ANIMAL HEALTH ACT 1981

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN in pursuance of sections 1, 72 and 86 (1) of the Animal Health Act 1981 that the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food, the Secretary of State for Scotland and the Secretary of State for Wales, acting jointly, have made the following Order: The Poultry Laying Flocks (Testing and Registration etc.) Order 1989 (SI 1989 No. 1964). This Order which revokes the Testing of Poultry Flocks Order 1989 and the Poultry Laying Flocks (Collection and Handling of Eggs and Control of Vermin) Order 1989 requires the owner or person in charge of a laying flock, that is to say a flock of poultry consisting of not less than 25 birds which are kept for the production of eggs for human consumption (including birds reared for that purpose) or of less than 25 birds the eggs of which are sold for human consumption, to ensure that samples are taken in respect of the flock and are submitted to a laboratory for testing for the presence of salmonella (article 3 and Schedule 1). The Order also requires the person in charge of a laboratory to which any such sample has been submitted for testing to ensure that the test is carried out in a required manner and that the result of the test is reported to the person who submitted the sample and who, if he is not the owner or person in charge of the flock in respect of which the sample was taken, is required to pass the report to the owner or person in charge of the flock (article 4). In addition, the Order requires the owner or person in charge of a laying flock to: (1) comply with certain specified requirements relating to the collection and handling of eggs from the flock (article 5 and Schedule 2); (2) ensure that effective measures are taken to control vermin in poultry houses on the premises on which the flock is kept (article 6); and (3) keep records of samples taken from the flock, of the results of tests on such samples and of the movement of any poultry onto and off the premises on which the flock is kept (article 8 and Schedule 3). The Order also prohibits a person from keeping a laying flock on any premises unless his name is entered in the Laying Flocks Register in respect of those premises, this register being kept by the appropriate Minister (the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food or the Secretary of State for Scotland or Wales). For the purposes of this requirement, which comes into force on 2nd April 1990, a "laying flock" means a flock of poultry consisting of not less than 100 birds which are kept for the production of eggs for human consumption (excluding birds which are being reared for that purpose). The registration of a person in the Laying Flocks Register in respect of any premises will remain in force for an unlimited period except that the appropriate Minister is required to revoke such registration if he has been notified by the registered person, within 28 days of any anniversary of the date of such registration, that the number of birds kept by that person on the premises is less than 100 and such person has not informed the appropriate Minister that he anticipates that the number of such birds will increase to 100 or more during the 12 months following the date of that anniversary (article 9 and Schedule 4). A registered person is required to notify the appropriate Minister every 12 weeks of the results of tests on samples reported to him under the Order (article 10 and Schedule 5). Until 1st June 1990 samples taken under the Order are required to be tested at laboratories which have the necessary facilities and personnel for carrying out the tests in accordance with the Order and after that date the samples are required to be tested at laboratories authorised in writing by the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food for this purpose. Copies of the above mentioned Order may be obtained from Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 49 High Holborn, London WC1V 6HB or 71 Lothian Road, Edinburgh EH3 9AZ price £2.25.

ANIMAL HEALTH ACT 1981

Notice is hereby given in pursuance of Sections 1, 72 and 86(1) of the Animal Health Act 1981 that the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food, the Secretary of State for Scotland and the Secretary of State for Wales, acting jointly, have made the following Order:

THE POULTRY BREEDING FLOCKS AND HATCHERIES
(REGISTRATION AND TESTING) ORDER 1989
(SI 1989 No. 1963)

This Order prohibits (with two exceptions) a person from keeping a breeding flock on any premises or from using any premises as a hatchery unless his name is entered in the Breeding Flocks Register or in the Hatcheries Register in respect of those premises, both such registers being kept by the appropriate Minister (the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food or the Secretary of State for Scotland or Wales) for the purposes of the Order. Such registration will remain in force for a period of one year and will thereafter be renewed annually by the appropriate Minister unless following an inspection carried out on the premises, he is satisfied that the registered person has failed to comply with certain specified requirements relating to the keeping of a breeding flock on the premises or to the use of the premises as a hatchery (articles 3 and 4 and Schedules 1 and 2).

These prohibitions do not apply in the case of (i) a breeding flock consisting of birds which are kept solely for the production of hatching eggs or chicks for use in the manufacture of vaccines or for research or other scientific purposes or (ii) any premises which are used solely for the incubation or hatching of eggs from which chicks are sold or supplied for such use or for any such purpose (articles 3(9) and 4(9)).

The Order requires a registered person to ensure that samples are taken in respect of the breeding flock or hatchery and are submitted to a laboratory for testing for the presence of salmonella (other than samples taken under the supervision of an officer of the Minister which are required to be given to that officer for testing for this purpose) (articles 6 and 8 and Schedule 3).

A person registered in respect of a breeding flock containing any domestic fowls is also required to ensure that blood samples are taken from the fowls for testing, by or under the supervision of an officer of the Minister, for Salmonella pullorum (article 7 and Schedule 4).

The Order also requires the person in charge of a laboratory to which any sample taken in respect of a breeding flock or a hatchery has been submitted to ensure that the test is carried out in a required manner and that the result of the test is reported to the person who submitted the sample and who, if he is not the person registered in respect of the flock or hatchery in respect of which the sample was taken, is required to pass the report to the person so registered (article 9).

The Order also contains provisions which:

- (a) prohibit any tampering with samples (article 10);
- (b) require registered persons to keep records of samples taken and, of the results of tests on samples and to keep records of the movements of poultry, chicks and eggs onto and off any premises on which a breeding flock is kept or which are used as a hatchery (article 11);

(c) prohibit (except under licence) the vaccination of poultry with any vaccine which is likely to affect the result of any test carried out under the Order on any sample taken from the poultry (article 12); and

Statutes in Force

A vital reference work on the law of the land

What is Statutes in Force?

Statutes in Force is the official revised edition of the statutes. It provides the text (without commentary) of the current statute law of the land, in a way which is comprehensive

constantly updated

The complete edition consists of 107 looseleaf binders which contain hole-punched crown quarto (246 x 189mm) booklets - giving a total of some 60,000 pages. The Acts are arranged, not in purely chronological order, but classified into 125 groups according to subject matter.

Statutes in Force is intended to be a permanently renewable edition of revised statutes. It is kept up to date in a number of ways:

- The issue of new Acts for insertion into their appropriate groups (they are published in complete text form usually within two months after Royal Assent)
- The issue of instructions for the removal of repealed Acts
- The publication of revised reissues of heavily-amended Acts
- Cumulative supplements for each affected group giving particulars of amendments and partial repeals (pending their eventual incorporation in revised reissues of the affected Acts).

Customers may obtain copies of any individual Act in the Statutes in Force edition. This service will be of most benefit when ordering heavily amended Acts which have been revised and re-issued or Acts which are now out-of-print in the original (Queen's Printer) version.

There's a free leaflet on Statutes in Force available from:
