ambassador.

Vien, June 7. The Emperor seems not altogether unwilling to hearken to the intercession of the Princess Ragorski for the pardon of the Prince her Son, but intends to place strong Garrisons in all the strong places which belonged to him till he shall have given full satisfaction of the truth of his pretended obedience and fidelity. The Imperial forces have taken Franschip in Hungary, and tis believed will soon make themselves masters of the rest. Several of the principal instruments in those late disturbances are taken, and amongst others, the Deputy who was sent by the Rebels to the Ottoman Court to beg the assistance of the Turks, was seized on his return, and tis believed, will be made exemplary.

The Count de Zattenbach is hitherto reprieved, by reason of his distemper which makes him insensible of his present condition; no Process is yet formed against the Count Serini and Frangipani, whose punishments tis believed will be deferred till the affairs of Hungary be put into a more quiet posture.

Danzig, June 17. The 12th instant Sir Peter Wyeh, Envoy Extraordinary from His Majesty of Great Britain, left this place in Order to his return home; The Senate of this City having given him several testimonies of their respects, sending their Barge to attend him to his ship, and firing 9 Guns from their Castle as a salute to him when he went on board.

Letters from several parts of Poland seem to represent the affairs of that kingdom to be in a much better posture then formerly; the party which was supposed to be confederated against the present Government, being much declined, and many of the most powerful amongst them falling off from them and closing with his Majesty and his Government. The lesser Diets have in most places declared for an Open and Armed Assembly in the field, for which his Majesty has issued out his Letters; upon his next and last summons; the Gentry and Nobility of every Palatinate and Circle are to appear in Arms at the place which is to be appointed for their Rendezvous under pain of death and confiscation.

The Cities in Prussia have sworn fidelity to the King; though many practices had been used by the disaffected party to prevent it.

The two Generals Sobieski and Wisniewsky are not yet fully reconciled; but tis hoped such endeavors will be used that may in probability effect it, or at least prevent a confederation in the Army.

A Letter from Camienick Podolsky informs, that the Tartars have endeavoured to recruit the losses they received the last winter in their Horses, intending to try their fortunes once more in Ukrania. This notwithstanding an Envoy is lately arrived at Warsaw from Tartary, offering the King the assistance of the Cham.

From Ukrania they find, that the Cossacks are not like to accept of the Treaty offered them by the Poles, whose Commissioners have for some time attended others from the Cossacks for that purpose; the people are generally inclinable to peace, and willing to have a right understanding between them and the Crown of Poland, but the Officers and others who have by the late disturbances raised their own fortunes, desire to preserve them by a war, and are contriving how to deprive Dorosensko of his Command as General.

Hague, June 27. On Monday last the Pensionary de Wit with the Deputies employ'd with him to the City of Groningue, made their reports to the States General, concerning their arbitration of the point in dispute, touching the pretensions of several of the Citizens to voices in their Assembly by virtue of several Lands they held in the Province, whom they have thought fit to exclude by this new Regulation; upon the hearing it was resolved after a long debate, and the opposition made by the Deputies of two Provinces; that the sentence of the Arbitrators be confirmed under the great Seal of the States General, and sent away to the Province of Groningue, but with a reserve, that it shall not be put in execution, till after the expiration of three weeks, in which time the answer of the City of Groningue may be expected, and if the said City seem dissatisfied, the execution may be suspended for a longer time.

The Marquis of Westerloo continues his Fortifications of Pe, fearing least those of Liege may be prevailed on to assist his adversary with their power, but the Rhine-Governor of Maastricht, not being at all pleased with the strengthening of that place (which is not half a League distant from Maastricht and almost under the reach of his Guns) has written to the said Marquis not to administer any cause of jealousy by continuing to fortify, assuring him of his assistance with the whole strength of his Garrison, if any hostile attempt should be made upon him; the States have also caused Letters to be written to the Council of Liege, desiring them not to interest themselves in this affair, so as to give a disturbance to the Marquis, whom they supposed themselves obliged to defend, but to leave the decision to the Emperor, (the said Barony depending on the Empire) or to the arbitration of such Emperors as the interested parties should think fit to make choice of for that purpose.

A Galliot lately arriving at the Texel gives notice, that on the 10th instant he left the East India Fleet, consisting of 15 good ships richly laden on this side Frisland and Fairhill upon the coasts of Scotland; 10 of them left Batavia on the 18th of November last, and the other five on the 16th of December; of these 6 belong to the Chamber of Amsterdam; 4 to Zeland, 1 to Delft, 1 to Hoorn, 1 to Rotterdam, and two to Enchuisen, and that 4 others may be expected from Ceylon and Bantam.

By these we are informed that the forces employed by the East India Company in those parts have had great success, having defeated King Maccasser, and taken prisoners four of the little Kings, his confederates, with a great booty, to the value of 40 Tuns of Gold, and have made a Peace with him upon Articles very advantageous to the Company.

