TOWN AND COUNTRY
PLANNING ACTS

BIRMINGHAM CITY COUNCIL

TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING ACTS 1971-1986

Conservation Area Centred upon Warwick Bar Canal Junction, Bordesley

Notice is hereby given, in pursuance of section 277 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1971, as substituted by section 1 of the Town and Country Amenities Act 1974, that the City of Birmingham have determined that the area described in the Schedule to this notice is an area of special architectural or historic interest, the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance and have accordingly designated the said area as a conservation area. The area contains many unique canal-side features and a number of statutorily listed buildings. These features include the Warwick Bar stop lock and dock, at the junction of the Grand Union and Digbeth Branch Canals, and a number of locks, bridges and tunnels, all of which combine to evoke the atmosphere of the canals heyday as commercial waterways.

The effect of the designation of the conservation area may be summarised as follows:

- (a) Where any application for planning permission for development of land in or adjacent to the conservation area is made to the council and the development would, in the opinion of the council, affect the character or appearance of the conservation area, the application will be subject to the special procedure in section 28 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1971, as amended.
- (b) Anyone wishing to demolish a building or a part of a building situate within the conservation area must first apply for consent to demolition to the local planning authority. Some buildings may be exempt from this requirement.
- (c) Anyone wishing to cut down, top, lop or uproot a tree situate within the conservation area must give 6 weeks prior notice of his intention to the local planning authority.

A map of the conservation area may be inspected, free of charge, during normal office hours at the Development Department, 120 Edmund Street, Birmingham B3 2RD.

SCHEDULE

The area is bounded to the north by the Ashted top lock extending southwards along the Digbeth Branch Canal to the terminal basins south of Fazeley Street, and includes the Gun Barrel Proof House, Banbury Street, and a small area to the west of the canal bounded by Belmont Row and Ashted Row. At the Warwick Bar canal junction the area extends south-eastwards along the Grand Union Canal as far as Great Barr Street and includes 119-129 (consecutive) Great Barr Street and the adjacent disused railway viaduct. The area is bounded to the south by Fazeley Street, from its eastern end (north-east side only) as far as the bridge over the Digbeth Branch Canal.

Conservation Area Centred upon St. Agnes Church, Moseley

Notice is hereby given, in pursuance of section 277 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1971, as substituted by section 1 of the Town and Country Amenities Act 1974, that the City of Birmingham have determined that the area described in the Schedule to this notice is an area of special architectural or historic interest, the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance and have accordingly designated the said area as a conservation area. The area is notable for its domestic architecture of high quality by prominent architects and remains virtually unaltered since its development at the turn of the Century. It is an important coherent example of Arts and Crafts Architecture within the City.

The effect of the designation of the conservation area may be summarised as follows:

- (a) Where any application for planning permission for development of land in or adjacent to the conservation area is made to the council and the development would, in the opinion of the council, affect the character or appearance of the conservation area, the application will be subject to the special procedure in section 28 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1971, as amended.
- (b) Anyone wishing to demolish a building or a part of a building situate within the conservation area must first apply for consent to demolition to the local planning authority. Some buildings may be exempt from this requirement.
- (c) Anyone wishing to cut down, top, lop or uproot a tree situate within the conservation area must give 6 weeks prior notice of his intention to the local planning authority.