They likewise say that the Arabians had taken four Portuguese ships richly laden.

Paris, June 23. His Majesty has countermanded the Order given to his Gallies to go to the assistance of Monsieur de Martel before Tunis, and has commanded the Count de Vivonne now at sea with them, to bring them back again to Thoulon.

From Thoulon we are informed that two men of War which belonged to the Squadron of Monsieur de Martel, are lately returned under the command of the Chevalier de Valbelle, informing that they left the said de Martel before Tunis with 11 men of War, intending to take the first opportunity of sending in his fire-ships to burn the Turkish ships within the Harbor, which to prevent, the Turks had taken down all their Masts, and drowned their ships, which they intended to weigh up again to soon as our ships were gone from their Port.

Letters of the first instant from Malta tell us that the Grand Master had received intelligence, that the Prime Visier had appointed all the Ottoman Gallies to meet at Navarrin, where the Corsairs of Barbary were ordered to joyn with them, which gives him cause of jealousy, least they might have a designe to make a descent upon Calabria, Sicily, or Malta it self; which last place he has put into a posture of defence.

His most Christian Majesty has ordered 1500 Dragoons to march into Languedoc, to keep that Country in subjection, and to punish the Ring-leaders of the late insurrection at Vivarez; Monsieur de Chamilly who was designed for this employment, finding his presence still necessary in Roussillon, to put a stop to the invasions of the Miquelets.

From Cadix we are advised of the safe arrival of the Gallions from Peru, richly laden, only one of their number foundry by the way; in the same place we are advised, that the Sieur de Galerets, the Son, Captain of a Squadron beyond the Line, has taken two Holland Merchant ships laden with Negros and Horses, of which we expect confirmation.

The 27th instant their Majesties with the Dauphin, Madam, and the Duke of Anjou arrived at Versailles, where the Court is now diverting. The 22 the Clergy of France came thither from their Assembly at Pontois to Compliment their Majesties, conducted by the Sieur de Saintot, Master of the Ceremonies; Monsieur Colbert one of the Secretaries of State, presenting them; and the same day Marquis Hippolito Centurioni was graciously received there by his Majesty.

The 20th instant Monsieur and Madam came to this City, where they were Complimented by the Popes Nuncio, and several of the foreign Ministers upon their return from Flanders, and the 25th they went hence to St. Clou.

Deal, June 20. Yesterday, towards the Evening arrived two ships well laden from Virginia; here is also come in one ship from Bilboa, but without any advice of importance.

Chester, June 20. Yesterday the Countess of Ossory with her Family and several persons of quality arrived in the Mary Yacht at Dawpool, they came the same night to this place, and are this day on their way for London.

Whitehal, June 22. This day arrived an Express from Mr. Montague His Majesties Ambassador at Paris, with the sad news of the Death of Madam His Majesties only Sister, to the infinite Grief and Affliction of their Majesties and Royal Highnesses, as well for the Greatness of this Loss, as for the astonishing suddenness of it.

She Dyed at St. Clou about four of the Clock on Monday morning of a sudden and violent Distemper, which had seized her at five of the Clock the Evening before, and was by the Physicians taken for a kind of Bilious Cholick.

Advertisements.

The Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesties Treasury, have ordered that notice be given that the Trustees for sale of His Majesties Fee-Farm Rents, do intend on Wednesday the 22 of this instant June at two of the clock in the afternoon, to sit at Mr Auditor Philips his Office in the Kings Bench buildings in the Inner Temple, and on Friday following and thenceforth on every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday, at Eight of the clock in the morning and Two in the afternoon, to contract with the immediate Tenants or others, according to the late Act of Parliament.

ALL persons selling Wine in England, Wales, and Town of Berwick (except those in London, and within three miles compass, who have been formerly summoned) whose Licenses ended at or before Lady-day last, and as yet have not renewed, are advised by themselves, their Attorneys, Factors or Friends, to repair unto the Wine-Licence Office in Durham-yard, London, and renew their said Wine-Licences, and pay in their arrears, at or before the fourth day of July next, which is the very longest time His Royal Highness Commissioners for granting Wine-Licences can secure them from being prosecuted for selling Wine without Licence, which all the said persons are to take notice of, and avoid the charge and damage which otherwise will certainly ensue.

George Bonnam, Miller, run away from Mr Clerc of Barkin, Miller, about the 4th of June 1670. having carried away from the said Mr. Clerc to the value of 80 l. he is aged about 40 years, a middle-sized man, with black brown Hair, round Visaged, a sad coloured riding Coat, with a white Cloth Suit, a white Felt Hat, upon a bright Bay Horse, one white foot behind, two Wall Eyes, a Reddish coloured Leather Saddle; If any one can secure him and send word to the said Mr. Clerc of Barkin in Essex or Mr Bets in White Chappel at the sign of the Three Tobacco Pipes, shall have 5 l. for their pains.
